BORROW OR CLOSE?

Superintendents Note Fund Pinch In Area Schools

By JIMMY HATTEN
World Staff Writer

Northeast Louisiana school systems, with a bare state cupboard staring them in the face, are tightening their belts and waiting for the day when they either receive overdue payments from Baton Rouge, have to go to the local banker and borrow, or shut down operations early.

Meanwhile, school superintendents will join with school board officials in a trek to New Orleans today for a meeting of the State School Boards Association where many educators are hopeful that some path may be seen through the jungle of contradictions and confusion surrounding the issue.

State treasurer A. P. Tugwell has said that school boards are not going to receive their full allocations of this year's revenues, but Commissioner of Administration James S. Reilly said the state would pay its obligations in full although the boards might at times have to borrow from banks for short periods of time.

Gov. Jimmie H. Davis has said, "I have no reason to believe that the schools will not receive all monies promised them by the state."

School systems in this area and over the state have not received checks for December or January. And according to Tugwell, they won't be getting February checks, either.

NOT SURE

Here is what Roy Welch, superintendent of LaSalle Parish schools has to say:

"We are not sure yet what we will do. The state has been two months behind in payments of per educable and equalization funds since August. If we get a check from the state in February, we can meet current expenditures until March.

"However, if payments continue two months in areas, we will be forced to either borrow money or cut the school term short. Even if the payments were brought up to date, we would have a tight squeeze. Our estimated budget last fall was 12 days short of a 180-day term.

"The board in December au-

Dominicans Claim Plot Is Smashed

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The armed forces Saturday claimed to have smashed a plot by navy officers to overthrow the ruling State Council and install a pro-Trujillo regime.

A brief communique gave no details of the reported plot against the provisional council, which took office New Year's Day. It was created to clear the way for general elections and a new government for this nation after 30 years of Trujillo dictatorship.

NINE ARRESTED
The navy chief of staff, Rear Adm. Enrique Valdez Vidaurte, told reporters, authorities had arrested four officers and five enlisted men. He declined to identify them.

Political opposition sources immediately denounced the reported plot as a sham. They charged it was a maneuver by the armed forces chief, Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, to keep himself and President Joaquin Balaguer in power.

The armed forces communique said a group of navy officers planned to overthrow the government and install a regime "favorable to the Trujillos now living abroad."

The National Civic Union, the country's largest political opposition faction, quickly demanded proof. It charged Rodriguez Echavarria with using "inconceivable pretexts" to stay in power. Navy officials denied earlier reports that a number of the plotters managed to escape in a navy craft.

Rep. Lewis, 43, Dies Of Illness

DERIDDER, La. (AP) — Rep. John S. Lewis Jr., 43, of DeRidder died in the Beauregard Memorial Baptist Hospital Saturday after a two-month illness.

Lewis had represented Beauregard Parish in the House since 1956.

He was treasurer of the Sabine River Authority and a member of the Toledo Bend Dam Authority.

Lewis served as an Air Force captain in World War II. He was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

Survivors include his widow, three sons, and his parents, all in DeRidder.

Monroe Man Dies In Crash

A 63-year-old Monroe man, coming home for the weekend from Ferriday Friday night, was killed instantly when his car smashed into a tree after skidding out of control on icy Louisiana Highway 15, south of Monroe.

Dr. C. U. Johnson assistant parish coroner, said that Herbert Wallace Menge, 63, of 3007 Gordon Ave., Monroe, died from a fractured skull received in the accident.

This is Ouachita Parish's second accidental death in 1962. Raymond L. Walker, 78, was killed on Highway 165 on Jan. 2 when he was hit by an automobile just outside the Monroe city limits.

Troop F, state police said Menge, a diesel engineer foreman for Missouri Pacific railroad, was driving north on the highway about three miles south of Monroe when the fatality occurred.

Rain May Hit Area Today; Snow Melting

A large part of the snow and ice which has plagued the Ouachita Parish area for the past five days has begun to melt, leaving slush and bogs in its place and showers are forecast today to add to the wretched weather conditions.

Much of the high temperature of 43 degrees, which was the highest point Tuesday when the major portion of snow fell.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Jackson, Miss., reports that temperatures are on an upward trend. The skies are forecast mostly cloudy with scattered showers prevailing throughout the day. Winds are expected to reach 10 to 20 miles per hour.

MERCURY UP
Temperatures are expected to be considerably warmer with the high reaching near 55 degrees and the low forecast at 42 degrees. This will be the first time the low temperature has been recorded above freezing in the last 10 days.

Bursting water pipes have put local residents in a turmoil and have provided plumbers with a field day.

Out of several plumbers contacted, calls received because of burst pipes ranged from 18 to 30. As one plumber put it, "The phone has been ringing all day and I have had enough calls already to keep me busy for all next week."

Another plumber said that he had 30 persons to call on this morning that he was unable to get to yesterday and that his phone was busy all day. He also

New Snow Heads For Plains Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new major snowstorm sprang up in the Rocky Mountains Saturday while the frost-bitten South counted crop losses in the millions.

The storm, heading for the central plains, prompted warnings of four inches or more of snow for most of North Dakota and for parts of Kansas and Nebraska.

The Weather Bureau also warned that northerly winds of 30 to 50 m.p.h. will blow and drift snow in near blizzard conditions over a large area of the northern plains.

Snow ranging from 1 to 7 inches piled up in the valleys of southern Idaho, northern Nevada and western Utah.

Winds with gusts up to 63 m.p.h. hit Topeka, Kan.

Some areas in the path of the new onslaught still were under heavy white blankets from last week's storm. The waves of cold, sleet and snow that began to roll eastward to the Atlantic at that time resulted in more than 150 deaths.

Temperatures shivered below the freezing level in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in Texas for the fourth straight night. The citrus industry in that area estimates its losses at $19 million. Damage to vegetables and to citrus trees was expected to add millions more.

JES' Ramblin'

Coin Club

The Monroe Area Club has scheduled their first monthly meeting, canceled last week because of snow, for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in the First National Bank Club Room, in West Monroe.

The meeting will be highlighted by a talk on "Numismatics" by Reubin Simmons, a local coin dealer. A coin auction will follow his talk. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Leave Over

Wayne M. Pender, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pender, Monroe residents, has returned to the Navy after being home on leave. He is stationed on the USS King.

WITH ONE ROCKET

Multiple Satellite Launching Slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy Saturday was planning to launch five navigational earth-orbiting satellites with one rocket booster on the Cape Canaveral, Fla., late this month.

If successful, the feat would come within a few days of the fourth anniversary of the launching of America's first satellite, Explorer I, on Jan. 31, 1958. But the accomplishment could be obscured by other events in space.

The launching is scheduled a day or two after a Project Mercury attempt, tentatively set for Jan. 23, to put Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn in orbit.

The Navy has the responsibility for creating a navigational satellite system in the "transit" launching series. It has been using the Thor-Able-Star booster based on the Air Force's 1.500-mile Thor intermediate range missile.

On three occasions in 1960 and 1961, two experimental transit satellites were launched together, one riding piggy-back on the other.

On June 29, 1961, the Navy attempted to launch three satellites in one package, but the second and third failed to separate. The result again was only two moonlets, one weighing 175 pounds and the other 95 pounds.

The payload of the Thor-Able-Star has ranged up to 400 pounds, or more than 10 times the weight of the first satellite placed in orbit by the Army's Jupiter C rocket combination.

When the transit system is in operation, with a minimum of four full-scale satellites, it is expected to enable ships, and later planes, to determine their position within an accuracy of a few hundred feet.

U.S. To Probe Reports Bribe Offers Made

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has disclosed it has information indicating bribes have been offered to government employees and that the evidence will be presented soon to a grand jury.

This is revealed in letters filed in District Court authorizing two of the department's attorneys to appear before the grand jury and present the case.

The letters did not say where the alleged bribe attempts had taken place, but it said there was also evidence that laws governing false statements and conflict of interest had been violated.

They said the information shows there has been a "conspiracy" to deprive the United States of the "honest and faithful services" of its employees.

Named to present the evidence were Robert J. Timlin and Max H. Goldstein, both of the Criminal Division.

Woman Wars On 'Junk Mail'

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Postmaster General J. Edward Day is going to get 400 pounds of mail soon—trucked to him across country from a Palo Alto housewife who got so much "junk mail" that she saw red.

It all started when Mrs. Robert Richard voiced her indignation over the low bulk rate mails.

She invited Palo Altoans to dump their junk mail at her home.

They left more than 6,000 pieces.

"Really unbelievable," says Mrs. Richard, president of Palo Alto's Republican Women's Club. It will cost $8.10 per 100 pounds to ship the stuff. But she hopes thereby to stir up a fuss which will result in action against what she calls "junk mail."

Vehicle Skid Is Fatal For Ernie Kovacs

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cigar-chomping comedian Ernie Kovacs, a gentle, quiet man whose unique humor amused and sometimes puzzled millions, was killed Saturday in a traffic accident.

Kovacs, the moustachioed son of a Hungarian tavern owner, would have been 43 Jan. 23.

VEHICLE SKIDS

Police said Kovacs was killed when his station wagon skidded across a wet pavement a half-block from the Beverly Hilton Hotel and careened into a power pole, shortly before 2 a.m. on Santa Monica Boulevard in West Los Angeles.

Kovacs had been to a baby shower in honor of comedian Milton Berle's wife. Kovacs and his wife, blonde actress Edie Adams, had left the party, at the home of director Billy Wilder, in separate cars.

Miss Adams, unaware that her husband had been in a crash, drove on to their $600,000 Bel Air mansion. She learned afterward, from the Billy Wilders, that Kovacs had been killed. At first she refused to believe her husband of nine years was dead. She was given a sedative and put to bed.

The coroner's office said Kovacs probably died at the instant of impact—his small station wagon was wrapped around the pole—and apparently death was caused by a basal skull fracture.

Traffic policeman John Bettendorf told newsmen: "It appears that he may have been traveling faster than the posted limit in that area. Just how much, we don't know."

The impact was so great that the left side of the wagon was caved in. One door on the passenger side had been torn open and Kovacs lay across the floor board, his head and upper body outside the right-front door.

One of Kovacs' closest friends, actor Jack Lemmon, went to the County Morgue several hours

Senator Soaper Says

Sometimes we get the feeling that more people are winning the various athletic of the year awards than there are athletes.

Announcement of details of our moon rocket is being held up until a sufficiently cute name can be thought up. Also there is thought to be some delay caused by selecting the proper Hollywood starlet to pose with the plans.

We don't make effective use of our former presidents, and it also seems a shame that we don't keep the Old Year around for a few months just to get the benefit of its experience.

We don't know about other lines of endeavor, but it looks like a big year for the powder-keg industry.

The Board of Stewards of the First Methodist Church of Monroe has passed a resolution calling for the church to stop giving financial aid to the National Council of Churches and also urging the state Methodist conference to assist in following other churches to get the lead.

Meetings Are Slated In Monroe

Six conventions have been scheduled for Monroe during the remainder of January and in February.

And the Chamber of Commerce has made a bid for the Louisiana Teachers' Association convention in November. About 5,000 delegates are expected to attend that meeting.

On Jan. 13 Delta Nu Alpha Fraternity convention will be held at the Virginia Hotel. There are 150 registrations. Jan. 18-19 the Louisiana Association of Electric Coops will meet at the Frances Hotel. There are 100 registrations.

On Jan. 28-29 Morgan-Lindsey will hold their annual conference at the Virginia Hotel with about 200 delegates attending Feb. 1-2 the Retail - Wholesale Sales Clinic will be held for about 300. The sites will be announced later.

Feb. 12-13 the Ouachita River Valley Association will hold its annual conference at the Virginia Hotel and the Bayou DeStard Country Club. There are 100 delegates expected. Feb. 26-27 the Louisiana Soil Conservation Service will meet at the Frances Hotel with 50 delegates on hand.

IN 1962 LEGISLATURE

Teachers Pay Hike Move Is Expected

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana teacher leaders are quietly preparing to seek a new and higher salary schedule in the 1962 legislature.

The drive has not started, and final decisions still are to be made, but top level members of the Louisiana teacher association, and others who watch the Louisiana political and fiscal scene say the move is almost certain.

This could become one of the major new political issues confronting Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and the legislature, possibly stretching into the 1964 gubernatorial and legislative campaigns.

The possibility of a tideland settlement in the immediate month or years ahead has not been overlooked by teacher leaders.

A new teacher pay raise, which erupted in the 1956 legislature, became one of the hottest political questions tied to tax raises in the years that followed.

The Louisiana Teacher Association, at its November convention, named a salary study committee headed by G. C. Gibson of Calcasieu Parish. There is no indication it has taken any action.

At Sulphur last week, E. D. Schumacher, chairman of a salary committee, told the Calcasieu LTA a new salary schedule is expected to be presented to the legislature.

He was quoted as saying the average Louisiana teacher's pay was nearly $5,000 annually while the National Education Association has listed $5,527 as the national average.

In Baton Rouge, N. B. (Red) Hackett, veteran executive secretary of the LTA, said, "A salary committee has been set up to

Strife Boils As Gizenga Defies Edict

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Fighting erupted in Stanleyville Saturday between the Congo army and the forces of leftist Antoine Gizenga.

A U.N. spokesman said 17 soldiers had been killed in the outbreak—eight on Gizenga's side, six on the side of Gen. Victor Lundula, the government commander in the Oriental Province capital, and three more Gizenga men, apparently when they attempted to desert to Lundula.

SETS STAGE

The fighting brought orders from the Congo government that apparently set the stage for a military showdown with defiant Deputy Premier Gizenga.

Premier Cyrille Adoula's Cabinet in Leopoldville ordered Lundula to "take all necessary steps to restore order" after Gizenga was said to have attempted to leave Stanleyville earlier in the day.

Lundula's troops prevented his leaving, the reports said, and Gizenga's men then attempted to arrest Lundula but were prevented by the larger Lundula force. Lundula was reported to have arrested four of Gizenga's aides.

A U.N. spokesman expressed the world body's full support of Lundula in efforts to quell Gizenga's forces.

A spokesman at U.N. headquarters in New York said Acting Secretary-General U. Thant had issued instructions to U.N. forces in the Congo to "exert all possible efforts to restore and maintain law and order in Stanleyville and to avert civil war there."

The spokesman said Thant had issued his order after receiving a request from the central government. Gizenga was reported to have only a company of about 300 men in his bodyguard surrounding his residence at Stanleyville.

Lundula, the former Congo army chief under Patrice Lumumba, was reported to have a larger force of about a battalion in Stanleyville.

The United Nations also has a battalion of Ethiopians in Stanleyville.

Police Seek Negro Man In Holdup

A masked Negro bandit stepped into a Louisville Avenue motel Friday night and holding three persons at gunpoint, scooped $238 from the cash register and fled.

Mrs. Myrl Parrill, night clerk at the Travel Inn Motel at 2111 Louisville Ave., told officers the robbery occurred minutes after midnight as she, a porter and a guest were in the office.

The unidentified Negro man entered the motel office from a side door holding a short barrel pistol in his right hand. He wore a white cloth over part of his face.

Mrs. Parrill told police the man said—"This is a stickup! Don't turn around."

She said the man then took $238 from the cash drawer and left by the same door through which he entered.

Police were called on the scene at 12:11 a.m. Saturday.

They were investigating all possible leads yesterday and reportedly have a good suspect.

thorized borrowing up to one-half of estimated revenues for this school year. We don't want to borrow money when we cannot see a revenue source for repayment by June 30. We are meeting current expenditures but cannot replace worn out equipment or make capital outlays."

The Monroe school system may face a "critical" situation in regards to its lunch program, according to Supt. Van D. Odum. He said that at the present time he could make no statement on what will be done in financing for the term, but did comment that if allotments are not received for school lunches by Feb. 1, there will be concern over the lunch program. He said he didn't see the idea of going to the general fund to pay for the lunches. Odum hopes the school board meeting in New Orleans will throw some light on the situation.

In Rapides Parish, many school officials are of the general opinion that schools will have to be closed early. The school board there had to borrow $400,000 in November. Running $960,000 behind on payments due for two months, the system has been authorized to borrow up to $1-million to keep schools operating.

Jackson Parish Supt. J. D. Koonce said, "We will continue to operate our schools as long as we possibly can." However, he said, "We cannot operate without state funds."

W. W. Ward, superintendent of Ouachita Parish schools, noted that a resolution has been passed by the local school board and approved by the State Bond and Tax Commission making it possible to borrow money for Ouachita needs if necessary.

Aubrey L. Brooks, superintendent of Catahoula Parish schools, said, "Whatever we fail to get from the state is the amount we will be short."

He said that April will be the telling month when the school system will be able to take inventory and assess their position.

later to make a positive identification.

Friends said Kovacs had been his usual happy-go-lucky self at the shower—attended by about 20 persons. Guests included the Dean Martins, Kirk Douglasses, French entertainer Yves Montand and Lucille Ball and her new husband, comedian Gary Morton.

Kovacs, who soared to fame about five years ago was equally at home in television, movies and theater.

One movie director said Ernie didn't need a script—it was best just to give him a minute's warning and let him improvise.

On TV, his sometimes puzzled sponsors let him do pretty much as he pleased. His final TV special, characteristic of his belief in sight gags, pantomime and visual tricks, was a show without words. It got raves from the critics.

ville and has another battalion that could be sent in.

Adoula denied earlier reports from authoritative sources that the Cabinet had ordered Lundula to arrest Gizenga.

The denial was taken with a grain of salt by some diplomats here after government sources had said Lundula might decide that the best way to carry out his orders to restore order would be to place the leftist leader under arrest.

Adoula, in making his denial, said the question of an arrest had not been discussed by the Cabinet because Gizenga still has parliamentary immunity.

Gizenga set up a rival regime in Stanleyville after the slaying of Lumumba and, with Soviet bloc backing, claimed for many months that he was the rightful premier of the Congo. At first Lundula supported him.

In recent months, however, Lundula has been cooperating with the central government and has told visitors he would arrest Gizenga if given the order by the government.

Even former Gizenga adherents in the Cabinet voted for the drastic action although he still is a deputy premier in the central government and may obtain parliamentary immunity against arrest. The government was understood to be prepared to argue that Gizenga forfeited his claim to immunity by acting like an insurgent.

Gizenga accepted the job of deputy premier last August and formally disbanded his rival regime, but has spent only three weeks in Leopoldville, preferring the isolation of Stanleyville.

Since October he has defied attempts by both government and Parliament to get him to return to Leopoldville.

A motion of censure in Parliament, which could lead to lifting of his immunity from arrest, was introduced Friday but it is not to be debated until Monday.

Gizenga first rejected a demand by Parliament last week that he return to Leopoldville within 48 hours, and then agreed, but set no time for coming here.

Lundula was reported to have arrested four of Gizenga's aides, but to have hesitated to take such action against Gizenga without direct authority from the government.

Gizenga was reported to have sought U.N. protection in Stanleyville, but U.N. headquarters said it had received no such request.

Firemen Receive Minor Calls In Uneventful Day

Twin City fire departments enjoyed a relatively quiet day yesterday—making only a few minor calls.

West Monroe was kept busy when called upon to spray a street and stand by when a loaded gasoline truck sprung a leak on Cypress Street around noon.

The vehicle, a Whelan Pipeline outfit from El Dorado, Ark., driven by James R. Thomas, was stopped at 2313 Cypress St.

According to the fire department, the tank developed a small split at the top and gas was seeping out. However, the danger was relieved and the truck traveled on.

West Monroe answered a fire call at 204 Arlington St. where a wall heater had caught fire inside the wall and had to be extinguished.

Monroe answered the phone all day when persons made complaints of burst water pipes. They, too, had to stand by when a gasoline truck sprung a leak while sitting at the Louisville-Sterling intersection.

The first monthly meeting of the year of the West Monroe Jaycee Jaynes was held recently at the First National Bank Building in West Monroe.

Topics of discussion during the meeting included a review of Jaycee projects which the Jaynes aided in the past year.

Receiving much attention during the meeting was the planning of a spring style show and luncheon which the group plans to present Jan. 31.

Members attending the meeting included Mrs. Gary Burford, Mrs. Bob Gentry, Mrs. Lester Shivers, Mrs. Bob Stout, Mrs. Ed West, Mrs. Paul Wilhite, and Mrs. Marvin Pipes, who presided.

"The financial support of the NCC comes not only from its member denominations and agencies but also from contributions made by non-religious organizations.

"From this organizational framework, the NCC speaks frequently through pronouncements, resolutions and statements upon subjects of political, military and economic nature."

The resolution further cited the fact that representatives of the Council make appearances before congressional committees to present views for or against legislation.

If the resolution is upheld, the church would discontinue financial support to the Council except for obligations already in force.

It also calls on the statewide conference to "furnish leadership and guidance" in getting other Methodist churches in the state to take similar action.

In a final resolution, the board asked that steps be taken to change the constitution of the National Council of Churches to change the points mentioned in the resolution as reasons for the action.

A spring style show and luncheon will be presented by the West Monroe Jaycee Jaynes at the Highland Park Country Club January 31.

A portion of the proceeds from the event will be contributed toward the purchase of a television set for the children's ward of the Glenwood Hospital, now being constructed in West Monroe.

The luncheon is scheduled to get underway at 12:30 with the style show immediately following.

All fashions displayed will be in the new spring line recently received by the sponsoring West Monroe merchants.

Advance tickets may be obtained beginning Monday from participating merchants and various other locations in the city. All tickets are $2.50.

As an added attraction to the show, a special drawing for several door prizes will be held.

STATE WARMING UP

Thaw Brings New Troubles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Louisiana thawed out Saturday as temperatures over the state climbed substantially over the freezing point for the first time in four days.

But the thaw brought new problems to many areas.

As frozen water started flowing again, it bubbled out of broken pipes and supply mains, dropping the pressure at some places to a worthless low.

By noon Saturday, temperatures were generally 10-20 degrees higher through the state.

Two Transported To State Prison

Two men were taken to Angola State Penitentiary to begin their sentences by the Ouachita Parish Sheriff department yesterday.

Sheriff Bailey Grant identified them as James A. Lord, 50-year-old Baskin man starting a three-year sentence, and Wayland E. Taylor, 51 of West Monroe, beginning a three-year term.

Lord was sentenced to three years after being convicted of criminal conspiracy. He was arrested in Monroe in September by city police who foiled an attempted holdup of a local grocery store.

Taylor was found guilty of arson after setting fire to two of his houses located on Joe Bill Street in West Monroe and leaving them to burn.

THANKS TO FREEZING WEATHER

Plumbers Say Business Booming

By STUART HILL Staff Writer

Bursting water pipes have kept Twin City plumbers on the move since the heavy snow Tuesday and subsequent hard freezing temperatures invaded the area.

A spot check by telephone of most of the plumbers in the area found many plumbers out on calls and others not answering.

All available plumbers seemed to be plagued with calls concerning either burst water lines or frozen pipes.

The bursting of water pipes in virtually every area of the city has kept "pipe-fixers" on the go for the past several days.

Two business establishments in the 200 block of South Grand Street were flooded by water from a burst water line early Saturday morning. Both the Monroe Commercial School and Rodriguez-Farr Insurance Agency at 247 S. Grand were filled with water around 5 a.m. because of a broken water pipe.

Monroe fire department trucks were summoned to the scene and were working on water lines in the building until around noon.

The manager of one local plumbing business said the plumbing business had "never been better."

"Out of 14 years in the plumbing business, I've never seen anything like it," he added.

He said that the majority of calls received by the company have been seeking aid for burst water pipes. He estimated that "around 100 calls" have gone un-gtended because they "just couldn't get around to them."

The secretary of one plumbing company for the past few days with primary duties of answering the telephone, said "Oh, goodness! I just can't get away from the telephone."

"At first they were calling about not having any water," she asserted, "and now they care call-ing about bursting pipes."

One plumber said the best thing to do in case of frozen water pipes was "just wait." "That is if the pipes aren't burst," he added quickly.

Several plumbing companies could not be contacted because of constantly busy telephones. Still others failed to answer the phone at all obviously too busy to talk. Not all plumbers are contented with the onslaught of bursting pipes, one said that he "would be glad when it's over."

Cuba Group Will Attend OAS Meet

HAVANA (AP) — The government disclosed plans Saturday to send a high-powered delegation to the Western Hemisphere's foreign minister's conference, called to discuss Cuba's alliance with the Soviet bloc.

At the same time, Prime Minister Fidel Castro postponed a rally called for Jan. 22, the day the ministers open their sessions in Uruguay's resort city of Punta del Este.

It was believed Castro wanted first to make sure how Cuba fares at the foreign ministers' meeting before addressing the rally. So the date has been reset for Jan. 28, birthday of Cuba's national hero, Jose Marti.

The delegation to the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States will leave late next week. The 40-member delegation will be headed by Foreign Minister Raul Roa. He has said he will furnish proof a new armed invasion is threatening Cuba.

With Roa will be Cuba's OAS representative, Carlos Lechuga.

Similar deals have been signed with almost all Communist countries.

Diplomats here believe Cuba has no real interest in abandoning the OAS but, given a choice, it would reject the inter-American system for the Soviet sphere.

New Agencies Authorized To Classify Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Saturday six new government agencies have been added to the list of those authorized to classify information.

A presidential executive order extended the authorization to the Agency for International Development, Office of Emergency Planning, Peace Corps, Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, and the Maritime Commission as newly reorganized.

The White House said at the same time six agencies that have now been superseded by others were removed from the list. They are the Operations Coordinating Board, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, International Cooperation Administration, Council on Foreign Economic Policy, Development Loan Fund, and the Presidential Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities.

Suspect Held In Gold Theft

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dale Robert Waller, 43, New Orleans, was held under $30,000 bond Saturday after police accused him of selling stolen gold.

Capt. L. M. Cole said New Orleans police ordered Waller held for questioning in three Louisiana burglaries.

Waller was arrested Tuesday when he tried to sell several ounces of gold to a Memphis jeweler, Cole said.

Lt. C. R. Boatwright said some of the metal was dental gold taken in a dental office burglary.

NO RELATION TO JFK

Kennedys Receive Royal Treatment

LONDON (UPI) — "It was fun while it lasted," said the Kennedy's of Massachusetts, Saturday after two weeks of red carpet treatment by Londoners who refused to believe they were not related to that other Kennedy from Massachusetts now in the White House.

The whole thing began Jan. 3 when James P. Kennedy, 37, and his wife, Ruth, 35, of Southboro, Mass., arrived at London Airport. Kennedy is budget and finance manager for the Raytheon Corp. and no relation to President Kennedy or his family.

Therefore they were somewhat surprised when they were accorded VIP treatment at the airport. A porter met them at the plane, whisked them through customs without the usual luggage check and sped them by limousine to the exclusive Mayfair Hotel where they had reservations.

They were even more startled to find a horde of newsmen and photographers, "tipped off" that the Kennedys from Massachusetts were in town, waiting at the hotel.

"Are you Mr. Robert Kennedy?" asked one newsmen, with pencil poised, while photographers vied for pictures.

"I told him 'No, I'm Mr. James Kennedy,'" Kennedy said. "But right there I realized the mistake. I told them I was here with Raytheon to inspect a new plant and was not with the government."

"But they wouldn't believe me. They kept asking questions and looking at my wife and an Indian girl we met at Shannon Airport. I guess they thought it might be Jackie going on her trip to India."

A hotel official said the case of mistaken identity was compounded by the fact that this Kennedy's wife "might pass for Jackie when she puts her hat on."

Kennedy finally convinced the press that it was all a mistake. But there was no stopping the hotel rumors. Maids, bellboys, waiters and telephone operators catered to their every whim and heads turned when they entered the hotel dining room.

"I heard the headwaiter tell the chef 'make it something special, that's the President's brother,'" Kennedy recalled with a laugh.

But the fun ended when the hotel manager, a personal friend of the Kennedys, told his staff that the rumors were just not true.

"The waiter and everybody else seemed kind of disappointed," Kennedy said. "To find out I'm just one of hundreds of other Kennedys in Massachusetts who aren't related to the President."

Peace Corps Seeking To Add Negroes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Peace Corps said Saturday it would like to have more Negroes for service in Africa and elsewhere. But it emphasized the small proportion of Negroes among its initial volunteers did not constitute a problem.

The corps, which is trying to recruit more Negroes without making an issue of it, also emphasized that the number of Negro volunteers was increasing.

"We are making every effort to see that we have a representation that is reflective of the situation in the country," associate director William D. Moyers said. "We are not recruiting Negroes just for African projects, any more than we are recruiting Asian-Americans for Asian projects."

But, in response to questions, Corps officials said they were aware that polite disappointment was expressed in some African countries over the representation.

John Alexander, director of African programs, said Africans have "let it be known that they expected it composition of the groups to be representative."

Among the first 100 volunteers assigned to Africa were four Negroes. Now there are 15 among 229.

Alexander said the Corps had no fixed percentage in mind for Negro representation, although he noted Negroes represent about 10 per cent of the U.S. population.

Special efforts are being made to bring the Corps to the attention of the Negro community through such means as speeches by recruiters at colleges, and informational material sent to the Negro press.

"There is a natural interest in Africa among American Negroes and a natural interest on the part of Africans in the progress of American Negroes," Alexander said.

Some of those close to African affairs argue that there is a feeling among African countries that the United States tends to patronize them by sending Negroes there.

"I have heard of this argument," G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said in a recent television interview. "I think the thing is that we just can't send them any Negroes; we have to send them a qualified Negro as we have to send them a qualified white, and I think that with men of equal qualification, the Negro can perhaps do a better job. I would say more than perhaps, probably can."

CONSERVATIVE PARTY

Sen. Goldwater Asks GOP Unity

By JIM MONROE
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A strong call for Republican unity—as a conservative party—was issued Saturday by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona at the closing session of the GOP National Committee meeting.

The party's conservative leader seemed to be asking liberal GOP elements to join his side. He voiced hope that such labels as Rockefeller-Republicans and Goldwater-Republicans can be dropped.

But he added, "If qualifying descriptive terms are required, then I would suggest the Republican party has been, and will, I hope, continue to be a conservative political instrument."

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has been identified as a leader of the more liberal faction of the party. He and Goldwater are being tabbed as potential GOP presidential candidates in 1964.

Goldwater said in a speech: "If we as a people have lost sight of our national goal, if we are confused, if we are floundering and groping, might we not find an explanation for this confusion in the two-faced images both national parties have presented at the polls in recent years."

"Is it not possible that we can recognize in the defeat of 1960 that we failed not because we were Republicans, but because we were not Republican enough?"

Goldwater continued an attack against the administration launched here Thursday by Republican leaders, but he said the GOP is not spotless either.

"My friends, if it is fair to claim that the Democratic party is schizoid, torn by internal dissension, struggling to find a middle way between the extremes of Hubert Humphrey and Harry Byrd, it is also fair to say the Republican party has failed to present to this nation a solid political organization unequivocally committed to an easily definable political philosophy," he said.

He said conservatives are for progress and more of this has been made under conservative presidents than any others. He said conservatives are for less but better government.

Sen. John Tower of Texas spoke briefly at a morning session and also called for party unity.

He said: "We shouldn't be trying to name a presidential candidate this year. We should elect congressmen, senators, governors and legislators. I believe if we forget 1964 we can do it."

In failing at President Kennedy, Goldwater said even the President himself is suggesting that this nation has lost its purpose and the people are unsure of a national goal.

"The brave, bold rhetoric of the New Frontier — the magnificent phrases—stand naked and shivering," he said. "The young men who promised to lead us forward on a dead run have been running in circles."

Kennedy was criticized earlier by such speakers as William F. Miller, the national GOP chairman, and Rep. Robert Wilson of California, the Republican congressional campaign chairman.

Adoption of a plan aimed at capturing more big city votes through direct appeals to labor, nationality and minority groups was a highlight of the two-day meeting.

Oklahoma City Negro leaders lodged a protest against GOP leaders for holding the committee meeting in what they described as Oklahoma City's "most segregated hotel."

The Skirvin Hotel where the meeting was held has refused in the past to admit Negroes or to serve them food in its dining rooms.

Miller said the Skirvin was the only hotel in Oklahoma City which could provide space for the meeting.

RECORDING ARRANGEMENT

NEW YORK (AP) — An unusual arrangement has been worked out for the original cast recording of "No Strings," the new Richard Rodgers musical.

Instead of selling the disc rights to one of the record makers — the common practice — Rodgers has taken one of the firms into partnership. He will finance the cost of the recording. The company (Capitol) will handle the merchandising.

At least four concerns had sought the rights.

McCormack Gains Power, Prestige

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Power as well as prestige go to the new speaker of the House—Rep. John W. McCormack, 70, of Massachusetts—and plenty of both.

Prestige? He is second in line for the presidency, right after the vice president.

He gets a limousine of his own.

A salary of $45,000 a year—double that of any other congressman, including senators, and equal to that of the vice president.

And two suites of offices, and a third hide-away office.

There is a whole lot more. But the prestige doesn't even come close to matching the speaker's power.

The speaker is the second most powerful man in the government, topped only by the President.

The vice president, in the formal setup of government, doesn't even come close to matching the speaker for power.

The vice president performs more or less at the President's will. His only independent post is presiding over the Senate. And in that role he is mostly a figurehead, playing no favorites and voting only when there is a tie.

The speaker, as presiding officer of the House, is no figurehead. He is supposed to be impartial. But he also is supposed to be the leader of his party and to do what he can to see that his party's legislative program is passed.

The speaker has weapons galore to nudge members down the

British Fear Wide Spread Of Smallpox

LONDON (AP)—The smallpox scare spread in the north of England Saturday night and two more cities, Preston and Hull, took emergency measures.

In Preston, the city's medical officer, J.S.G. Brunett, said two persons who have arrived from the smallpox-stricken area around Bradford are under strict observation.

"We are taking purely routine precautions. The period of observation is 16 days and for both people the period is almost up," he said.

Both suspects had been vaccinated. One recently arrived from West Germany, the other from a town in Horkshire.

At Hull, in eastern England, staff of the health departments and hospitals are being vaccinated. Tight medical examination on crews of ships entering the harbor also has begun. Dr. A. Hutchinson, medical officer of Hull, said Bradford was near enough to warrant the precautionary measures.

Five have died of smallpox so far, in Britain, including three at Bradford.

The disease came to Britain two days earlier than was at first reported. A 9-year-old Pakistani girl who arrived in Britain on Dec. 23 died in a Bradford hospital on Dec. 30. Doctors now are certain she died of smallpox. Britain and the London area were first alerted when Ismat Khan, a Pakistani who arrived in London from Karachi Christmas Day first reported he was sick. He died of smallpox on Jan. 7 in a Kent hospital.

A Bradford pathologist who carried out the postmortem on the Pakistani girl afterward was admitted to Oakwell Isolation Hospital, Birstall, as a suspected smallpox victim.

The population of Bradford was told by Dr. John Douglas, its medical officer, not to panic.

"At the moment," he said, "I do not think it is necessary to talk about the vaccination of the whole population."

Berlin Talks Fail To Show Any Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States-Soviet talks on the Berlin crisis have failed so far to open any new approach to negotiations which would justify an East-West foreign ministers conference.

After the second meeting of the second round of exploratory discussions, U.S. officials indicated Saturday that the odds are presently in favor of the crisis dragging on indefinitely without a military showdown. But they see little hope for a solution, envisioning a prolonged state of tension with a corrosive influence on the whole range of East-West issues.

It is difficult for diplomats here to see, for example, how there is any real chance of making even a moderately serious new start on nuclear test ban negotiations, unless, in view of the continuing Berlin crisis.

U.S., British and Soviet negotiators are due to meet in Geneva next Tuesday, however, for a new round on the nuclear test issue. The prospect is that with international relations generally showing no real improvement, the United States will start a series of nuclear test explosions in the atmosphere in the spring. The final decision will be made at the last minute by President Kennedy.

But preparations for such shots are under way. Similarly there is no real hope changes.

Solons Receive New Proposal On Retirement

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The Joint Legislative Committee on Retirement Saturday heard a request to allow state employees with 30 years of service to retire at age 55 without penalty.

Chairman Jack Fruge, senator from Ville Platte, said the proposal was made by the State Employees Retirement System.

Under present law, state workers with 30 years of service can retire at 60 without penalty. If a worker retires at 55 under current law, he must take a 3 percent penalty in income, set by a formula based on pay scale and length of service.

A spokesman for the state employees retirement system indicated the main reason for the proposal was to give workers a sort of insurance against being forced out early by administrative removal of state positions or other changes.

Weather Brings Trash Dispute

In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Some 210 garbage and trash collectors continued to refuse to work here Saturday in a dispute over the weather.

The collection crews first refused to work Wednesday when the temperature dropped to 7 below zero. They said they would not return to work until city officials agreed on a minimum temperature below which they would not be required to work.

The secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 610, Pete Saffo, said the men had been advised by the union not to work until an agreement had been reached. The local represents most of the truck drivers and collectors.

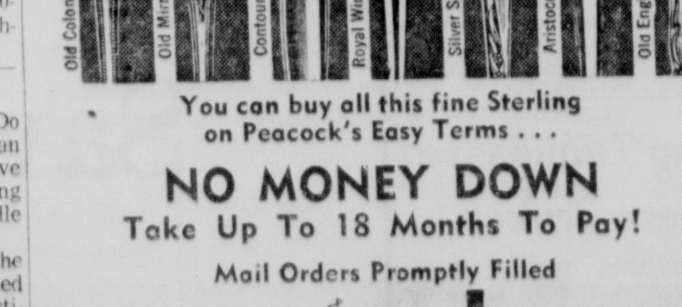

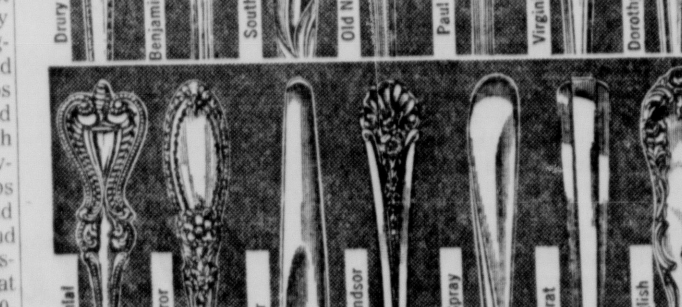

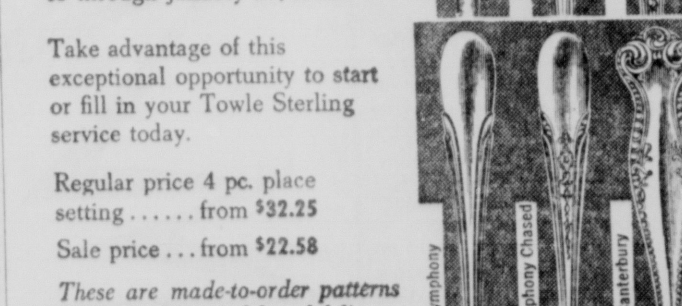

Director of Streets Alfred H. Beck said the men had been ordered to work by city officials and will not be paid while idle.

Discussions on the subject are to resume Monday afternoon.

NO CHARGE FOR 'BABY' MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—"Do you charge for babies less than six months old?" The attractive young woman asked, glancing down at a blanket-wrapped bundle in her arms.

The ticket agent said no. The woman bought her ticket, hurried out and onto a bus. At her destination the driver helped her off, bestowing a friendly pat on the bundle.

And that is how one visitor to Memphis made the trip from here to her home in Arkansas recently without being separated from her 13-month-old puppy.

AS PRIME MINISTER

Longevity Record Set By Macmillan

LONDON (UPI) — Out of the shambles of the abortive Suez invasion that wrecked the government of Sir Anthony Eden in 1957, Britain's Conservative Party picked as prime minister a man the newspapers grumbled, "Nobody knows."

They know him now. Harold Macmillan, book publisher's son and half-American, this week began his sixth year in office — the longest unbroken tenure of any conservative prime minister in this century. He'll break even more longevity records if he stays in office until the next general election, now expected in the fall of 1963.

One of the most popular political guessing games here is whether, and when, the 68-year-old Macmillan will step down for a successor — and who that successor is likely to be.

Macmillan obviously enjoys the game and has been teasing aspirants for some time.

"Ministers, even prime ministers," he confided to a parliamentary conference last year, "are, happily, but transient figures. Like phantoms they flit across the stage and, with few exceptions, are soon forgotten."

While would-be heirs were still trying to figure what hints those words might contain, the urbane, witty prime minister tickled their curiosity even further when in his speech at the conservative conference he told them:

"I do not intend to live after my flame lacks oil, to be the snuff of younger spirits." And, he teased, there were plenty of younger spirits in the party.

He gives no indication of planning any early retirement. On the world stage, he has been given the mantle of great moderator; his life would be fulfilled if, through his efforts, any real settlement was reached with Russia. His major aim, in recent years, has been that goal.

Beginning his sixth year, Macmillan has no cause to believe his job is done. East-West dangers loom larger than ever. At home, he is leading the far-from-won battle to take Britain into the European Common Market. On the economic front his government is fighting to improve its balance of exports and imports and struggling to hold the wage line in the face of growing waves of strikes and labor demands for a break in the wage freeze.

Still another reason to give pause to any Macmillan retirement thoughts is the lack of any clear-cut candidate to take his place. He was not exaggerating when he spoke of the plentitude of "younger spirits" waiting and anxious to move into No. 10 Downing Street. But none, at the moment, stands out.

A thoughtful assessment of the situation in the Sunday Times this week listed half a dozen or more possibles, with none having much to offer over any of the others.

Former foreign minister and now Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd, once thought to be "The Man," must pull an economic coup on the home front. He currently is under heavy labor fire for his "Wage Pause" policy.

AEC To Open Atlanta Office

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission plans to open a new regional office in Atlanta to serve a 12-state area of the Southeastern United States, according to Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

Gene A. Blanc, formerly assistant director of region V at Berkeley, Calif., will direct the region II Atlanta office and a staff of 20, the senator said.

The Atlanta office will be responsible for all commission licensing and inspection activity in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and Virgin Islands.

Long Tennessee Freeze Broken

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Temperatures climbed above the 32 degree reading at 11 a.m. Saturday, ending 112½ hours of subfreezing weather in this Tennessee capital city.

During the cold siege the mercury twice dipped to a minus 2 and averaged 30 degrees below the seasonal normal, the Weather Bureau said. One inch of snow fell during the cold spell.

City Schools To Participate In Workshop

Students of Monroe City Schools will take a two-day holiday from classes, January 25 and 26 so that teachers can attend a workshop. Teachers will assemble at the Sherrouse school at 9 a.m. on the 25th. High school teachers will then continue on to Northeast College where they will divide into groups for mathematics and special studies. Elementary and junior high teachers will remain at Sherrouse for work in mathematics and social studies.

Three outstanding persons of their fields have been obtained to conduct the conference.

Dr. Virginia Carlton, professor and head of the mathematics department of Centenary College, Shreveport, will lead discussion in her field.

Mrs. Grace Nelson Lacy, winner of four top national Freedom Foundation Awards for her teachings of a better understanding of and appreciation for the American way of life, will serve as social studies consultant.

Dr. George L. Fersh, director of the joint council's Conservation and Resource-Use Education Project and also associate director of the Joint Council on Economic Education, will lead the group's social studies activities.

General Elections Slated For India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's third general elections will begin Feb. 2 and end in most areas by Feb. 25, the Election Commission announced Saturday. About 210 million persons are eligible to vote for members of the lower house of Parliament and state assemblies. Only Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party is running enough candidates to win control of Parliament and most assemblies. Other parties seek only to become the leading opposition group.

Annual Natchez Pilgrimage Set March 3, April 1

NATCHEZ (Special) — Natchez, Miss., unfolds the pages of its fascinating history each spring for the thousands who throng its streets and sunken roads. This year, from March 3 through April 1, the doors to 30 hospitable antebellum houses will be opened to visitors during the annual Natchez Pilgrimage.

Within an area of five miles, Natchez has more interesting houses built prior to the War Between the States than any other place

Toxic Chemical In Car Burns Racial Leader

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A field secretary for the Congress of Racial Equality who was one of the original "Freedom Riders," suffered burns from a toxic chemical he said was placed in his car.

Henry Thomas, 21, was taken to a hospital suffering from burns received when he entered his car in downtown Huntsville Friday night.

Army chemical experts were asked to investigate by Dr. John L. Cashin Jr., a Negro dentist. They were unable to determine the exact nature of the chemical but concluded it was a home-prepared mixture.

Thomas was aboard a bus which was burned by a mob outside Anniston, Ala., May 14. At the time, CORE listed him as a student from St. Augustine, Fla., who was attending Howard University at Washington D. C. He was chairman of a Washington, D.C. nonviolent group.

Teams of CORE-directed Negro demonstrators have been staging sit-ins at various lunch counters here in protest of segregation practices. Thirty-five Negroes have been arrested and charged with misdemeanors.

Spokesmen for CORE in New York said Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has been asked to investigate the incident involving Thomas.

in this country. They were built during the period beginning in the late 1700's and continuing through 1855. It is the life of the lavish cotton era that is reenacted during the annual Pilgrimage.

Hoop-skirted belles and crin-lined lasses will welcome discerning guests who seek the beauty created by generations now gone. The master architect, the inspired artisan — all have contributed their peerless creations to blend the harmonious decor of these houses, which time has touched only with gentle mellowing. Three days are required to see all of the houses, as they are two five-house tours each day. Tableaux, which comprise the famous Confederate Pageant are presented every Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night. On remaining nights there are Negro Spirituals. The Pilgrimage Garden Club, P.O. Box 347, Natchez, Miss., can furnish all information.

Mississippi Business Hits Record Peak

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi State University reports business activity in the state during November set a new all-time high.

The MSU Bureau of Business and Economics Research predicted Saturday that December will set another new high for a year.

The research group said business was 45 per cent above the monthly average of the three-year period, 1956-58.

November bank deposits reached the billion-dollar mark for the second consecutive month and set a new high. The total was 11 per cent above the figure for a year earlier.

Insured savings and loan associations in November loaned $5,805,726 in the state, up 19 per cent. Loans for construction were up 7 per cent above last year's figure.

Sales of ordinary life insurance totaled $31,694,000, up 19 per cent. Mississippi poultrymen reported selling 106 million eggs during November, 18 million more than the same period last year.

Negro Is Booked On Two Violations

Monroe police booked a 28-year-old Negro on two traffic violations early Saturday morning.

Chief James C. Kelly identified him as Euell Davis Jr., of 422 North 22nd St., Monroe.

Davis was booked for improper parking and driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. He was taken into custody on North 23rd St. at Washington Street at 2:40 a.m.

OPENS MONDAY

Housewares Show Features Gimmicks

CHICAGO (UPI)—Gimmicks, main attraction of the big housewares show opening Monday, now range up to $2,700 in price.

Carrying the four-figure price tag is a portable outdoor entertainment center, complete with balloon tires, for the home that has everything. It includes a bar with automatic ice maker, charcoal rotisserie cooker with heat indicator, upper and lower grills and a dining table for six.

Almost 200,000 products will be shown at this 36th National Housewares Manufacturers Association exhibit, expected to attract buyers from the 50 states, Canada and numerous foreign countries. A record 988 exhibitors have set up booths at the show. Their offerings, ranging from the bizarre to the practical, include:

—Portable thermoelectric refrigerators that operate without conventional motor and freezing system; an oven rack for fat-free roasting; and a spoon-and-spread combination for putting jelly on bread.

—Hot mitts with two thumbs to wear on either hand; one-piece picture hangers for greater accuracy in placement than nail and hook; and a magnet to catch bouncing bottle caps on the bottle opener attachment of electric can openers.

—Thermostatically controlled, battery-operated window vents to end the need for getting out of bed to close the window in the morning; a shoulder-bag hair dryer that allows walking around during drying; and another portable hair dryer with electrically-operated manicure attachments.

—Shelf lining and edging with surfaces treated to kill germs; push-button draw drapes; a stand-by emergency light that turns on only when electric power fails; and battery-operated lawnmowers with vacuum action that clean the lawn as they cut the grass.

—Wet-weather grass seed that can be sown in the rain; and chemical pellets for insertion in the garden hose to provide easy fertilizing, dog and insect-proofing of the lawn.

—A vertical electric broiler that cooks meat upright like a toaster; a ceramic tile center in a stainless steel hostess tray that can be used as hot plate or cutting surface; and foam-backed place mats that always stay in place on the table.

Father Of Local Woman Dies: Services Today

Funeral services will be held Sunday for William (Bill) Kelley Jr., 73, who died Saturday morning in a Bernice clinic.

Mr. Kelley was a resident of Bernice. His daughter, Mrs. Billie Ann Sims, lives in West Monroe.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Bernice with the Revs. A. L. New and John Lawless officiating.

Burial will be in Weldon Cemetery near Weldon under the direction of Spears Funeral Home of Bernice.

The body will lie in state at the funeral home until time for the services.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Annie R. Kelley, Bernice; two sons, A. J. Kelley, DeRidder, and Louis Kelley, Fort Worth, Tex.; two daughters, Mrs. Louise Best, Simsboro and Mrs. Sims; three brothers, Searce Kelley, and Jack Kelley, both of Bernice, and Tom Kelley, Choudrant; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Lindsey, Bernice, and Mrs. Josephine Farrar, Dodson; and 10 grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Bobby Gene Kelley, Odie B. Kelley, Frank Roach, Willie Roach, Van Roach and James Ellis Pilgreen.

FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT officials have agreed to act as chairmen from their communities for one night at the Cerebral Palsy telethon to be held Feb. 3 and 4. Pictured at the luncheon-meeting held recently at the Rendezvous restaurant are, from the left, standing, Sheriff E. L. Hinton, Morehouse Parish; Sheriff A. J. Stephens, Franklin Parish; kneeling, Monroe Fire Chief H. L. Hales; Harry Dale Maddox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Maddox, 801 S. 9th St., in Monroe; and Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard. This is the third year for the Maddox youth at the Cerebral Palsy School of Northeast Louisiana.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS

CP Telethon Set On February 3, 4

Plans for a 1962 telethon to benefit the cerebral palsied children and adults of Northeast Louisiana were announced at a kickoff luncheon recently at the Rendezvous by David F. Russell, telethon chairman for United Cerebral Palsy of northeast Louisiana.

The nineteen-hour show, to be televised live from the Neville High School auditorium over KIVT-TV, Channel 10, will feature nationally known stars of television, screen and radio, to be announced later, as well as many local area entertainers.

"This is an all out effort to educate the public as to the many services provided by United Cerebral Palsy," Russell said, "giving viewers the opportunity to voluntarily contribute in support of these services, which help supplement the cerebral palsy school on Selman Road in Monroe, where physical therapy, speech and hearing therapy, and special education are received."

There are currently 45 students enrolled, according to Milton Blue, school administrator. Ronald Lee Davis Jr., advance gifts chairman, announced that a special campaign was underway to help the local group, an affiliate of United Cerebral Palsy Association, Inc., to reach their needs. He has been assisted by Jack Parmore from the national staff.

Ken Wilson, national telethon producer and George Ineichen, national field representative, and currently working on the production plans for the telethon. Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard pledged his support to this drive at the luncheon, as did Fire Chief H. L. Hales, Sheriff E. L. Hinton of Morehouse Parish; Sheriff A. J. Stephens, Franklin Parish, and Fire Chief Taylor of West Monroe, and other officials in surrounding communities.

Activities are being planned to include entire surrounding area, according to Bobby Pappas, president of United Cerebral Palsy of Louisiana, the state organization. Also participating will be United Cerebral Palsy of Arkansas who will be assisted by Dick Hume, the national area representative.

It was pointed out that all funds collected in southern Arkansas would go to their state organization in support of their program. Money received from unaffiliated areas will remain with the northeast Louisiana affiliate.

Of all funds collected, 25 per cent is allocated to support the national educational and research program which is striving for better methods of treatment and prevention as well as means of prevention. The remainder stays in the area in which it was raised for direct services.

Miss Bernice McCoy, president of the local affiliate, explained that cerebral palsy is damage to

Representative Of SBA Slated Here This Week

Justin Green, manager of the Small Business Administration office in New Orleans, announced Saturday that financial specialist Fred B. Ottell will be in Monroe Thursday and Friday in Room 315, U. S. post office, to confer with anyone desiring the services of the government agency.

This is a continuance of the policy of the Small Business Administration to make its services more convenient to the small businessman and the banks in the Monroe area, Green said.

Green also said, "It would be very helpful if inquirers would bring with them at the time of the interview a recent balance sheet and profit and loss statements for the past three years."

It is planned that a representative of the SBA will visit Monroe monthly, Green added.

Damage Mild To Florida's Citrus Crop

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI)—Florida's goldmine of winter fruits and vegetables came through a fourth winter cold snap with only slight damage Saturday but some Sunshine State residents shivered in the harshest chill in years.

A slow warmup started by mid-day, and weathermen said frost Sunday morning should be slight and scattered in the major growing areas, and would stay north of the rich truck farming sections in the Everglades.

An end to the cold snap was promised for Sunday.

Theft, Robbery Being Probed By Monroe Officers

Monroe police are investigating the report of a theft and a robbery that allegedly occurred Friday night.

Willie Bowman, Negro of 3308 Barlow St., told officers someone came in his house while he was asleep and took $5 from his pocket.

Another Negro, Lawrence Wilson of 111 North 14th St., told officers he was knocked in the head and robbed as he walked down the street Friday night.

Wilson told officers that his grey sport coat, grey cap and $25 was taken after some unknown party hit him in the back of the head with an unidentified object as he walked down the street.

He reported the robbery shortly after 2 a.m. Saturday. Wilson told officers he did not know on which street the robbery occurred.

The 14 degrees early Saturday at Tallahassee was the coldest in the state capital since 1899. A 29 at Tampa on the Gulf Coast set a new record for the date.

"For the majority of crops, temperatures were just above the danger point. Some crops would have been damaged if they had not been protected," reported Warren Johnson, head of the Federal-State Frost Warning Service here.

Johnson said citrus damage was confined to only the coldest locations. He said there was slight additional damage to tender crops such as corn and beans, hurt in several areas in a later December cold snap, but that most crops were protected by fires in the fields or flooding.

SHORTLY BEFORE CRASH

Actor Rejected Ride With Kovacs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The auto crash that killed comedian Ernie Kovacs Saturday might have claimed another celebrity, French actor-singer Yves Montand, except for a last-second decision.

This was revealed by comedian Milton Berle, who told this story: Kovacs and his wife were attending a baby shower in honor of Berle's wife Friday night at the home of director Billy Wilder. Kovacs and his wife, actress Edie Adams, left the party in separate cars while the Berles and Montand were preparing to depart.

"Ruth—Mrs. Berle—and I were driving Yves to his hotel," Berle said. "Ernie stopped at the door and said: 'Milton, are you driving Yves or does he want to ride with us?'"

"Yves decided to go ahead with us and Ernie waved and left." A few minutes later Kovacs perished when his station wagon crashed into a power pole on a rainy street.

"It's just impossible for me to realize what's happened," Berle said. "Ernie was such a happy guy, so really alive."

"I've lost a good friend, and I'm convinced the world has lost a comedy genius."

Police Arrest 12 In Maryland Demonstrations

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Twelve youths were arrested Saturday in connection with sit-in demonstrations at two diners here.

Hyattsville, Md., police said six were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct at the Federal Diner and six on trespassing charges at the College Park Diner.

Police said those arrested on charges of disorderly conduct were two Negro men, one Negro woman, two white women and a white man.

Those arrested on trespassing charges were three white women and three Negro women, police said.

Their ages ranged from 17 to 23. Police said they were among two busloads of persons who came here from Baltimore around noon.

Warrants for their arrest were sworn out by owners of the diners police reported. They were taken to a Hyattsville police station.

Berle said the Kovacs' gift to the Berle baby was a silver cup inscribed, "William Michael Berle, 1961."

Police found, among Kovacs' effects in the station wagon photographs of his wife and three daughters.

Singer Dean Martin, another guest at the party, was roused from his sleep by newsmen, who told him of the tragedy.

At first Martin believed the story to be a hoax. When convinced it wasn't, he said: "Oh, my God. He was the happiest guy in the world at the party last night. He was joking and kidding around like he always does."

"I just can't believe he's gone. Hell, I knew the guy real well—probably about 15 years. Ernie was a lovable guy."

Informed that Miss Adams had left in another car, Martin said: "Well, that's something at least. This will hit the poor kid hard—really hard."

Shocked into silence, Martin turned the phone over to his wife, Jeanne, who commented: "Ernie told me just last night that he was going to live forever and maybe beyond. We talked for about an hour after he got to the party."

"He told me he had found the secret to a long life: 'All it takes is three steam baths a day, lots of good brandy, about 20 cigars and work all night.'"

"That's what he said, and I told him if he didn't cut out all those steam baths his heart would give out on him someday."

"Look kid," he said, "this is the only life I've got and I want to live it the way I like. If I go, I want it to be my way. Besides, those steam baths don't hurt me. I can go all the time, night and day."

"Ernie seemed so sure, so positive, that nothing could ever hurt him."

Comedian Gary Morton, who attended the baby shower with his recent bride, Lucille Ball, recalled: "Ernie was in great form at the party. He had just finished this Western pilot film and was in high spirits. He described vividly—and with great wit and humor—his experiences."

"The Kovacs cigar was in great evidence."

"Ernie told of how cold it was on location for the pilot film, and recounted—as only he could—his experiences when they told him to take off his shirt."

"He rocked us with laughter, describing how shivery he was. 'It was, of course, a very warm occasion, and Ernie added the warmth that only he could add.'"

A&P Slates New Market; Opening Set

A new type A&P Supermarket, featuring Eighteenth Century Virginia architecture, will open Monday at 2312 Cypress St. in West Monroe, according to an announcement by J. H. Nichols, vice president of A&P in charge of operations in the Gulf states.

In making the announcement Nichols said: "We are certainly proud to dedicate to the West Monroe community this handsome colonial style new supermarket."

The nation's oldest and largest chain of food stores, founded in 1859, has been operating in Monroe for many years.

The clean lines of the facade of red brick and white frame trim are coordinated with a graceful roof which is dominated by a cupola with weather-vane.

The new store covers an area of 13,500 square feet with 13,073 feet devoted to the shopping facilities.

A self-service meat department, frozen food, coffee—dairy, department and drug sundries departments are featured along with the complete grocery sections. The parking lot will accommodate 503 cars.

Robert Poche, the manager, will be assisted by Billy Shields. Other department heads include J. C. Nolen, meats, Thomas M. Pace, produce and Roy Telano coffee-dairy.

R. E. Phillips is supervisor of the Monroe and West Monroe stores.

Solon To Spurn All Invitations To Cosmos Club

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., said Saturday he was refusing all future invitations to functions at two exclusive Washington men's clubs because of their alleged segregation policies.

He also said the continued presence of government officials in the Cosmos and Metropolitan clubs tends to "underwrite the segregation policy of these two private clubs" although "it is, of course, the privilege and right of the individual guest to do that if he cares to."

For himself, Morse said in a statement, "as one who believes that the issue of civil rights in our country is so critical from the standpoint of the welfare of the republic, I have decided to decline any and all invitations which would place me in a position, as a guest, of condoning by my very presence what I consider to be an un-American policy of segregation."

The latest flareup and guest policies came earlier this week when it was disclosed that the Cosmos Club had turned down the membership application of Asst. Secretary of State Carl T. Rowan, a Negro. The club has no Negro members.

My Answer By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: I hear you talk a lot about the "end of the world." I don't believe in "scaring" people into Christianity, and I believe that anyone who comes through fear will not last.

ANSWER: There is a false, contrived fear, and there is justified fear. I sincerely believe that millions of people are not aware of the judgement that is about to fall upon the world. As a result they are apathetic, indifferent, and passive—in an hour when we should be sober, vigilant, and prepared.

Communism has over 800,000 agents working hard to convert the world to Marxism, while the total number of Christian Missionaries is only 26,000. They are brandishing their arms, testing their weapons, making their boasts, while we drowsily go our way, as if it were nothing but a passing dream.

Scientists are talking about the end of the world—not preachers. With modern weapons it is now possible to destroy human life on this planet. This is not fancy—it is fact. Just as danger on the highway is fact; just as death is a fact; just as judgement is a fact. And he who doesn't have a reasonable fear of these dangers, and acts accordingly, is most foolish.

TRADE WITH REDS
TOKYO (AP) — Officials said 1962 trade between Japan and Communist North Viet Nam should total $28 million, double the 1961 figure.

ON OVERSEAS FLIGHTS

Military Funds Waste Charged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government report charged Saturday that the Defense Department wasted $7 million in one year sending people overseas on commercial airliners while its own Military Air Transport Service (MATS) made flights with 200,000 empty seats.

Auditors also found that military brass shipped golf clubs, sporting rifles and even dog food by airliners as much as a month before they left for new duty stations overseas.

The General Accounting Office (GAO), which acts as a watchdog on government spending, sent a 53-page report on the situation to key House and Senate committees.

It also was brought to the attention of President Kennedy, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and top officials of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The $7 million figure was for the 1960 fiscal year during the Eisenhower administration. However, the GAO said there had been only moderate improvement since then.

The Pentagon disputed this, claiming major remedial steps had been taken. But government auditors said there was "no evidence" of much action.

The report said more than 50 per cent of the overseas trips on commercial airliners during 1960 could have been handled by MATS. This amounted to 22,500 trips by military personnel and their dependents.

At the same time, about 200,000 seats on MATS passenger flights were either empty or occupied by persons not on duty orders.

"The unused passenger capacity of MATS," the report said, "was generally available on all routes and during all periods of the year."

Officials in the office of the Secretary of Defense alone made more than 300 trips by airliners between Washington and France or Germany during 1960. The total tab was $170,000, GAO said.

Yet the report said "in every case, unused seats were available for Washington passengers on MATS flights on the same day or within one day of their departure by commercial airline."

Seven Killed In Crash On Texas Road

GROOM, Tex. (AP) — Seven persons from Missouri, six of them members of one family, died Saturday as a station wagon rumbled beneath a parked trailer truck on the outskirts of this Texas Panhandle town.

Two others were injured, both critically.

All were from Kennett, Mo., near the Missouri-Arkansas line. They reportedly were en route to California, looking for work.

One of those killed was Clayton Aldridge, 20, Route 1, Kennett. Police said he was driving the station wagon.

Others killed were members of the Alvin Bell family. They were: Bell, 47; his son, Jack, 19; his daughter, Judy, 11; another daughter, Mrs. Bobbie Gill, 25; and Mrs. Gill's two sons, Vim, 9, and Tommy, 3.

Mrs. Alvin Bell, 45, was taken to a Groom hospital in critical condition from head injuries. Her grandson, Jackie Gill, 3, also was critically hurt.

U.S. Astronaut To Embark On Historic Flight Soon

EDITOR'S NOTE—The United States is ready to commit one of its finest astronauts to an orbital flight about the earth. Here is a report on what lies ahead for the chosen pilot, John H. Glenn Jr., and what officials hope to learn from his daring mission.

By HOWARD BENEDICT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—John H. Glenn Jr., balding 40-year-old Marine lieutenant colonel, is about to embark on one of the greatest adventures ever undertaken by an American.

In 10 days, on Jan. 23, Glenn is scheduled to ride a powerful Atlas rocket into orbit about the earth. Streaking through space at 17,500 miles an hour, his capsule is intended to make three circuits of the globe in 4½ hours.

The results will help establish guidelines for this nation's future course in space.

At altitudes up to 150 miles, astronaut Glenn will have a breathtaking look at the earth below. Each glance will afford a stunning, panoramic view stretching 1,800 miles from horizon to horizon.

Continents and oceans will skip from sight in minutes. The capsule will whip through alternate periods of daylight and darkness as it sweeps into the shadow of the earth, then emerges again into sunlight.

At times, Glenn, honed by months of training, will roll his spacecraft over to gaze at the stars and heavens through a wide-angle window. Undistorted by the earth's atmosphere, the stars will appear as they truly are—unblinking in brilliant red, yellow, blue and white hues.

For all but a few minutes, Glenn will be in the weird and exhilarating world of weightlessness. How man is able to function in a weightless state on prolonged space journeys is a major enigma the Mercury orbital flights aim to solve.

On his 17-orbit flight last Aug. 6, Russian cosmonaut Gherman Titov reported that most of the time he suffered vertigo, or dizziness.

The first man to orbit the earth, Russian Yuri Gagarin, reported no such discomfort on his one trip around the globe on April 12, 1961. Nor did American astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom on their brief 15-minute space rides on May 5 and July 12 last year.

Some U.S. experts theorize that perhaps Titov is more sensitive to weightlessness than other men. They feel the performance of Glenn and other American astronauts, who they believe are more mature and experienced pilots than the Russian cosmonauts, will set a better guide.

Medical men also believe weightlessness of several days or weeks duration might rob a spaceman of his muscle tone, in effect make him flabby. Glenn plans regular periods of exercise on his flight to test his ability to do them.

During the flight, Glenn is to try changing the roll, pitch and yaw of his craft with the attitude control stick. He will make instrument readings and call on his training in astronomy and geography to identify heavenly bodies and earth landmarks. He will attempt to eat by squeezing food from a tube-like container.

The spacecraft's course, dependent on precision performance by the Atlas booster, is carefully calculated so Glenn will be in constant touch with the worldwide tracking network of 18 ground stations.

At all times, specialists on the ground want to know the condition of capsule and pilot. If something were to go wrong, they will be ready to order the craft back to earth by sending a radio signal to fire a series of reverse rockets at the base of the vehicle.

The vital communications links tying Glenn to the earth are at Cape Canaveral, Bermuda, a ship in the Atlantic, two stations in Africa, a ship in the Indian Ocean, two stations in Australia, Canton Island in the Pacific, Hawaii, California, Mexico, Texas and Eglon Air Force Base, Fla.

Doctors, engineers and other experts will be at each post, listening to Glenn's voice, receiving and analyzing data radioed from scores of capsule sensors and instruments attached to the pilot's body.

The information will be relayed by high-speed transmission facilities to computers in Beltsville, Md., for analysis and then on to the control center at Cape Canaveral for necessary action. A bit of data will take only one second to travel from capsule to control center.

If all goes well, the reverse rockets will be triggered as the capsule passes over California near the end of the third orbit. This will slow the spacecraft and it gradually will descend across the southern United States for a landing in the Atlantic Ocean near Grand Turk Island, about 800 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

As the capsule drops, the weightless feeling will vanish and Glenn suddenly will be gripped by tremendous pressures up to 10 times the force of gravity. He will be protected from re-entry heat of several hundred degrees by a heat shield at the base of the capsule and by the craft's environmental control system, which maintains a steady, comfortable temperature.

A parachute will ease the landing and a large recovery fleet will be standing by to pick up America's newest space hero.

As the time nears for his historic flight, Glenn's final preparations include repeated simulated flights in a ground-based capsule, thorough familiarization with the actual spacecraft and additional astronomy and geography study. He is quartered in a special ready room, a comfortable apartment in hangar S at Cape Canaveral.

Working closely with him is the backup pilot for the flight, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Scott Carpenter.

Glenn's wife, Anne, and children, David, 15, and Carolyn, 14, will remain at their home in Arlington, Va.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has done everything possible to insure Glenn's safe return, even if something were to go wrong.

Several previous flights have tested the Atlas-capsule combination, including the recent orbital flights of a mechanical man and

Five Children Burn To Death In Home Fire

MONCTON, N.B. (AP)—Five children burned to death early today in flames which swept through a two-story frame house here. Three children and a youth escaped.

Dead are Sheila, 15; Joan, 8; Donna, 6; Claude, 4, and 4-month-old Heather, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dempsey, who had left for Fredericton to attend a funeral a few hours before the fire broke out shortly after 2 a.m.

In a hospital is another son, Gavin, 20, who suffered burns to the hands and face when he assisted Floyd, 9, and Joan's twin brother Eugene to safety. A ninth child, Douglas, 13, found his own way out of the burning house.

The Dempseys have two other children—Fred, with the Canadian army in Ontario, and Frances, 16, who was in nearby Dieppe for the night.

The fire, believed to have started in the kitchen, spread quickly through the house. The children were asleep on the second floor.

Gavin threw Floyd and Eugene from a second-story window into the waiting arms of neighbors who were aroused by cries for help. He and Douglas then made their way out by the window.

Moncton Fire Chief Murray McKie said the five dead children were found huddled together in a back bedroom.

Enos the chimpanzee. Cooling and control trouble developed in Enos' capsule and he was brought down after two instead of the intended three orbits. Mercury officials said the problems were minor and could have been corrected easily by a human passenger.

Glenn's primary life insurance for the first few minutes of flight when the Atlas engines are firing will be a 15½-foot tower attached to the capsule. Atop the tower, which resembles a miniature oil derrick, is a small, but powerful, solid propellant, rocket that will ignite and pull the spacecraft away from the Atlas in case of trouble. It is geared to fire automatically, but it also can be activated by ground command or by the astronaut.

This escape mechanism will zip the capsule 2,000 feet in the air in seconds and then lower it by parachute.

All systems in the capsule operate automatically. But malfunctions can be remedied by ground command or by Glenn. If the oxygen supply in the carefully controlled environment of the craft should become low, Glenn can button himself tightly in his pressurized space suit.

Although the capsule can be commanded down from orbit at any time, officials would prefer to land it in one of four primary recovery areas, all in the Atlantic Ocean. They feel that instead of dropping the craft into the Indian or Pacific Oceans, where there is no concentration of ships, it would be better to wait until the end of an orbit when recovery would be swifter.

Termination of the flight after the first global pass would result in impact east of Bermuda; the second orbit landing area is south of Bermuda. The fourth recovery zone, near the Canary Islands off the western coast of Africa, would be used if the mission were aborted soon after the capsule separated from the Atlas. The Bermuda station would command the vehicle back to earth immediately if the proper orbit were not achieved.

A total of 24 Navy ships, including three aircraft carriers, and 60 aircraft will be deployed across the Atlantic from Cape Canaveral to the Canary Islands. Officials hope that only those in the third orbit recovery area, Grand Turk, will be necessary.

Negro Family Bomb Target In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPD)—A Negro who had bought a house in a white neighborhood found a dynamite bomb sputtering outside his front door Saturday and threw it into the street seconds before it exploded.

Police posted around-the-clock guards at the home of Walter Speedy, 42, and at the apartment house which he has bought in a white neighborhood on Chicago's southwest side, close by the famed back of the yards district.

Officers said that if the bomb had exploded it could have caused serious injury or even death to the largely Irish Yards district.

Speedy, his wife, and their five children.

The Speedy's dog alerted the family to the bomb. When the dog started barking, Mrs. Yvonne Speedy opened the door of their second floor apartment and found a bomb—three sticks of dynamite tied together and the fuse lit—on the landing outside.

"Walter, here's a firecracker—it's sputtering," Mrs. Speedy said.

Speedy glanced outside and said "It's not a firecracker—it's a bomb. Get me some water."

Speedy dumped the dynamite in the water "but I saw it wasn't doing any good." He grabbed the dynamite, raced downstairs, and threw it into the street.

The blast broke all the windows in the apartment house where Speedy lived as well as in buildings close by.

Speedy said he had been receiving threatening letters and telephone calls ever since he had bought the two-flat apartment in the largely Irish Yards district.

Appeals Court Judge

GI's Champion

EDITOR'S NOTE—As a circuit judge, Homer Ferguson once stood Detroit on its ear with an investigation of vice and corruption. For 12 years he represented his state in the U.S. Senate. Now his constituency is the "little people" of the armed services, who frequently benefit from Judge Ferguson's deep conviction that justice must be blind.

By JOSEPH E. MOHABAT
WASHINGTON (AP)—It used to be that, of all the forlorn souls in the world, the soldier or sailor in trouble had to rank with the most hopeless and helpless.

He has things better now. That's due in part to the United States Court of Military Appeals, an institution that grows in importance as the services grow larger, but still is hardly known to the general public.

One way to understand the court and its attitude is to call on Homer Ferguson, one of its three judges and a man of richly varied background.

Ferguson, a snow-haired former Pennsylvania coal miner, dresses like a judge (he is one), looks like a grandfather (he is one) and speaks with the ease and self-assurance of a professional politician (he was one).

As a jurist on the Court of Military Appeals—the Supreme Court of the military—Ferguson has dedicated the rest of his career to the "little people," as he calls them, and the protection of their liberty and civil rights.

"The little people," he says, "the ones who can't defend themselves, are vitally important to me."

The Court of Military Appeals was formed by Congress in 1951 after a wave of complaints that basic rights of servicemen were being flagrantly violated at every stage of military proceedings. More than 15,000 cases have been docketed.

The court reviews certain cases—some of them, such as death penalty cases, automatically—after a Pentagon board of review has ruled on a court-martial verdict. The high court's decision is final. The number of reversals favorable to defendants is around 40 to 50 per cent.

From his two-story, white brick home in northwest Washington, Ferguson, 72, drives daily, alone, to his $25,500-a-year position behind the green wooden doors of a trim, gray stone courthouse.

ASSURING
There, he and his colleagues—Chief Judge Robert E. Quinn and Judge Paul J. Kilday—set about their task of assuring men in the service their basic rights. They have done so in such decisions as these:

—After a Navy machinist's mate was convicted of an offense in 1957, the court set aside the verdict because naval intelligence agents refused to allow the prisoner to consult a lawyer before making a statement.

Ferguson wrote: "One suspected of an offense in the military has a right to consult with a lawyer of his own choice or a staff judge advocate."

—An airman's rape conviction was set aside in 1958 on grounds the law officer, who corresponds to presiding judge in courts-martial, had made rulings that aided the prosecution. The military appeals court said he kept telling the complaining witness she didn't have to answer defense questions that might incriminate her. "In this type of case," the high court ruled "it is proper to prove the unchaste character of the complaining witness."

—In 1958 the court threw out the conviction of a Marine drill instructor accused of roughing up recruits, because the law officer had assisted in preparing the charges against the drill instructor.

Are these just technicalities Ferguson is upholding? Is he a "liberal" judge?

Settling back into a leather chair in his office one day recently, Ferguson gave for a moment through his steel-rimmed glasses and reached a verdict: "I'm not sure 'liberal' is the proper word for a judge," he mused. "I guess I could be classified as a strict constructionist of the law. Liberty is based on a fair interpretation of the law for the individual. If the law doesn't explicitly make a thing a crime, then it's not a crime. If the law says a thing and it's clear what it means, then we have to follow it."

PROBLEM
"I can't do as I please and determine a man guilty because I think what he did is wrong. It's up to the government, which defines what is and what is not a crime. A judge tries to ascertain from printed words what the crime is. Some people say this is convicting or letting a man off on a technicality." I don't agree. "Thus, justice is blindfolded. I must hear what you did, not see what you are."

Ferguson's devotion to facts and his tenacity at rooting for them gained him national headlines in 1939 when, as Wayne County (Detroit) circuit judge, he took advantage of a unique Michigan law which allows a judge to sit as a one-man grand jury. Hiring his own lawyers and investigators, Ferguson waded eye-deep into an investigation of vice and corruption.

He didn't wade out until he had returned 360 indictments and convictions. To prison went the mayor of Detroit, the police superintendent, the sheriff and prosecuting attorney and numerous police officials. To Washington went Republican Ferguson, where he served as senator from 1942 to 1954.

Tall and thickly built, with his snowy mane, Samuel Homer Ferguson is an imposing figure. His manner is calm, detached, but not quite aloof.

He dresses as befits his age and position—dark blue suit and tie with black shoes.

RARELY LAUGHS
He rarely laughs, but smiles often. An active Presbyterian, he neither drinks nor smokes. Guns are one of his pleasures. His garden is another. He frequently journeys to South Carolina and Florida to hunt quail.

Although Ferguson failed to mention it, a secretary pointed with pride to five or six brightly-colored paintings on the walls of the office.

"The judge," she said, "never took an art lesson and started this hobby only a year ago last Christmas."

The paintings depict a sailboat, Morro Castle, a French court scene and a number of horses—mostly black.

Ferguson's preoccupation with black horses could stem from what he calls "the big splash" in 1913.

He was riding an ebony steed through a Pennsylvania town to a school teaching job, he recalls. Galloping through a mud puddle, the horse splashed water on a girl in a new, gray suit.

"She was quite indignant," Ferguson recalls. But the girl, Myrtle Jones, couldn't have been too indignant. For the last 48 years she's been Mrs. Homer Ferguson.

Space Age Drama

Behind The Countdown

EDITOR'S NOTE—A week from next Tuesday the United States will try for the first time to put a man in orbit around the globe. At stake in the flight will be a human life, the nation's prestige and millions of dollars. For a national TV audience it will be a moment of high drama. But for the handful of professionals controlling the rocket and its cargo, it will be only one more cautious step on a ladder that stretches to the moon and beyond.

By SAUL PETT
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The pelican swoops low over the surf, a lingering relic of primitive aerodynamic design. The sandpiper struts uncertainly toward the water like a teen-ager in her first high heels.

In a supermarket, a housewife fingers the frozen asparagus and clucks to herself about the high cost of living. In a concrete blockhouse under a dome 20 feet thick, an engineer switches off his panel of lights and walks out wondering if he can still make his bowling league.

The layman, projecting his own fears, may wonder how the astronaut and the men who send him on take this kind of tension. One answer is their expert knowledge. They know what the missile can do and what the capsule can do. They have tested each many times before. They have checked the separate systems and the separate parts and rechecked them 100 different ways.

They have, in the words of Dr. Stanley White, chief of the astronauts' medical support team, "reduced the unknown to finite smallness." In their own minds, the margin of risk is much narrower than the layman may visualize it as he tries to imagine himself whirling around the world 100 miles up at 17,500 miles an hour.

Cape Canaveral is manned by methodical men and the seven astronauts are among the most methodical.

RISK MARGIN
"All of them, you must remember, are highly experienced test pilots with enormous technical knowledge," said Dr. White. "They are rugged, highly self-sufficient, confident, capable of thinking quickly and correctly when they have to. But to begin with, they are extremely deliberate."

FRONTIER ATTRACTION
Like many others at Canaveral, Cherniak came here five years ago not because of the "competitive sport," but because it seemed like the "greatest technical frontier since the Manhattan Project," which produced the atom bomb. It offered, he felt, "exciting creative work in technology and people problems."

Five years ago Cherniak ran an electronics firm in Boston. Now he runs a team of 30 physicists and engineers of the Space Technology Laboratories, which has been retained by the Air Force to coordinate the work of various contractors on military rockets.

"Somebody has to referee," says Cherniak, and among the referees on a single Atlas are General Dynamics, which makes the missile; North American Aviation which makes the engines; Arma Corp., which supplies the guidance system; Avco, which supplies the nose cone system; Pan American and the Radio Corporation of America, which are also involved, as well as the Air Force, which runs the 5,000-mile shooting gallery.

"Our biggest pressure is time," Cherniak says. "In weapons, we can't afford to invent the missiles first and then build the operational launching sites. We have to do both concurrently. While we work here, someone out west is putting liquid oxygen into the pipes of a launching site there. If we suspect a problem here, it may mean someone there is charging along in the wrong direction."

"This is not a tweedy, pipe-smoking atmosphere. We have no time to play with theories. We never have absolutely all the information we need. We have to find the balance between prudence and urgency. We can't wait for the perfect weapon."

This is one kind of team spirit at Cape Canaveral. There is another, somewhat more intramural. Huge government contracts and many corporate destinies frequently are at stake in the testing going on here.

One of the top hands of a corporate contractor, speaking of the team spirit at his shop: "Sure we want to win. We want to be better than Lockheed, Martin and—the Russians."

EDITOR'S NOTE—Sun Valley, Idaho, has always had the sun and, in winter, had the snow. But it never had the reputation as a resort until it had a promoter who much preferred Miami Beach and a socialite who got punched in the eye.

By ROBERT F. ALKIRE
SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Give him a good respectable sand dune like Miami Beach and the late publicist Steve Hannagan would sprinkle it with lovely girls and wait for the crowd to arrive.

But show him a quiet southern Idaho valley covered with hip-deep snow and all the famed balmyhood could think of was heat.

This isolated retreat where the skiing, skating, golfing, heated pool wealthy come to play, and where the almost-wealthy come to cut rates to see how the other tenth lives, celebrates its 25th season now—a testimonial that the publicity king of yesteryear did his work well.

PROMOTER
In 1936, W. Averell Harriman, diplomat and former New York governor who was then chairman of the board of the Union Pacific Railroad, hired Hannagan to talk up a winter sports resort far out in Idaho.

Hannagan had about as much use for far-out places, cold weather and energetic sports as an Eskimo might for a surfboard. But he consented to come to Idaho for a shivering look. He saw lots of snow, mountains and freezing weather.

Then the sun came out and the temperature climbed—into the unlikely 90s, Hannagan later claimed. The publicity man's thimblepiece thawed.

He reasoned that people, even those who like to wallow in snow, prefer to do it under the sun. Hannagan began to shout about a place he called—over native objections—Sun Valley.

SUCCESSFUL
The publicity king was successful in luring a group of normally beachbound Hollywood names to Sun Valley on Dec. 21, 1936 for a formal opening. It was to be a rosy-cheeked affair with dining, dancing and general merriment in a newly built lodge.

Things couldn't have gone better.

A now nameless Chicago social lion crept into a circle of motion picture actresses and made inquiries about the possibilities of dancing. For this—and perhaps other comments—a director blacked his eye.

The frantic management phoned Hannagan, warm back in New York. Steve was overheated with joy. "What are you talking about? The opening ruined! This is wonderful! It will make headlines in every newspaper in the country."

Hannagan got out a quick report—"Sun Valley opens with a bang."

IDEA
Harriman perhaps didn't have a "bang" in mind. During the 1932 winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N.Y., he noticed that trains loaded with winter sports enthusiasts were heading out of New York City.

Why not set up a winter resort somewhere close by the Union Pacific tracks and carry people to the fun?

Harriman summoned to America an expert on winter resorts, the late Count Felix Schaffgotsch of Altiminier, Austria.

Schaffgotsch hunted through the rugged parts of the west for a proper site. He found it in a valley near the village of Ketchum in south-central Idaho. The count decided the valley had everything—good snow record, open slopes for ski runs, moderate altitude, proximity to the railroad's tracks and the guardian Sawtooth Mountains to keep out frigid winds.

All it needed was the high-pressure Hannagan who showed up a little later.

SNUG SPOT
Today, the valley is a snug little community stuffed with shops, places to eat, bars, bowling alley, heated swimming pool, skating rink, golf course and stables. It can handle about a thousand guests at a time. There is room for that many more in Ketchum motels.

At the valley itself, there is the equivalent of one employee for each topknot guest. There is a 70-man and woman ski school staff.

Ketchum viewed the valley project in the beginning as rather silly. Now the 1,500-population village sports numerous motels, cafes, curio shops and 10 bars.

A deluxe week in the lodge with a large room, including sun balcony, meals and private ski lessons with an instructor each day costs a princely sum per tumble in the snow—about $380 per week. And that's without those little extras.

ATTRACTION
Hollywood stars have been coming to Sun Valley ever since the first "bang."

The shah of Iran is remembered for his adamant wish to ski at night. The anxious management sent torch-bearing skiers to the slopes to light the way for the gleeful potentate.

Reluctant resortists 25 years ago, natives have broadened their views since 1936, when a local observer, writing about the start of the valley spa, noted: "The hotel was opened by a formal dinner attended by a goodly representation of Idaho people and guests from the Far East"—meaning east of Chicago.

big-time cheating is done at bridge. "And a lot of it is done by mobs on transatlantic cruises and in the big hotels," he said. He then gave a convincing demonstration of how a couple of innocent bridge players can be taken by a cheat working "single-o"—by himself—or with a confederate. He opened a sealed deck of cards, shuffled them a few times while talking to the audience and promptly dealt himself a six-no-trump hand.

MORE CONVINCING
To make it even more convincing, he let a volunteer deal the next hand but the result was the same. During a demonstration of draw-poker cheating, MacDougall dealt himself four aces—or four of anything—several times. "It's nothing but a lot of trick-ery," he said as he showed how he stacked decks, palmed cards and dealt from top, center of bottom at will.

MacDougall credited his vaudeville card trick sessions with getting him started in his unusual gambling—detecting profession 32 years ago.

MacDougall, who said he was only six years old when he learned how to shoot craps on the streets of his native Philadelphia, got started when he exposed the bridge cheating of a member of an exclusive men's club.

IMPRESSED
"When I saw that $1,000 check they put in my pocket, I said 'That's the business for me,'" he recalled.

Since then he has exposed all sorts of gambling. During World War II he worked for Naval Intelligence both in this country and overseas, pinpointing cheaters in and around military establishments.

"And for exposing a lot of gambling tricks, I've been shot three times, knifed and thrown overboard in mid-ocean," MacDougall said. "That one reason I'm camera-shy I never permit myself to be introduced to a known gambler, for obvious reasons."

His final advice: "Don't gamble with strangers."

The big brother of modern history's divided cities is, of course, Berlin.

The two have much in common.

But the wall in Jerusalem isn't at all the same as the wall in Berlin. Even the atmosphere is different.

It may be because the Israelis and the Arabs have been living with their wall—and it really isn't much of a one—for so long it has taken on a familiarity that breeds a certain amount of contempt. Berlin's wall, a really true one, is so stark and so new, so dangerous, so loaded with death and tragedy, that it has a long way to go in time before it will seem familiar.

PATCHES OF WALLS
There are patches of wall in Jerusalem along its five-mile section of the border which separates Israel from Jordan. But they are high buttresses at strategic points erected by the Israelis against snipers.

Mostly the Jerusalem border is barbed wire with hardly defined no-man's-land stretches.

The Israelis are mighty careful about the border. They are distinctly persona non grata on the Arab side. There is no room at the Jordan inn for Jews.

The Arabs who live on the Israeli side exercise a cool contempt for the frontier. Indeed, quite a few constitute a smuggler's band that slips back and forth so frequently much of the barbed wire has a permanent swayback.

PERMANENCE
The wall between the 50,000 Arabs of old city of Jerusalem has taken on a decided air of permanence during its 13 years. The border separates two entirely different worlds, two ways of thinking, two different views entirely on daily life. If such a dividing line had not been enforced, it seems it would have come into being by the very forces of destiny.

The many years have taken a lot of the dynamics from such a frontier. Border skirmishes are almost unheard of in the Jerusalem area of Israel. An occasional crossfire erupts elsewhere along the border, but even that is now somewhat rare.

The Israelis, hungry for more land and a more secure way of life, seem to concentrate their thinking in other parts of the little country rather than in Jerusalem. Here, it is as though both Israel and Jordan tacitly accept things as they are.

EXCEPTION
An exception may be among the deeply religious orthodox Jews who still mourn their inability to go into the old walled city—the area of David, of Solomon, of the first and second temples, as well as being the city of Christ.

The only legal traffic from Israeli Jerusalem to Arab Jerusalem is at the Mandelbaum Gate. It is reserved for foreigners with special passes, the diplomatic corps, Christian pilgrims and the United Nations personnel.

Keep An Eye On Dealer

By CARLO J. SALZANO
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The next time you sit down with strangers for a hand of bridge, keep your eye on the dealer because he may be one of tens of thousands of cards cheats in the country.

That advice comes from 55-year-old Michael (Mickey) MacDougall, a short, sandy-haired resident of Forest Hills, N.Y., displayed his card wizardry to members of the Charleston chapter of the Associated Dinner Club. His agile hands had three volunteer participants in a show of "mental telepathy" scratching their heads.

MacDougall, who likes to call himself "the gambler who doesn't gamble," spends about half his time picking up evidence of card and dice cheating for the Nevada Gaming Control Board.

He said his evidence recently put out of business one gambling house in Las Vegas, which he pronounces "lost wages." And out there, "that's like losing a license to cheat," he said.

RECENT TRAIL
In another recent trial in Nevada, MacDougall said, his knowledge of how cheaters crimp six or eight high cards in a deck cleared a wealthy San Francisco business man who had been suspected of cheating.

Trap For Phone Rats

Human "rats" who use telephones as a means of being vulgar with innocent women or who try to make dates with them without disclosing their names are soon likely to find themselves jolted into jail on short notice.

A patent has been issued to the telecommunication division of General Dynamics Corporation for a trap for the phone "rats."

It is a button that can be pressed when one of these vulgar persons uses obscene language or makes demands for dates.

It can be used equally well for fake salesmen or poll takers or interviewers in search of personal information.

Pressing the button locks the connection to the telephone from which the call is being made and sounds an alarm at the telephone office.

Telephone insults and obscenities will soon become a thing of the past when persons who make such a call realize that their phone numbers will instantly be made known to telephone company authorities and relayed to police.

The trap is already in use in a few areas. As it becomes available all over the country, a few phone rats in each community will be caught and that will be enough to scare most of the others. Those who refuse to be scared will soon be caught and punished.

This will be another victory of science over law-breakers. It will also bring untold relief to women who have been tortured by being victims of such vicious insults and threats.

Schoolbook Communism

Until recently, students in high schools and colleges showed far more sympathy toward communism than did their parents. Now there is a big trend in the schools toward conservatism but the main reason for this is that the students who are interested in world affairs have begun looking outside the schools for their information. It is well that they have, for many of our textbooks are so pro-communistic that if the students were left to them alone they could hardly fail to turn to communism.

The Wall Street Journal, which probably devotes more attention to economics than any daily newspaper or publication in the United States, in an article which ran in December, expressed alarm at the amount of pro-communistic material that has infiltrated our school books, despite efforts of most of our citizens to keep it out. It points out the following example of the kind of stuff that is being poured into the minds of our students:

"Communist societies have not suffered from economic instability (booms and depressions) to the same extent that private enterprise economies have. This is partly because of the extent to which all communist economic activities are controlled by central planning, but especially because decisions on capital investment are made directly by the state, thus avoiding the instability of profit-motivated investment which characterizes private enterprise economies."

If Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia had been permitted to use that many words in support of communism in the textbooks of the United States he could not have done a more thorough job, nor could he have told a greater truth.

Putting ourselves in a teenager's place, this all may sound plausible. Even though the teacher goes on to say private enterprise yields more consumer goods, the lesson likely to stick is the false impression that state-directed economies have smoothed out unsettling ups and downs by replacing "mad" profit-seeking with orderly planning.

State-directed economies, whether communist or socialist, have done no such thing. Down through history, we have had failure after failure in the socialist system, with the loss of people's freedom gradually degenerating into complete dictatorship, with the state placed first and the welfare and happiness of the people made secondary.

Soviet planning has given the Russian people decades of depression. If the Russians have fewer ups and downs in their economy it is because it is always "down" and never "up". Soviet growth has been characterized by wild and frequent misallocation of resources, with frequent chaos. Khrushchev himself has had occasion to lecture his comrades about these failings.

The misleading lesson quoted above is not an invention intended to show the generally dismal level of high school instruction in economics. Quite the contrary, the text, according to a group of leftist economists and educators, is an illustration of what students should be taught and what, in fact, they are being taught in many areas.

In the Report of the National Task Force on Economic Education, financed by the Committee for Economic Development, one finds no disagreement with the drift of the so-called "modern" theory of the managed economy. The task force simply thinks the prevailing dogma should be presented to more students, more skillfully. Taken as a whole, the group's report is a plea for preserving the sort of instruction that is calculated to rear a generation deeply distrustful of economic freedom.

What the youngster is taught in our schools (contrary to the belief of the average citizen) is that freedom is inadequate. As we all ought to know by now, the truth is far different.

Reduced to its essentials, the struggle dividing the world is between individual freedom and dependence on the all-powerful state.

Truly, our right hand does not know what our left hand is doing. With one hand, we try to ward off Russian aggression. With the other we labor even more desperately to feed the Russian propaganda mill by trying to teach our students that the Russian plan of economy is better than our own.

It is doubtful if any country in the world, down through all history, has ever been as badly divided against itself as is the United States. This holds true particularly as far as our high officials are concerned. We are forgetting the admonition that, "A house divided against itself shall surely fall."

If we let the schools instruct the rising generation to be indifferent to the crucial difference between freedom and statism we are doing our best to defeat ourselves.

Views Of Our Readers

Who Is Extremist?

Bastrop, La.

To the Editor:

Recently there has been an almost daily attack against so-called "right-wing extremists," through the medium of nationally circulated magazines, and national news services. This attack was spearheaded by organizations and individuals said to be friendly to Communists causes. Later the attack, which has been referred to by some as a "smear campaign," was taken up by various senators, congressmen, government spokesmen.

Who are these "right-wing extremists" that are said to be a threat to national security? President Kennedy led some people to believe that he was referring to the "John Birch Society," and the "Minutemen." However, since the President did not single out these two groups, it is possible that he was referring to all groups and individuals which stand for about the same principles as they do.

Through careful observation and a fairly extensive study over the past four or five years, I have found that those groups and individuals which are referred to as "right-wing extremists," are, without exception, nearly always lined up on the same side of all outstanding national issues. They stand for such things as: the unalienable rights of the individual; a strict adherence to constitutional law; national sovereignty; state sovereignty; and among a long list of other things, the impeachment of Earl Warren.

The grounds cited for impeachment of Warren are his many decisions which are said to be a violation of the constitution of the United States. One particular part that is cited very often is section III of article III, which states, "Treasons against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, and giving them aid and comfort."

One specific Warren ruling which has supposedly a violation of this section of the constitution was in the case of "Yates vs. U. S., 1956". In this case Warren ruled that it is legal to advocate and teach and conspire with others to bring about the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence, as long as the future date of the revolution is not fixed and thus remains indefinite.

The "right-wingers" contend that in this case Warren was guilty of treason, in that he gave aid and comfort to the enemy, namely the Communists. There are others who are referred to as "liberals" and "leftists," who defend Warren on the grounds that it cannot be established that communism is the enemy of the United States, and therefore, he cannot be guilty of giving aid and comfort to the enemy, since there is no enemy.

In conclusion, I must leave it to the reader to determine through his own judgment, where the term "extremist" applies the most. We are all extremists when considered against different standards. If communism or socialism is to become the standard by which it is determined whether or not man is extreme, then I am not extremist, inasmuch as my personal philosophy is the extreme of theirs, and I will accept no middle ground.

To the Editor:

May I add my thanks to you with those of the students in my fifth grade for the wonderful space exhibit which you brought to Monroe.

At the time you had the exhibit we were studying the universe. The trip to the hotel surely made the study more real and meaningful to the class. It has inspired a great amount of research.

Thanks again for your part in helping to stimulate Monroe's young Americans.

Aiding Frith Family

First Baptist Church,
Swartz, La.

To the Editor:

Please allow me to thank you for the aid given us in the drive for supplies for the Frith Family which was burned out here at Swartz January 2, 1962.

I assure you that all you did was highly appreciated by me as a pastor who tried to assist.

The family is now located at 403 Claiborne St. West Monroe, and have received all that is needed to have a good start again.

We desire to thank everyone who made the drive the great success it was.

Likes Musical Talent

Biloxi, Miss.

To the Editor:

I am only passing through Monroe (again) but I always wish that I could stay longer and enjoy many of the fine shows of talent that this city has to offer.

I have caught some of your Little Theatre performances and was overjoyed to see the excellent performance of "Damn Yankee". Your jazz ensemble was terrific.

During December I was able to attend two dances at which the Constellations played. I still find it hard to believe that these boys are not doing their playing on a full time basis. As good as they are, there is no limit as to how far they will go in the music world. This is professional talent as no other city anywhere could turn out. Monroe has much to be proud of and I wish to congratulate Monroe on her talent.

If Monroe ever found the occasion to send out a group on a goodwill tour and as a display of some of the few things that Monroe has to offer, I say send the Constellations. With them you can not go wrong.

I am anxious to get back and spend some more time to hear and see more of what you have to offer.

Robert White

To the Editor:

It was indeed a privilege and honor to be asked to write the article "What Christmas Means to Us" for your paper.

If at any time I can be of assistance to you, please, do not hesitate to call on me.

Wishing for you health and happiness in the New Year, I am,

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International
Today is Sunday, Jan. 14, the 14th day of the year with 351 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its full phase.
The evening star is Jupiter.
On this day in history:

In 1878, the United States Supreme Court ruled that a state law outlawing segregation of the races in railroad travel was unconstitutional.

In 1914, Henry Ford revolutionized the manufacture of automobiles by inaugurating the assembly line method.

In 1943, President Franklin Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill began a 10-day conference in Morocco to plan Allied offensives aimed at the "unconditional surrender" of the Axis powers.

In 1953, Premier Tito was elected president of the Federal People's Republic of Yugoslavia by a secret parliamentary ballot.

A thought for the day: English essayist William Hazlitt said: "No young man believes he shall ever die."

'Conservatives'

Those Following This Creed For Profit Unworthy Imitators

Sig Hall writes to the Houston Chronicle wondering what has happened to me. Sig Hall apparently is shocked that conservatives "like Sokolsky, will probably be content to sit out a few dances." That is not at all astonishing because a conservative is essentially an individualist who lives by a creed of historic memory and who is not driven by the popularities of the moment.

As Conservatism — the word, rather than the idea — grows more popular, all sorts of individuals and groups hook on to it. Many such persons are truly idealistic; others are hopeful that there is a little money to be made out of advocating some special principle.

What has crept into conservatism is a vile disease, the fellow who sells ideals like his predecessor sold snake-oil. He has a right to his ideals if there is a moral basis for his position, as there was for the anti-Communists of the 1930's who risked their careers and even lives fighting the Communies. These new fellows have no more right to expect the old line Conservatives to go along with them than to expect Norman Thomas to go along with them.

As for myself, I have always held to the position that unless a man is an American citizen he has no right to interfere in our affairs. When a fellow wants to wander about the country telling the American people what they ought to do, he ought to become an American citizen. When a fellow is in this country more than five years and has failed to become an American citizen, I want to know why he butts into our affairs. It does not matter to me whether he is a Russian, a German, a Britisher or an Australian, he ought to join up. If he does not, there must be a reason.

Sig Hall says: "Historically, some extremist groups in this country have started out well and good — with admirable objectives. But, sooner or later — either from subversion at the top or apathy at the bottom — they settle into a mass of malcontents that lean heavily on hate as a bonding agent. They manifest dislikes for whole groups of people. It could be Jews, Catholics, Negroes, dogcatchers, tax collectors or even the guys who write TV commercials. Hate seems to be a necessary ingredient. Hitler parlayed a choice of two (Jews and Reds) into a power grab that came close to toppling the civilized world."

When a man goes about this country advocating hate and collecting $300,000 doing it, I want to know what his real mission is; what he does with the money collected; how much of that money is spent beneficially to the United States. I want to know if this fellow pays income taxes like the rest of us or whether he has discovered some gimmick for evasion.

Recent activities among some newer conservatives frighten older conservatives who dislike the extremist positions taken by those who are emotionally opposed to some of the developments of this century and who cannot relate what they witness to their conscience.

In a word, enormous historic changes must be adjusted to current life. Undoubtedly, those who were faced by the earliest manifestations of the Industrial Revolution, particularly the movement of population from rural areas to large cities with all the changes that that single historic event brought about, were dissatisfied. To cite one example, marriage customs changed violently leading to free marriage—that is, the selection of mates not by parents but by those who are to be husbands and wives—a change which ultimately led to increased divorce. The social changes arising from this single sociological development have been enormous in Western civilization and not altogether beneficial, but even the Roman Catholic Church which limits divorce by Canon Law to annulment under specific terms has been faced by the fact that the change has required a new view of marital relationships, particularly the evils that arise from voluntary broken homes.

The conservative is not a reactionary. He does not expect the Earth to stand still on its axis; nor does he want it to spin wildly like a ball on fire. He hopes that knowledge will prevail and that reason will lead to wisdom and propriety. This is the essential difference between the conservative and the reactionary.

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Battle Of Radical Right Against Lunatic Left Under Way

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The battle of Radical Right vs. Lunatic Left may be regrettable, but it is now being waged on a number of fronts in this country — and almost everybody who thinks at all about political and philosophical affairs will have to take sides.

Instead of trying to wish the battle away, or pretending that it doesn't exist, it seems a good idea to name some of the battlefields and to identify the central issue. In short, where is this fight, and what's it all about?

In Congress during the present session, we have the two extremist organizations face to face — the John Birch Society, with two of its members in Congress, Edgar Hiestand and John Rousset, and the Americans For Democratic Action, with something like 40 members peppered through Congress and the New Frontier.

On the same front, we have the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee's investigation of the No Win Policy as expressed in the suppression of anti-communism by the military. Senator Strom Thurmond has not hesitated to go to the extreme Right position here. Several ranking Democrats who are not themselves extreme Leftists will find themselves forced into that compromising position by trying to defend the Administration's actions against Gen. Edwin Walker.

The battle of extremism is forming in several state elections. Minority Leader Joseph Shell, of the California Assembly, another Rightist, is already in the lists against Richard Nixon for the gubernatorial nomination. In Maryland, up for the Senate seat once held by Millard Tydings and now being vacated by John Marshall Butler, we have a forthright Rightist, James Gleason, once administrative assistant to Senator Knowland. Gleason has already announced himself as a Republican candidate. Another unapologetic ultra-conservative, Marine General Jimmy Devereux, who retired two years ago from Congress, is returning to fight for his old Maryland House seat or possibly for the Senate.

In Missouri, a youthful Right Wing bank president from Kansas has announced he is a Republican candidate for the Senate seat held by Senator Ed Long. I have interviewed Kemper and can testify to his strong conservative views, which I'm sure the liberals will call extremist.

So, like it or not, we are on the eve of an extremist conflict. One great convenience in writing about polemic politics is that flat, black - and - white statements are permissible, even obligatory.

It is correct to state without qualification that the Rightists are going to be very strong for God and country, for free enterprise, local sovereignty and individualism. It is equally correct to state without qualification that the Lunatic Leftists will put social warfare ahead of religion, "the world" ahead of the USA, Federal - aid - for - everything ahead of personal initiative, collectivism - in - everything from World Government to fluoridation of water ahead of individualism.

Lunatic Leftists, being the extremists they are, can't help thinking that inoffensive patriotic groups, like the Daughters of the American Revolution, are Fascists.

Lunatic Leftists don't like America, and want to make America over, or merge America into Europe or into a United Nation, which is the equivalent of abolishing America.

On the other hand, Radical Rightists, being extremists, can't help thinking that any statesman from a President on down, who is not violently anti-Communist is pro-Communist.

The positions of the extremists are irreconcilable because, in a pinch, the Leftists would rat live under Communism than under the DAR's. And in a pinch the Rightists would rather die in a nuclear war than live under Communism, and would rather turn to a Man on Horseback than have the American Republic go Red.

These are days of extremism. There is no good sighing and pinning for moderation. And although everybody but me and thee may be mad, even we may have to choose to fight either with the Radical Right or the Lunatic Left.

DURING NEW YEAR

Building Permits In Monroe Now 21

The City of Monroe has issued 21 building permits so far this year, after closing out a record year of 1961 topped by 1408 permits for construction valued at $9,825,040.

Dale Martha, who issues the permits, compiled the full-year report, showing 312 one family residence permits for construction valued at $3,707,906.

The breakdown for the year shows the following month-by-month totals:

January, 117 permits, $783,607 value.
February, 73 permits, $291,545.
March, 127 permits, $527,178.
April, 121 permits, $400,350.

Larco Runs Production Test Series

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Larco Drilling Co. ran production tests in an Amite County wildcat the past week.

Operators of the Chapman No. 1, sec. 14-2n-6e will evaluate the commercial worth of the lower Tuscaloosa sand logged at 11,377-404 feet.

In Jefferson County, Victor Smith was preparing to re-test a wildcat, the No. 1 Wood, sec. 7-10n-12e. Operators tested a perforated interval in the lower Tuscaloosa zone at 9,349-53 feet with the well testing an excessive amount of water.

The well was drilled to 9,500 feet, with small diameter casing set to evaluate commercial worth of the oil shows.

In the Hard Rock country of northeast Mississippi, Pan American Petroleum Corp. was below 4,800 feet in a Calhoun County wildcat, the Ashby No. 1, sec. 25-13s-1e, with the test scheduled to 9,900 feet.

In Kemper County, Pure Oil Co. was below 6,000 feet in a wildcat, the Henry No. 1, sec. 15-12n-15e, with the test scheduled to 15,000 feet.

Both wildcats are being drilled by air.

Pan American also has location staked for a Monroe County wildcat, the Watson No. 1, sec. 32-15s-7e, a 5,900 a foot try.

In Madison County, Gulf Oil Corp. was below 5,600 feet in a wildcat, the Gluckstadt No. 1, sec. 13-4n-1e, a 11,500-foot test.

Marshall R. Young was below 7,700 feet in a wildcat, the Smith Estate No. 1, sec. 25-4n-11w, in Perry County. The well has contract depth of 11,500 feet.

In Pike County, Shell Oil Co. was below 9,200 feet in the Board of Supervisors No. 16-3, sec. 16-4n-8e, about 1½ miles west of the Little Creek oil field.

Cotton Futures Show A Sharp Market Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—New crop cotton futures advanced sharply on the New York Cotton Exchange this week, gains running to $4.50 a bale.

This was on top of gains the previous week of $1.20 to $2 a bale. Nearby May, which declined 5 cents a bale, was the only delivery to show a loss on the week.

Strength in the new crop contracts—those for the crop year starting next Aug. 1—were due early in the week to rumors, later confirmed, that the new crop price support level would be unchanged to possibly slightly less than the current season loan rate. These deliveries continued to move upward later in the week, but at a slower pace.

Offerings were furnished, meanwhile, through profit-taking and, especially in nearby deliveries, hedge selling.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced after the close of trading Monday that the minimum national average support price of 1962 crop upland cotton (average of the crop) would be 31.48 cents a pound, the same as that in effect for the current crop year.

The department failed to say, however, what premium will be added to this figure to convert it to a middling inch basis. Trade circles speculated on what this premium might be for the balance of the week.

Exports in the week ended Tuesday were estimated by the exchange service bureau at 140,000 bales compared with 183,000 in the previous week and 183,000 in the similar week a year ago. Exports for the season through Jan. 9 were estimated at around 2,291,000 bales vs. 2,631,000 to the same time last year.

May, 145 permits, $1,756,807.
June, 134 permits, $980,541.
July, 116 permits, $682,425.
August, 139 permits, $1,985,240.
September, 118 permits, $1,985,240.

October, 107 permits, $1,111,840.
December, 79 permits, $385,526.
One-family dwelling permits remained fairly consistent throughout the 12 months: January, 28 permits, $306,243; February, 22 permits, $242,295; March, 36 permits, $436,600.

April, 21 permits, $266,295; May, 32 permits, $289,489; June, 30 permits, $376,630.

July, 26 permits, $385,950; August, 26 permits, $289,490; September, 22 permits, $244,371.

October, 26 permits, $326,225.
November, 30 permits, $385,190.
December, 13 permits, $162,130.

This year started off with a frame house construction permit, issued on Tuesday, January 2, to B. Elmer Neal, for a six room, one bath residence, 920 square feet at 313 S. McGuire, $5,000 construction cost.

GAS RATE CASE

FPC Is Gambling To Break Jam

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission is gambling that it has found a way to break its billion dollar-plus logjam of natural gas rate cases which now total more than 4,200.

"But," a spokesman told UPI, "only time will tell whether it will pay off."

The gamble is on the efficiency of an FPC reorganization plan soon to go into effect. It is only one of many such steps taken or contemplated since Kennedy appointees took over the regulatory agency which controls interstate gas prices.

The shakeup splits the Bureau of Gas into three sections. One will handle proposed producer rate increases and new producer contracts. The second will handle interstate pipeline increases and a plans to build new lines. The third will deal with rule-making and policy.

This will lump all producer cases in one section and all pipeline cases in another and end the current unwieldy system. Under this, one division has been handling both producer and pipeline rate proposals; another, new producer contracts and pipeline building. A third has been the investigative agent for the other two.

On top of the change-over, and important from both the industry and FPC standpoint, the new sections will be divided into geographic areas with teams within each handling specific cases. This will prevent divided responsibility and could save months and even years on some cases.

Backing up all three sections will be a reorganized general counsel's office. This is aimed at tightening up supervision over pending cases. Two staff attorneys will head the two rate sections. They are Leo E. Forquer for the producers, and Abraham R. Spalter for the pipelines.

In still another speedup, the commission adopted a single-page form for use by producers filing proposed contractual rate changes. However, big producers must accompany the form with a full supporting statement.

For the frosting on the cake, the commission is setting up a well-staffed field office in Houston so its agents and investigators will have ready access to industry books and records.

EPG Chairman Joseph C. Swidler took special note of this. He said one of the chief delays in processing cases has been the time required by field investigation of company books.

"One of the keys to the reorganization," Swidler said, "is the emphasis on staff responsibilities by companies and proceedings, rather than on functions such as rates, facilities, and cost of service."

Another key feature is the fixing of more direct lines of responsibility.

The producer section will be divided geographically as follows: Section 1, Permian Basin, San Juan Basin, and Rocky Mountains. Section 2, Kansas and the Panhandle. Section 3, Texas, and about districts 7-C, 8 and 10. Section 4, Louisiana, Mississippi and West Virginia.

The pipeline division: Section A, western companies. Section B, midwestern companies; Section C, Appalachian companies. Section D, seaboard companies.

Going into December, the commission had more than 7,000 cases of various types involving $1.5 billion on its docket.

Business Could Feel Big Kennedy Program Effects

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy handed Congress during the week a far-ranging economic program which could have vital effects not only on business at home but abroad.

In fact, most of the major developments of the week affecting business sprang from Washington.

The President formally put forth in his State of the Union message an already known proposal that he be given wider tariff-cutting powers.

He called it "a bold new instrument of American trade policy"—a means of achieving freer commerce with the burgeoning European Common Market.

He asked that Congress grant him authority to gradually erase some tariffs and slash others by 50 per cent.

On the domestic economic front, Kennedy asked legislation for an 8 per cent investment tax credit to stimulate industrial expansion; federal aid to retrain workers put out of jobs by machines and to aid young people; strengthening of unemployment compensation; and discretionary power to cut tax rates and initiate public works spending.

The President said that while the nation economically is on "the high road of recovery and growth" steps still are needed to reduce unemployment and sustain the recovery.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg had reported earlier that unemployment in December increased by 100,000 to 4,091,000 while employment declined by 882,000 to 66,467,000.

He said the changes were about normal for this time of year and that the ratio of unemployed to the total work force remained at November's level of 6.1 per cent.

Nonagricultural employment was nearly one million above a year ago. This prompted Goldberg to say that, "Our economy is again showing its capacity for growth."

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said the federal debt limit should be boosted by $2 billion by March 1 and by another $8 billion before Congress adjourns. The current limit is $298 billion.

The Federal Trade Commission ordered a halt to an alleged price-fixing conspiracy involving most U.S. manufacturers of tires and tubes.

While the 14 manufacturers and two industry trade associations didn't admit violations, they agreed to comply with the commission's order in the future.

Goldberg urged the steel companies and their workers and customers not to impair the economy with a steel strike or by stockpiling in anticipation of one.

He said that a strike "in a year promising substantial economic expansion would be detrimental to the national interest."

Stockpiling appeared to be picking up speed, along with current demand, as steel production during the week spurred to its highest level in 21 months. Mills turned out 2,294,000 tons of steel. This put operations near 80 per cent of capacity. An industry publication, Iron Age, predicted the rate will go up to 90 per cent in March.

Much of the business was coming from the automobile industry, which during the week built an estimated 146,000 passenger cars, compared with 121,953 the previous week and 110,828 a year ago.

Ford Motor Co. proposed a 2-for-1 split in the company's common stock and raised the dividend.

All the news wasn't good in the industry. Studebaker-Packard reportedly didn't set a record in 1961, the Commerce Department reported. The year's sales were estimated at $219.1 billion, down $384 million from 1960, the record year. However, Christmas sales by department stores were the highest ever.

Briefly around the business scene: Sales of color television sets in 1961 increased 51 per cent over 1960. . . . State Farm Mutual, offering a 20 per cent discount on automobile insurance rates in California to students with good grades. . . . Railroads lost $485 million on their passenger operations in the year ended last June 30.

Optimism was dominant as representatives of the nation's storekeepers gathered in New York City for the convention of the National Retail Merchants Association.

A survey of a portion of the membership indicated they expect on the average that prices and profits will rise about 5 per cent in the first half of 1962.

Because of an unexpected decline in December, retail sales apparently didn't set a record in 1961, the Commerce Department reported. # Indians Top Tech In Overtime Thriller, 76-75

Snelling Pops In Jumper At :13 For Win

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Writer

Northeast State moved back into a high spot in the Gulf States Conference race with a 76-75 squeaker over Louisiana Tech in a tense overtime game witnessed by approximately 1,200 persons who crammed into tiny Brown Hall gym, packing the stands then filling all the standing-room under both baskets here last night.

Converse senior Jerry Snelling scored the winning points for Northeast, hitting a short jumper with :13 left to give the Indians a 76-75 lead.

Bulldog freshman, Ray Penny, an all-star from Coushatta, sank a nifty jump-shot at :09, closing the gap to 76-75, the final score, but the Indians took the ball and ran out the clock.

The teams ended regulation time tied 68-68 after a nip and tuck hair-raiser in which the score changed hands throughout most of the game.

JOHNSON TIES SCORE
Lanny Johnson, Northeast's All-GSC senior from Monroe, threw the game into the overtime by hitting on two foul shots with :16 left.

Tech took the ball after his pointage but couldn't score before time ended.

The Bulldogs had led the last eight minutes of play, pulling in from as far as five points several times.

They tried a freeze with 4:16 to go, but Monroe freshman John Varino sank two and Johnson stole the ball under Tech's basket to score on a crisp shot with 4:11 left to narrow the margin to 64-62.

Tech's Joe Abendroth dumped in two field goals for the Canines, but Varino matched him and it was 66-66 with the 16 seconds left when Johnson tied it.

Johnson gave the Indians a quick 70-68 lead with 4:33 to go in the overtime period.

But Tech's Dave Hruska, a sophomore from Minden scored a field goal and Max Lewis, a Simsboro junior, added another to push the Bulldogs in front 72-70 at 3:21.

Northeast came right back tying the score on a crisp shot by Jonesboro sophomore Jimmy Walker, only to have a Lewis foul shot put the advantage back in Tech's column 73-72.

It was then that Snelling came to the rescue with the first of two field goals that won the game for Northeast.

His first, a jump shot at 1:59 made it 74-73 Northeast and enabled the Indians to go into a successful freeze.

His second was at :13 for the 76-75 lead that Tech couldn't quite undo.

ABENDROTH STARS
Abendroth, a sophomore who hails from Shreveport, made his worth felt again, leading the Canines' scoring with 29 points.

The slender 6-3 hooper also paced Tech in rebounds with 15, turning in a tremendous effort against the rugged Indian forwards.

Johnson scored 17 points to pace Northeast, but was closely followed by Snelling with 16 and Walker with 15.

Walker and Jonesboro's Robert "Bear" Cook tied for Indian rebounding honors with 11 apiece.

The win, sixth for the Indians on their home court against one defeat, handed Northeast a 2-1 loop mark. The season standard is 7-5.

For Tech, which is probably one of the toughest teams around with a record that now stands at 1-10, it was the second conference defeat in three games. Both have been on the road and both in overtime.

The game was one of the hardest fought in this gym in a long time. Both teams were up and played throughout with desperation.

Northeast played a tough defensive game to the man, but the Indians did not put play the Bulldogs, a short, but extremely aggressive club that never gives up and tries to make up for shortness with fight.

FAIR LIKE GLUE
Little Jackie Fair, 5-11 senior from Ashland, did a great job of defending Northeast's top gun Johnson. Fair stuck to Johnson like a shadow in the first half and the 1000-plus scorer managed only four points.

Fair fouled out with 13:36 to go in the game and Johnson was able to open up.

Jerry Hood, the all-state center from Ruston, and Fair tied for second behind Abendroth with 14 points apiece and Hood, who is only a freshman, pulled down seven rebounds.

SNELLING TOUGH
Snelling turned in one of his best efforts of the year for Northeast, clutch shooting the winning points and placing second only to Johnson in scoring.

And Walker, in his calm, effective way was invaluable. Salley, who scored nine points and Varino, with five, four of them when it was crucial, had good games.

But Tech didn't have a one man show either. Ronnie McNabb played inspired ball throughout and Max Lewis hit on some sharp shots to score 11 points.

For both teams it was two halves and an overtime of basketball of the hardest fought, most dedicated kind.

Northeast went to the dressing room in front 34-32 at the half. The Indians started like a shot and stayed from one to three

OVER TENNESSEE

LSU Uses Tight Defense To Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Louisiana State clamped a tight defense on Tennessee and waltzed off with a 73-61 Southeastern Conference basketball victory Saturday night.

The game was close until the final 10 minutes when LSU went into a semi-stall and repeatedly shook its backcourt men free for layup baskets.

Four Tigers shot in double figures, with playmaker George Nattin pacing the attack with 22 points. Maury Drummond got 18, Bob McLoughlin 13 and Tom Conklin 10.

Tommy Wilson led Tennessee with 19 points and was the only Vol hitting in double figures.

Inability to hit at the free throw line cost Tennessee. The Vols connected only on 17 of 33.

LSU hit 28 of 68 shots from the field for 41.2 per cent; Tennessee hit 27 of 60 for 36.7.

The victory gave LSU an 8-3 overall record and 3-1 in SEC competition. Tennessee now is 3-7 and 1-1 in the conference.

points ahead in the first half until a Hood jump shot tied the score 12-12 with 11:57 left.

The Indians, with reserve strength doing most of the damage, caught up and went ahead late in the half. They pushed to a 27-23 at 4:26 and from there it was a see-saw, back and forth until the intermission.

A Lewis foul shot and a field goal by McNabb put Tech ahead 35-34 with 19:17 remaining in the second half and Northeast and Tech traded leads then, the Indians going in front as much as six points, until the Bulldogs caught up 53-53 at 8:27.

An Abendroth jumper made it 55-53 Tech at 7:21 and the Canines held the edge until the final seconds when Johnson got the crucial regulation-time ending tie at 68-68.

When all is said and done, Northeast's victory margin came at the free throw line. The Tribe got 45 foul shots to 29 for Tech and cashed in 34 of them. The Bulldogs only missed eight foul shots, but this still gave them only 21 points at the charity line.

In field goals Tech came out ahead making 27 against 21 for Northeast. Both clubs shot 55 times.

Bastrop Rolls To 78-60 Win Over Irish

BASTROP (Special) — The Bastrop Rams defeated the St. Matthew's Irish in two basketball games here last night, winning the boys' battle, 78-60, and the girls' contest, 31-10.

Richard Fontana pumped in 24 points for the Irish to cop high scoring honors in the boys' match. Norman Many dropped in 15 and Zeke Zarro added 11 for St. Matthew's.

Eugene Bates led the Rams' offensive attack with 13 points. He was followed closely by teammates James Randall and Jimmy Warren who netted 11 each. Johnny Smith hit 10 for the Rams.

Bastrop jumped off to a 24-11 advantage in the first quarter and coasted on in for their victory.

Fontana collected eight of the Irish's 11 points in the opening stanza. Bates canned eight and Warren seven for the Rams in the initial period.

Many carried the load for the Irish in the second period as he connected on four free throws and two field goals for eight of his 15 points. The Irish out-scored the Rams, 17-15 in that period.

However, Bastrop came back tough in the third period and out-pointed the Irish, 21-10.

Fontana got hot again in the closing quarter and poured in nine points as the Irish out-scored Bastrop, 21-17, but the Rams emerged with a 78-60 victory.

WORLD'S FASTEST HUMAN

Budd Comes From Behind To Win 50

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Frank Budd, world's fastest human, was forced to overtake Brooks Johnson for his victory in the 50-yard dash Saturday night at the 36th Boston Knights of Columbus track meet.

Budd's late burst sent him past the quick-starting entry from the University of Chicago Track Club but his winning time of 5.5 seconds was his slowest of the night.

Holder of the world 100-yard dash mark of .09.2, Budd easily outclassed the field in capturing his trial heat in .05.3 and semifinal in .05.4.

The Villanova junior, winning the dash for the 26th time in his last 28 meets, was a fraction slower off the mark in the finals but still had the reserve speed he needed.

Aggrey Awori, a Harvard student from Uganda, East Africa, qualified for the final by chasing Budd and Johnson across the line in the preliminaries but was forced out of the final by a leg injury.

East Tries To Prove West Is Not Supreme

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Allie playoffs for first and third place Sherman and his East all-stars in the National Football League try to prove in the Pro Bowl Sunday that pro football supremacy isn't the sole property of the West.

Lopsided victories by Green Bay and Detroit in post-season The weatherman predicts clear weather near 70 degrees for the game in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

Each team will be missing an offensive backfield star from its division. Green Bay halfback Paul Hornung is in the Army, and Philadelphia quarterback Sonny Jurgensen was injured in the Playoff Bowl Jan. 6.

The best prospective ground-gaining duel matches fullbacks Jim Brown of Cleveland and Jim Taylor of Green Bay. Brown nipped Taylor for the league rushing crown, but Taylor prevailed when the Packers smothered the Browns in a regular season game.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, back of the game in the last two Pro Bowls, and Green Bay's Bart Starr, a Johnny-come-lately as a top quarterback, will split the West passing assignment.

Coach Norm Van Brocklin's Westerners have the league's 1-2 men in pass receiving—Red Phillips of Los Angeles and Raymond Berry of Baltimore.

Sherman's East team figures also to go through the air. The Giants' Y. A. Tittle, for years a Western Division man, will open at quarterback for the East. His alternate is the Browns' Milt Plum, leader the past two seasons in the NFL's composite passing statistics.

Their prime targets: New York's Del Shofner, third in receiving, and Tommy McDonald of the Eagles, tops in touchdown catches.

WITH 'COMPLETE SUPPORT' NCAA Will Back New Federations

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association unanimously voted its "complete support" in creation of new federations in track and field, gymnastics and basketball Saturday and authorized its council to refer the colleges' amateur - dispute with the Amateur Athletic Union to the federal government.

The action, including a mildly surprising reference to the seeking of federal help, came on the final day of the week-long NCAA convention at a busy business session.

Rebels Get First SEC Win; Beat Yellow Jackets

ATLANTA (AP) — Mississippi, led by Sterling Ainsworth, won its first Southeastern Conference basketball victory by defeating Georgia Tech 60-55 Saturday night.

The triumph left Ole Miss with a 1-2 SEC mark and a 7-6 over all conference games, is 5-7 for the season.

Ainsworth scored 17 points, almost matching his 17.2 average, and fired what turned out to be the decisive field goal when his 15-footer gave the Rebels a 54-53 lead with 1:51 left. Tech never regained the lead after the Ainsworth basket.

Oklahoma Chiefs Take 98-87 Win Over Centenary

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Gary Hill and Larry Jones each hit 32 points to lead Oklahoma City University to a 98-87 basketball triumph over Centenary Saturday.

Jimmy Williams had 31 for Centenary.

Hill accounted for the first 12 points in the game for the Chiefs. Williams had 14 of 17 from the field while Jones hit 14 of 20 and Hill 14 of 22.

Oklahoma City led 46-42 at half-time.

Weber, Garms Take Bowling Wins At Miami

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Dick Weber, runnerup in the All-Star Bowling Tournament last year, became the tourney's 21st champion Saturday night with a 619-600 pin victory over lefthander Roy Lown.

The St. Louis veteran defeated Lown, of El Paso, Tex., in their nationally-televised three-game final match to win the marathon 11-day alley fight and take home a $15,000 first place check.

Lown won the first game 225 to 194 and still held a 20-pin margin at the end of the second game, despite losing it 177 to 166.

Shirley Garms of Chicago staged a torrid comeback to carry off the women's all-star title, defeating Joy Abel of Chicago 647 pins to 638 in their final match.

Memphis State Defeats Loyola

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Fast-breaking Memphis State squelched a late Loyola rally Saturday night and chalked up its 11th victory of the basketball season with an 87-76 decision.

Loyola trailed by 19 points at halftime, but Ken Ryan triggered an offensive after intermission that had the visitors hustling.

The big difference came at the free throw line where Memphis State converted 19 of 20, Loyola hit 16 of 22 charity tosses.

Ryan's 25 points took scoring honors while Hunter Beckman paced Memphis State with 22.

Wilt Sets Mark With 73 Points

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain set a regulation game scoring record Saturday night as he scored 73 points to lead the Philadelphia Warriors to a 135-117 victory over the Chicago Packers before 3,516 at Convention Hall in a National Basketball Association game.

Chamberlain's 29 field goals and 15 fouls erased the regular game mark of 71 set by the Los Angeles Lakers' Elgin Baylor in 1960. Chamberlain holds the league's record for total points in a game, 78, scored in a triple overtime contest against the Lakers earlier this year.

USL Outdefenses McNeese, 55-47; Take GSC Lead

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Southwestern Louisiana outdefended McNeese State for its 30th home court victory, 55-47, and took the Gulf States Conference basketball lead Saturday night.

USL and McNeese were tied for the conference lead with 2-0 records. USL's record for the season now is 11-3 while McNeese is 13-4.

Jinks Welch, a Lake Charles freshman, hit 17 points to lead USL. Dean Church hit 12 points and Larry Simon had 11.

The game's leading scorer was John Riddle with 18 points for McNeese. He was followed by Allett still in the red with a 4-8 Nesmith with 10.

Notre Dame Ends Losing Streak

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Five Notre Dame starters went all the way Saturday in a 77-59 victory over the Detroit Titans that broke a six-game losing string for the Irish.

The durable Irish played their best game of the season in upsetting Detroit, which had been stopped only three times in 12 previous starts. Notre Dame was 11-1 still in the red with a 4-8 record.

NORTHEAST STATE speed demon Dave Styron crosses the finish line ahead of Texas' Ralph Alspaugh, right, to capture first place in the 60 yard dash Friday night at the Bluebonnet Indoor Track Meet in Houston, Tex. Both Styron and Alspaugh were timed in 6.2. John Pennel, another Tribe track ace, tied for second place in the pole vault with 15.4.

Pennel 2nd In Pole Vault; Dave Styron Wins Sprint

By JOHN HOLLIS

HOUSTON, Texas (Special) — Northeast State's John Pennel waged a great duel with some major college competitors before tying for second in the pole vault at the first annual Bluebonnet Indoor Invitational here Friday night.

Contending with the stellar Tribe vaulter were Dexter Elkins of Southern Methodist, Olympians Dave Clark (North Texas) and Phil Mulkey (Memphis State) and Rice's Fred Hansen.

Pennel cleared 15-4 on his first jump at that height and Elkins failed at that height.

Elkins then soared over at 15-6 1/2, while Pennel and Hansen failed at that height.

In the only other event entered by a Tribesman, mercurial Dave Styron, whose pre-meet preparation was limited to practice starts because of the weather, broke fast off the blocks and dealt Ralph Alspaugh his first short-course defeat.

Styron, whose brother Don had to miss the meet because of influenza, sped 60 yards over Sam Houston Coliseum's plywood straightaway in a sizzling 6.2 seconds—two-tenths over the listed national record.

Alspaugh, the former Texas University sprinter, closed on his rival in the last five yards and was given an identical clocking. It was Alspaugh's first loss after victories at 100 yards in the Sugar Bowl outdoor meet and at 60 yards indoors last week in San Antonio.

With Don Styron out of the 60-yard high hurdles, Barney Allen of Texas Southern held off Bobby Bernard of TCU at the wire to win the event in 7.3 seconds. Bernard, too, was caught in 7.3 and Ray Cunningham of Texas finished third in 7.4.

A third member of Northeast Louisiana's track force — which competed here unattached — was also stricken from the lists by flu. Don (Buddy) Iland, who was to have run in the 1,000 yard event, had to forego the competition because of illness.

Jackie Davis Inks '62 Phillie Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Outfielder Jackie Davis, who hit .303 for Buffalo in the International League last season, has signed a 1962 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Davis, 25, of Carthage, Tex., hit 16 home runs and batted in 72 runs for the Bisons. He also can be used as a catcher.

Marksville Will Honor Tommy Neck

Johnny Lynch To Speak At Tech Banquet

RUSTON (Special) — Johnny Lynch of New Orleans, noted college football official, will be guest speaker at the Rotary Club banquet here Wednesday night honoring the 1961 Louisiana Tech football squad.

The annual banquet will be held in the student center on the campus at 7 p.m.

A number of awards will be presented to individual Tech players on the team that won five and lost four. Prep stars who have signed with Tech also will attend.

Thirty-two players received letters and 12 of them were seniors who will not be back next campaign.

Lynch employed by a sporting goods firm in New Orleans, may be the only official to serve as referee in each of the four major bowl games — the Orange, Sugar, Cotton, and Rose bowls.

Tech Coach Joe Aillet said Lynch is one of the finest promoters of sports in the state and a person who looks for the true values in athletics. Lynch has the right perspective on athletics from the officials', coaches' and fans' viewpoints, Aillet said.

Lynch was also a successful high school coach for a number of years. He has been a Southeastern conference official for many years.

Spahn Named As Winner Of Gehrig Award

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Warren Spahn, veteran southpaw pitcher for the Milwaukee Braves, was named Saturday as the 1961 recipient of the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award presented annually by Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues and chairman of the fraternity's selection committee, said "Spahn is a great credit to the game, a fine representative of all that is good in baseball."

The award goes annually to the major league player best typifying the on-and-off-the-field spirit of Gehrig, the New York Yankee Hall of Fame immortal who was a Phi Delta Theta member at Columbia University.

Racer Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl V. Kelly, 42-year-old Richmond, Va., machinery mechanic, was voted the boat racing driver of the year Saturday by America's power boat drivers.

PAUL HORNUNG, Pfc., stands beside the jeep he is assigned to drive at Fort Riley, Kansas, where he is stationed on active duty as an Army reservist. The Green Bay Packer halfback, voted the most valuable player in the National Football League, is the regular driver for this platoon leader at the base. (AP Wirephoto)

ADMITS ITS HARDSHIP

Hornung Good Soldier As Well As Grid Star

By FRED MOEN
FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP)—The temperature was near zero. An icy north wind was whipping across this historic snow-covered military base, chilling the most hardy to the bone.

Walking a lonely guard post on a nearly-deserted company street was the Army's most famed jeep driver, his uniform immaculate, his boots brightly polished, a carbine slung over one shoulder.

Pfc. Paul Hornung, Green Bay Packer star halfback, and the most valuable player in the National Football League, probably considered practicing football at 12 degrees below zero, as he did once, a snap compared to this.

Two days later, Hornung and five others slowly crawled out of their bunks in a two-story wooden barracks, built prior to World War II, at 4:30 a.m. Fifteen minutes later they were on their way to a mess hall for a regularly assigned tour of kitchen police duty.

On another day, around 7:15 a.m., you're likely to find Hornung and others in his platoon mopping floors around their bunks, or picking up cigarette butts and the like outside the barracks.

At 8 a.m. Hornung reports to the motor pool, checks out his jeep and reports back to his company area, on call whenever his platoon leader wants to go someplace.

Outside the Army, the 6-foot-3,

All-Around Golden Boy Is Iron Man

FORT RILEY, Kan. (Special)—In the complex patterns of refined brutality, where every young mastodon is a super-specialist, Paul Vernon Hornung, Army jeep driver and National Football hero, is something of an anomaly.

So says a writer for one Eastern newspaper.

Norman Miller of United Press International expressed it slightly differently.

Hornung, Miller wrote, is a throw-back to the old time "iron-man" football warrior.

Both are saying the same thing and both are right.

While Hornung does some things with record-breaking competence, he does everything well.

This year for example, the former Notre Dame golden boy played three games with a pulled leg muscle, missed two because he could not get a pass from Fort Riley, Kansas Army base at which he is stationed, and played a few others without benefit of mid-week practice.

Despite this the 24-year Hornung managed these achievements:

Scored 146 points to lead the league for the third straight season.

Averaged 4.7 yards and scored eight touchdowns in 127 rushes; Caught 15 passes that gained 145 yards and produced two more touchdowns.

Completed three of the five passes he tried for 42 yards and a TD.

Placekicked 41 extra points without a miss.

Kicked 15 field goals in 22 tries, the longest traveling 51 yards.

In addition to playing his wares as a runner, placekicker, passer and pass-catcher, Hornung is also one of the best blocking backs with the Packers.

The most often quoted phrase in the NFL on Hornung is:

"There may be players who run better and others who pass better and others who catch passes better, but nobody who does everything as well."

Hornung never plays his best unless the chips are down. It is then that he is his best.

Against New York in the league championship game he scored 19 points, a record for a title game. This was Paul Vernon Hornung at his best.

210-pound Hornung has been called a lot of things: The former Notre Dame golden boy, a mixture of shyness and arrogance, the blond wonder, a handsome chunk of manhood, a lady-killer, perhaps a bit of a playboy.

Here at Ft. Riley he is rapidly picking up another description: A good soldier, a regular guy.

On this day, Hornung wasn't supposed to be on guard duty. After undergoing a daily treatment at the hospital for a pinched nerve in his neck, an injury suffered playing football in 1960, Hornung was scheduled to join his unit for an overnight training exercise.

But 1st Sgt. Alexander Ohlhauser of Linton, N.D., had other ideas: Hornung and several others who had hospital appointments that day and the next were ordered to stay behind and pull guard duty.

Hornung, a reservist, is assigned to the 896th Float Bridge Co., a National Guard outfit from Bismarck and Linton, N.D. He was recalled last fall during the Berlin crisis.

When Hornung arrived Nov. 14 in the midst of the Packers' championship season, he said simply "I am glad to be here." He would like to leave it at that and be treated like any other soldier, but he finds it hard to do.

While one private might be getting skunked at mail call, Hornung is likely to pick up a batch of 40 fans letters. The telephone in the company orderly room jangles frequently during the day with calls for Hornung.

His pockets are generally well-stuffed with notes reminding him to call this party or that. Maybe it's somebody who wants an interview. Or an offer to endorse a product. Or an invitation to pick up another outstanding player award for the past football season.

"He hasn't asked for anything and doesn't expect any favors," says the company commander, Capt. Melvin Heyn of Fargo, N.D. and in civilian life, a shop foreman in a garage.

Lt. Duane Dinius of Bismarck, the platoon leader for whom Hornung drives the jeep, describes him as a "real fine boy, a normal every-day fellow. I'd say he's an average GI."

From the enlisted men comes this almost universal comment: "He's just one of the gang."

Although somewhat reticent about Army life, Hornung has this to say:

"It is a hardship but like everybody else I have an obligation to the United States which is above everything else. You are much better off if you accept it and not sit around feeling sorry for yourself."

He admittedly is disappointed he can't do more to capitalize financially on the big season he had, climaxed by the Packers' 37-0 playoff victory over the New York Giants. He scored a record 19 points and was voted the game's outstanding player. But he adds:

"I feel very lucky. All I have to do is look around me. Some of these guys served two or three years and then were recalled. Many are married and have kids. I'm not married and don't have those responsibilities to worry about."

As a Pfc, Hornung nets about $99 a month. "The hardest $99 I ever earned." With a football salary of a reported $17,500 per year and income from other sources such as endorsements and personal appearances, Hornung probably has been making around $25,000 a year.

"He seems sort of cocky at times," said one member of Hornung's unit. "If I were in his boots I'd bet I'd be even more cocky."

But, I don't know, he's got his problems. If he ever fouled up in the Army you would never hear the last of it."

A World War II veteran noted a picture of Hornung in the paper. He spotted an unbuttoned pocket on Hornung's fatigue uniform and fired in this letter to the Ft. Riley commanding general:

"Pfc. Paul Hornung may be the most valuable player in the National Football League but he is far from being a first class soldier."

As I recall my old Army days, the saying went like this: "Soldier, do you want this button?" Then the button was snapped off and you replaced it."

Lt. Col. Stewart A. Real and Capt. Richard Lamb, public information officers, said some objections were received when Hornung left the post on week-ends to play football.

Most of the complaints, however, came when Hornung could not play. He missed two of the Packers' last five regularly-scheduled games.

"Every football fan of this nation," one letter said, "owes you a vote of thanks for allowing him to play in the championship game."

Hornung was free to play on Sundays, provided he did not miss any training or special duty. These same pass privileges were accorded others in his unit.

Hornung could leave the post about noon on Saturdays and was required to be back by midnight Sunday.

Many other football stars now in the service at other posts did likewise.

"We can't win," said one officer. "If a chef from the Waldorf-Astoria joins the Army and you don't make a cook out of him you hear all sorts of howls."

"But if you let a football player play football or assign him to the athletic department, then they say you are giving him preferential treatment."

The duties of a jeep driver may sound like a soft touch. Hornung didn't ask for it. He was assigned it.

Hornung served six months in the Army at Ft. Knox, Ky., in 1957. There he took his basic training and an eight-week course as a clerk-typist, then was put in charge of the company's athletic program.

Since then Hornung has been reclassified as a jeep driver. He doesn't know why.

"I guess they needed some jeep drivers," he said with a grin. His recall drew considerable publicity. He underwent two physical examinations before being declared fit for Army service.

A couple of Wisconsin politicians at the time were debating the pros-and-cons of deferment for sports and entertainment figures. Hornung said nothing.

He had been taking treatments for a pinched nerve injury prior to entering the Army. He asked if the treatments could be continued in the service. Permission was granted.

The normal training day for Hornung and his unit ends at 5:30 p.m. In his spare time he goes to movies, writes letters, plays some cards and hopes to play some basketball this winter on a company team.

On most nights when not on duty, he and a couple of buddies hop into his 1959 Cadillac convertible and drive to nearby Manhattan for a steak dinner.

"I haven't got anything against Army food," says Hornung, tongue in cheek. "It's wonderful, you can either gain weight on it or lose weight." He's lost 10 pounds.

As Hornung put on his civilian clothes one night recently and headed out the door, only three soldiers were left in the barracks.

"You know I've heard Paul has signed a contract with some motor car dealer and he'll get a new car every five years," said one, a bit wistfully.

"Yeah, but do you know what? I asked another with a big laugh. "He's got to come back to this place every night and crawl into a GI bed just like the rest of us."

"Aw, let's talk about something important," chimed in the third. "When do we get out of this man's Army?"

He yelled it so loudly the echo might have been heard at the far-away Pentagon.

Pistons, 119-112.

In NBA Action

DETROIT (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals outscored the Detroit Pistons 20-3 in the first six minutes of the third period and went on to a 119-112 victory Saturday in a nationally televised National Basketball Association game.

Until the bombardment the teams had battled on even terms with the Royals holding a 60-59 edge at the half.

The Royals started their explosion with 11 straight points before Bailey Howell made a foul shot and basket for Detroit with the third period three minutes old. The Royals then boomed again, this time with nine consecutive points.

Oscar Robertson and Bob Boozer each tallied six points and Jack Twyman got five in the Royals' upsurge. The Pistons, playing without star center Walter Dukes who was sidelined with an injured leg, then rebounded to trail 94-81 at the quarter's finish and subsequently cut the differences to five points at four minutes into the final quarter.

Robertson led all scorers with 39 while Ray Scott topped Detroit with 29.

Twin City Club Hears Book Review

A book review by Mrs. Calvert Frantom highlighted the January meeting of the Twin City Study club held in the home of Mrs. W. E. Kramer with Mrs. Frank Pettit as co-hostess.

The business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Eugene Scott, opened with the club collect and the club song, "Louisiana," by the group.

Mrs. Harry Arthur Genung Jr., program chairman, presented the devotional on the topic, "Good Resolutions for the New Year," which stressed patience.

Mrs. George Cox read the by-laws of the club and a report was made of the project committee. The group discussed a dress-making contest being sponsored by a leading pattern company on local, district and state levels.

Mrs. Frantom gave a review of the book, "The Thief in the White Collar," by Norman Jaspas with Hillet Black. The book concerns the "White Collar," thief in such organizations as banks, unions, government, insurance companies, stores and small and large businesses. The authors point out how these thieves often cheat off social entertainment on expense accounts, gamble, drink on management money and cheat the government on income taxes.

Members present were Mrs. L. A. Branch, Mrs. W. D. Albrighton, Mrs. Robert Cowden, Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. Ralph Einhorn, Mrs. Mable Ford, Mrs. Calvert Frantom, Mrs. Harry Arthur Genung Jr., Mrs. Wallace Hinson, Mrs. Jerome Johnson, Mrs. Bud Leake, Mrs. R. ## Patsy Brown Is Bride Of Mr. Bostick

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Steward Brown, 401 Shady Oaks in West Monroe, was scene of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Patsy Brown to Roy Bostick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bostick of Shreveport, which was solemnized December 29.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harold Cook of Brownville Baptist church in the presence of the families and close friends.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a dress of pink chiffon overlaid with pink lace. She wore a shoulder-length veil attached to a tiara and carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with pink rosebuds.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Gwen Dunn, who wore a frock of pale green taffeta with white accessories. Serving as best man was the bridegroom's father.

A reception followed the exchange of vows with Miss Dorothy Craig, Miss Gay Lantrip and Miss Joy Darden presiding at the bride's table.

Mrs. Bostick is a graduate of West Monroe high school and Northwestern State College. She is teaching her first year at Terrebonne high school in Houma. Mr. Bostick will graduate in June from Northwestern State College.

The couple will reside in Houma.

Couple At Home In Baton Rouge Following Vows

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones Bailey are now at home in Baton Rouge where both will continue their studies at LSU following their late December wedding in the First Baptist Church at Franklinton. Dr. A. W. Robbins performed the 4 p.m. vows in a candlelight setting.

The bride is the former Miss Ann Scott McGehee, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. McGehee of Franklinton and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William Gerald Bailey Sr. of Jonesboro.

Red carnations, white net and fern on white satin formed wreath-like circles, symbolizing eternity. Altar candles were lighted by William Russel McGehee III, brother of the bride and Michael Irwin. Miss Corkle was organist and Mrs. Jerry Dick, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie. The sculptured neckline and front was lavishly embellished with pearl encrusted Alencon lace appliques in an apron effect. The polonaise draped skirt with pouf back drifted into a sweeping cathedral train. A scalloped crown of ivory Alencon lace, edged in tiny seed pearls and crystals held her three tiered veil of silk illusion. Her pearl necklace was a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade arrangement of interlocking stephanotis, lace and rope pearls around a white orchid, atop a white Bible.

Miss Rosemary McGehee, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Bonnie Sue Hood, of Amite; Billie Hannah McGehee, Patricia Knight, Vickie Pichon, Sylvia Smith, Gayle Fussell and Alice Sue Reese, all of Franklinton. The honor attendant wore ruby red and the bridesmaids were attired in emerald green. They wore small white fur headpieces and halo veils and carried white fur muffs accented with sprays of red carnations and green velvet leaves.

William Gerald Bailey Jr. served as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Maurey Drummond, Baton Rouge; Bill Kingery of Kinder; Rich Bailey, brother of the bridegroom; Lamont Massey, Wayne Melton, Johnny Garrett, Ricky Steadman and George Abbott, all of Jonesboro.

Flower girl was Laurie Hamilton of Franklin, dressed identically to the maid of honor in a floor length gown and veil. She carried a white satin basket from which she scattered red petals. Ring bearer was Russel Scott Knight, god-child of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. For the wedding and receiving the guests. Mrs. McGehee wore a beige lace gown with matching accessories and a brown cymbidium orchid. Mrs. Bailey, mother of the bridegroom, wore a sheath of cream lace over foam green silk with matching accessories and a green orchid corsage.

Both the reception and cake tables were covered with floor length shirred white net over Italian linen cloths and held silver candelabra, encircled with white net and satin puffs. The cake was served by Mrs. W. E. Erwin, Mrs. Wayne Knight, Mrs. Hamilton Bickman Jr., and alternates were Mrs. Roger Dodson and Mrs. J. E. Byers. Miss Kay Breeden and Miss Sharon Fussel presided at the guest book and tea girls were Miss Sandra Newman and Miss Virginia Pierce.

For travel the bride chose a black and white wool tweed suit with matching accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

MISS MARIE TONEY

Marie Toney, Fiance Plan February 9 Vows

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Marie Toney to Jimmy Cordell is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Toney of Holly Ridge. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cordell, also of Holly Ridge.

The wedding, to be an event of February 9, will be solemnized at 7 p.m. in Holly Ridge Baptist Church.

Miss Carolyn Turnage has been chosen by the bride-elect to serve as maid of honor and bridesmaids will be Miss Kay Dean and Miss Rosemary Sones.

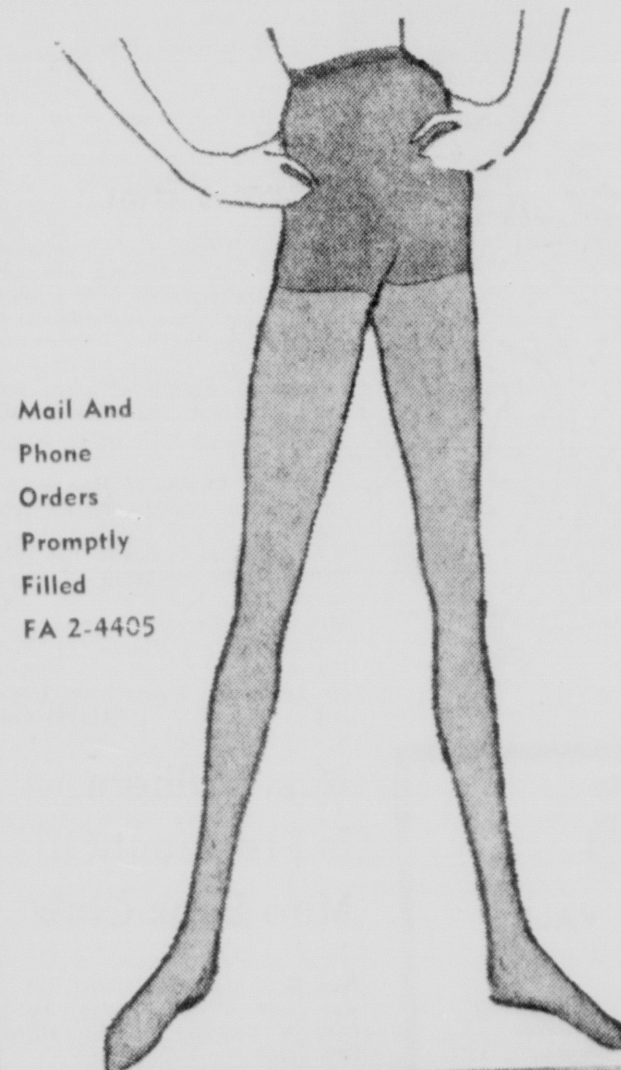

Mr. Cordell will attend his son as best man and ushers will be Tommy Parker and Ronald Thompson.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Toney. She is a graduate of Holly Ridge high school and Bish Mathis Institute.

Also a graduate of Holly Ridge high school, Mr. Cordell attended Northeast Louisiana State College for two years. He is presently in the army stationed at Fort Gordon, Augusta, Georgia. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parker.

MRS. JERRY LEO SCRIBER

Arkansas Students Are Wed

The Chapel of the First Baptist church in Crossett was the setting at 5 p.m. Saturday, December 30 for the wedding of Miss Sharon Kay Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Brooks and Jerry Leo Scriber, son of Mrs. Leo E. Scriber and the late Mr. Scriber.

Rev. B. G. Hickem performed the double ring ceremony and nuptial music was presented by Mrs. W. B. Anderson. Candles were lighted by John Sullins and Frank Allen.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie fashioned with fitted bodice and long sleeves. The scoop neckline was edged with hand-cut Chantilly lace and the full skirt swept to a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pearl-encrusted coronet and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Eddie Locke, matron of honor, was gowned in an emerald green frock, styled similar to the bride's in street length. Her veil and shoes matched the dress and she carried a bouquet of red rosebuds.

Phillip Higginbotham Jr. served as best man for the bridegroom and ushers were John Sullins and Frank Allen.

A reception in Fellowship Hall of the church followed the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with white net over taffeta, was centered with silver candelabra. Miss Sue Welch served the cake and Miss Linda Posey presided at the punch bowl, assisted by Miss Margaret Ann McGoogan.

Miss Mary Jane Regnier, Mrs. Jackie G. Brooks and Mrs. Richard L. Brooks Jr. Miss Karen Gibbs provided piano music throughout the reception.

Misses Tamara Gifford, Hilda Byrd and Tony Robertson distributed rice bags to guests at close of the reception. The couple left immediately for the University of Arkansas, where both are junior students. For travel the bride chose a blue suit with matching accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They are at home at 812 Fairview in Fayetteville, Ark.

JANUARY 26 is the date chosen for their wedding by Miss Frances Elizabeth Spangler of Joyce and Travis Stringer, student at Northeast Louisiana College, Monroe. The ceremony will take place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Spangler in Joyce. Parents of the future bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Stringer of Baker. The couple plans to reside in Monroe where he will continue his studies.

Prewitt-McCurry Nuptials Read In Baptist Church

Vows uniting in marriage Miss Barbara Ann McCurry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McCurry of West Monroe, to Wayne Lamar Prewitt, son of Rev. and Mrs. V. L. Prewitt, also of West Monroe, were solemnized in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church of Dumas, Ark. The double ring ceremony was performed January 1 by Dr. Minor E. Cole of Dumas.

Fern and red poinsettias flanked the altar against a background of spiral candelabra holding white cathedral tapers entwined with poinsettias and greenery forming an arch for the exchange of vows.

Tony Adams of Dumas rendered a concert of nuptial music including the selections "Because," and "For You." He was accompanied by Miss Lemoine Nuckols, who also played the traditional wedding march.

The bride wore a shell white two piece suit with a self-fabric rose at the waistline of the jacket. The neckline of the peau de soie silk blouse enhanced the jacket with embroidered designs. She wore a white pillbox hat with brief nose veil and her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. She carried a nosegay of white carnations centered with a white orchid and showered with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Faye Ciraulo of Monroe, served as matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a toast silk ensemble with beige accessories.

Nick F. Ciraulo of Monroe, attended the bridegroom as best man.

An informal luncheon was held following the exchange of vows at the Delta Lodge with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dancer as hosts.

The bride is a graduate of West Monroe High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston. She is president of

MISS MARCIA ANN IRVING

No Stalls

When a car is stuck, composition shingles furnish enough traction to get the wheels under way. They are easier to carry in the trunk of a car than the usual bucket of sand.

America's first daily newspaper was the Pennsylvania Packet and Daily Advertiser, which appeared on September 21, 1784. The first issue had four pages, and ten of its sixteen columns were filled with advertisements.

Marcia Irving, Mr. Lochney To Wed Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Irving, 1011 Otis Street, West Monroe, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Marcia Ann, to Huey Pierce Lochney of Pineville. He is the son of Mrs. J. R. Comeaux of Pineville and the late Shelton D. Lachney. The wedding will be solemnized on January 20 at 4 p.m. in Pineville, where the couple will establish a home.

Attendants for the couple will be Miss Gennie Hodge, maid of honor and Ross Rivet will serve as best man. The bride-elect, a senior at West Monroe High School, is the granddaughter of Mrs. V. R. Case, Dallas, Texas and Mrs. L. R. Irving of Minden. Mr. Lochney attends L.S.U. in Alexandria.

There are 112 million people in the U.S. (aged 12 & over) who read at least one newspaper every day.

Janice Berry, Mr. Huffty Exchange Vows

A candlelight ceremony solemnized at Forest Baptist church January 2 at 6 p.m. united in marriage Miss Janice Berry and Stanford E. Huffty. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Berry of Oak Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huffty of Kilbourne.

Rev. H. G. Hammons performed the double ring ceremony before an ivy entwined arch and a single tree candelabra holding tall white tapers. Two pedestal baskets of white gladioli and greenery flanked the arch.

Mrs. Doris W. Buckley accompanied Rev. Thomas A. Berry as he sang "Because," and "The Bride's Prayer." Candles were lighted by Mike Berry, Oak Grove and Bill Blackburn, Bastrop. Tony Berry of Forest was ring bearer.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white satin, net and lace, styled with fitted bodice and long sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. Lace of the bodice extended into a panel down front of the pearl embroidered net skirt over satin. Her waist length veil fell from a pearl crown and her bouquet was of three white hybrid orchids with Stephanotis and maline.

Miss Evelyn Rodgers of Oak Grove, was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of pink satin brocade with pink headpiece and matching slippers. Her bouquet was a cascade of white feathered carnations with pink and white maline and white satin streamers. The bridesmaids Miss Jerrie Butler and Miss Edna Berry, wore blue satin brocade frocks with matching headpieces and slippers and carried nosegays of white feathered carnations, blue maline puffs and streamers of blue satin ribbon.

Serving as best man was Harry Lee Cupid of Kilbourne. Ushers were Billy Ray Costello and Emmett Stephenson of Bastrop.

Mrs. Berry, mother of the bride, wore a blue wool sheath with matching accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a dark blue sheath with black accessories and a pink cymbidium

MISS GAY ANDREWS

Couple Plans January 26 Wedding Vows

A reception was held in the recreation room of the church, where Miss Shirley Ann Fairchild had charge of the bride's book. The table, covered with a lace cloth over pink was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli. Miss Cleatha Berry presided at the punch bowl and Miss Melba Puckett served the cake. Tea girls were Miss Virginia Dawson and Miss Terrie Dawson of Kilbourne.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip the bride was wearing a gold wool jersey suit with brown accessories and the orchids from her bouquet.

Place birthday candles in the center of orange slices and float them, lighted, on top of punch for that extra touch that makes parties remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Noland Andrews, 1602 Georgia, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Gay Andrews to James Montgomery of Bastrop. He is the son of Mrs. Helen May and T. O. Montgomery of Bastrop.

The wedding will take place January 26 at 8 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents with Rev. N. T. Smith officiating.

Miss Andrews is a graduate of Neville High School and her fiancé graduated from Bastrop High School and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. The couple plans to reside in Monroe.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES B. DENNIG

Nuptials Unite Ann Winchester, James Dennig

McClendon Baptist Church was scene of the wedding of Miss Ann Winchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Winchester, West Monroe, to James B. Dennig of Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie B. Dennig, Ruston, an event of late December. Rev. Charles E. Holstead officiated at the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Basket of white gladioli with candelabra holding lighted candles flanked an arch of greenery which formed a setting for the exchange of vows.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ann Cloyd, organist, Miss Mary Luttrell, pianist and Reggy Guice, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of cloud silk taffeta, fashioned princess style with long sleeves tapered to lily points over her hands. Alencon lace appliques encrusted with seed pearls adorned the scoop neckline and bodice. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a demi-cap of Alencon lace, topped with a flat bow of silk taffeta. She carried a bouquet of white feathered chrysanthemums, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Lorette Dennig, maid of honor and Mrs. Jeanette Irving, matron of honor, wore identical gowns of emerald green crystalline taffeta. Their headpieces were bows of matching green to which nose veils were attached. They wore matching green shoes, white gloves and carried bouquets of bronze and gold chrysanthemums with bells. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Nell Dennig, Miss Barbara Winchester, Miss Catherine Winchester, Miss Sybil Sandifer, wore kelly green crystalline taffeta dress with white gloves and carried white bells with gold and bronze chrysanthemums. They also wore veils attached to bows which matched their dresses.

Candles were lighted by Cathy Dennig and Linda Sue Frith, who wore mint green crystalline frocks with matching veils and corsages of gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

Margarette Winchester was flower girl and wore a white crystalline taffeta dress and carried a white bell with gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

Tommy Dennig served as best man and groomsmen-ushers were Louie Irving, Wallace Freeman, Larry Irving and Sidney Sandifer. Horace Winchester acted as ringbearer.

The bride's mother wore a green velvet suit with mink trim, brown accessories and a corsage of white feathered chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's mother selected a brown wool knit sheath with brown lizard accessories and beige hat. Her corsage was also of feathered chrysanthemums.

White chrysanthemums and greenery centered the linen-covered bride's table for a reception which followed the ceremony. For a wedding trip to Shreveport the bride was wearing a three-piece pale gray suit with black accessories.

The couple will make their home in West Monroe. Mrs. Dennig is a graduate of Ferriday High School and attended Northeast Louisiana State College. Mr. Dennig is a graduate of Northeast where he was a member of Delta Delta.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Adams of Minden, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Youth Symphony Report Given At Musical Coterie

Members of the Musical Coterie met in the home of Mrs. H. McDonald Friday, January 5. During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. James Caldwell, a report of the December performance of the Monroe Youth Symphony was given by Miss Joanne Bankhead. Miss Bankhead reported the Monroe Youth Symphony is now a full grown organization with complete symphony orchestra instrumentation. This year for the first time, woodwinds, brasses and percussion were added to the strings.

Conductor is Roger DiGiulian, violin teacher and new member of the teaching staff of the Monroe City School system. Mr. DiGiulian conducts a string orchestra at Neville high school each school day, three string orchestras at Lee Junior high each day and a beginning string class at Lexington Elementary school. Every Tuesday night the strings play, who qualified after auditions before three judges, are joined by winds, brasses and percussion players for full rehearsal of the Monroe Youth Symphony, previously called Monroe Youth Orchestra when it was strings only.

At the December concert in Ne-cille high school, which also included vocal groups from Lee and Jefferson junior high schools, the orchestra presented works by Wagner, Tchaikovsky and Anderson. Miss Bankhead expressed appreciation to the Musical Coterie for their support of the string program in early years of her organization through the four years of the string Youth orchestra which Eloy Fominaya conducted into the present reality of a full Youth Symphony Orchestra for the community.

Miss Bankhead teaches strings in all city elementary schools and Jefferson Junior high. Almost every child, string and wind in the present symphony orchestra, was started on his instrument by Miss Bankhead.

Continuing the meeting Mrs. H. Land gave the text "Music Schools and Private Instruction in England, The Netherlands, Japan, Wales and the Philippines." Program illustrating the study included "At the Twilight Hour," and "Bosun's Song," from "The Eyes of Youth," by Thomas Dunhill, played by Mrs. James Murphy, pianist; "Speedy Car," and "Eude Allegro," from "Japanese Festival," by Yoshino Akada, played by Mrs. W. M. Harper, pianist.

"Burlesque," by Kallag, played by Coralie Heard White, guest pianist, who invited the members of the Musical Coterie to her senior piano recital to be performed in Biedenharn Hall Friday, April 6.

Concluding the program, Mrs. LeRoy Anspach sang "The Ebb of the Tide," a Welsh folk song of "Diandansov," from "Three Philippine Folk Songs," by Kasilag. Those present were Mrs. B. D. Albritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Miss Bankhead, James Caldwell, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. Tex Kilpatrick, Mrs. H. H. Land, Mrs. Kedwick Martin, Mrs. James Murphy, Mrs. Phanor Peart, Mrs. Jerry Thomas, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale Jr., Mrs. Felix Willey, Mrs. Everett Zeagler and the guest pianist, Mrs. Jack White.

The next meeting will be January 19 at 3:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. James Murphy.

Former Monroe Resident Wed In Pennsylvania

Of interest to their friends here is the announcement of the late December marriage of Miss Patricia Ann Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hudson of Aleppo, Pennsylvania, former residents of Monroe, to Robert Lee Hannah of Morgantown, West Virginia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norma Hannah of Marlinton, West Virginia. Rev. Wayne Baker performed the ceremony in the Aleppo Brethren Church.

Vows were exchanged in a background of greenery and baskets of red poinsettias with my-raid of white tapers in wrought-iron candelabra. The organist, Dave Vogeleding, rendered a concert of nuptial music, during which the candles were lighted by Don and David Riffle. He also accompanied the soloist, Miss Nancy Fox of Oil City, Pa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal princess style gown of white peau de soie, embellished with rose bud appliques, and extending into a cathedral train. The tiered fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of peau de soie encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a satin-bound Bible, topped with a yellow-throated white orchid.

Miss Suzanne Lesnick was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Rosemary Walker, Miss Mary Jane Reed and Miss Rosemary Foley. They wore red velvet dresses, with scalloped lace over-skirts tied in front with bows of red velvet ribbon. Completing their costumes were white fur headaddresses and white fur muffs centered with single red poinsettias.

The flower girl, Miss Sue Ellen McCracken, also wore a red velvet dress, trimmed in white lace and carried an oval shaped basket of rose petals.

Serving as best man was Bill Schuessler and groomsmen-ushers were Dick Davis, Danny Cooper and Arne Lindquist. Jeffrey Lohr served as ringbearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hudson wore a blue lace sheath with fitted jacket, matching accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige jersey sheath with matching accessories and a red carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Aleppo Community Center. The bride's table held a massive arrangement of red poinsettias, fir and holly with red tapers in candelabra. Red candles in crystal candelabra, and arrangements of greenery, red and white poinsettias graced twin pianos and the mantle of the open fireplace.

For travel when the couple left for a wedding trip to Greenville, S.C., the bride changed to a tweed beige suit with mink collar and matching accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. They are now at home at Morgantown, W. Va.

Mrs. Hannah graduated from high school in Monroe, received her B.A. degree from Louisiana College and will receive her master's degree in Music from West Virginia University this month. She is a life member of Delta Omicron International Professional Music Fraternity. The bridegroom attended Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Texas; served in the U.S. Air Force band for four years and will receive his B.S. degree in WVA in June.

MISS DOROTHY J. HOLCOMB will become the bride of Nathan Gaylord Roberts, of West Monroe on Friday, January 19, in a ceremony at the Welcome Home Church of God. Rev. Doyle Whitesel will perform the nuptials at 5 p.m. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete O. Holcomb, Pine Ridge Road, West Monroe, and Mr. Roberts is the son of Mrs. Eva Roberts, of Shreveport and N. C. Roberts, West Monroe.

One or two tiny drops of wax opening wide. Another method is dropped into the center of freshly to drop a copper penny in the cut tulips will prevent them from water.

Garden Study Club Feted By Mrs. J. F. Stone

Mrs. Wayne Matheson from Saudi Arabia, was a special guest when the Garden Study Club was entertained Friday, January 5 in the home of Mrs. J. F. Stone on Glenmar.

Following the business session each member made a monochromatic arrangement using a candelabrum, suitable for use on a table. The arrangements were made under supervision of Mrs. John P. Lewis.

During the social hour refreshments were served by the hostess to Mrs. C. A. Caldwell, Mrs. H. S. Coon, Mrs. A. L. Dickerson, Mrs. Morris Harrison, Mrs. R. B. Henry, Mrs. C. T. Johnson, Mrs. J. P. Lewis, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Mrs. J. H. Scogin Jr. and Mrs. Matheson.

Handbags Slim Down For Spring

By FLORENCE de SANTIS
Fashion is turning away from the bulky pouch-shaped bag. Even the giant tote, beloved of women on the go, has been fading this fall, and will be just about gone for spring.

At least, that's what "they" say but as a devotee of the big bag myself, I wonder. Small bags just don't do for today's woman, not even as evening bags. What ever "they" do to the outside shape of handbags, they'd better keep the space inside.

In looks, however, the new slimmer handbags do look better than the bulging totes. Squares, triangles and ovals are the shapes most often used. Space is attained by accordion-fold bottoms which allow for expansion without spoiling the bag's lines.

Shoulder strap bags, the trade of the Forties, return, but with shorter handles and lighter weights, so that they don't drag on the clothes as the originals often did.

Comic Wants To Portray Unlucky One

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Bob Newhart, a comedian who hit the big time, wants to tell the story of those who didn't.

Not too many years ago, Newhart was working in an office as an accountant and dreaming about his own chances of making people laugh. That doesn't make for a good bookkeeping career, so Bob chucked it all.

Once he quit his office job and started joking for a living, it wasn't long until Newhart was recognized as one of the best young comedians around.

His record albums, consisting of spoofs on various aspects of our life, sold well. His nightclub and personal appearances also were successful. And, now, he's appearing on his own TV show.

But what about other laughgetters?

QUICK HIT

Compared to some comics who have been travelling from nightclub to nightclub for years, Newhart's popularity was almost immediate.

"I'd like to do a movie on the nightclub comic who didn't make it," Newhart said. "You never hear about them. All you hear about is the guy who makes millions. There are some guys who make about $500 a week. But they work so little that it averages out to about $125 a week. It's like a desk or factory job. I don't know if the story would sell, but it ought to be told. It takes some of the glitter and glamour off this business."

Newhart said the life of also-ran comedians is lonely one, filled with the boredom of playing to audiences unresponsive to mediocre jokes.

Of his own career, Newhart said he is trying to turn out a funny TV show without surrendering to cliché style humor often found on situation type series.

"I'm very happy with what we've accomplished so far," he said. "We've proved our point that it's possible to get an adult audience and not to sell out or settle for stuff that is not me, like baggy pants and scare wigs."

WIDE RANGE

Newhart said rating surveys show his audience comes from the 18 to 40 age group, "where I think my strongest appeal is."

Newhart is aware of the problems he faces as a comedian working in a medium that eats funniness at a fast pace. Some top comedians are no longer seen on TV.

"I can't plead insanity," he said. "I came in with my eyes wide open. I had to try it because I was standing still. I felt the same way generally about show business, I had to get into it."

Last summer Newhart appeared in his first movie, a war film called "Hell is for Heroes" in which he plays a soldier along with Bobby Darin and Steve McQueen.

Newhart plans more pictures, including the one about roaming comedians in which he hopes to star. But he doesn't intend to take his TV personality into movie houses.

"I'd like to get away from the kind of stuff I'm doing," he said. "I think if the public can see you free on TV, they won't pay to see the same in a movie."

Stamp News

ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL sets of stamps in many a year has just been issued by the British Colony of St. Helena, a solitary island in the South Atlantic some 1,140 miles from the African continent and 1,800 miles from South America.

The first postage stamps of St. Helena were released Jan. 1, 1856, and since then many of its attractive issues have proved popular with philatelists.

The new definitive series depicts bird, plant and marine life of the island together with the Royal Portrait against a background of the famous St. Helena lighthouse. The 3 pence bears a reproduction of Queen Elizabeth as contained on the present United Kingdom coinage. The highest value, the 1 pound, features a beautiful adaptation of a portrait by Cecil Beaton of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Andrew.

St. Helena was discovered by the Portuguese navigator, Juan de Nova Castella, on May 21, 1502, the anniversary of the death of St. Helena, mother of Roman

Science For You

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: The wayward water. NEEDED: A hard rubber comb and a thin stream of water from a faucet.

DO THIS: Rub the comb briskly on a woolen cloth or through the hair, then hold it near the stream of water. The water will change its course as it is attracted by the comb.

HERE'S WHY: Rubbing the comb puts a charge of static electricity on it. The water is not charged until close proximity of the comb repels electrons to the opposite side of the water column. Then the charge is opposite, and the comb and water are attracted to each other. Note that the rule in electricity, "unlike charges attract one another," can be expanded to include attraction between a charged body and a previously uncharged body which has an opposite charge induced in it when close to a charged body.

This experiment works only when the air is dry. It will not work in a room where the humidity is high. Much water vapor in the air allows the excess electrons of the charged comb to escape from the comb to the invisible water vapor.

'BACHELOR FLAT'

Eyefilling Array In Comedy Film

An eyefilling array of young beauties lends support to the hilarious misadventures of Tuesday Weld, Richard Beymer, Terry-Thomas and Celeste Holm in the 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe color comedy-romance "Bachelor Flat," coming today to the Paramount Theatre.

This light-hearted boy-meets-girl far introduces to American audiences England's top comedian Terry-Thomas, as a "stiff upper lip" British professor of Archaeology teaching in an American college. All the wit, charm and farcical humor that have made his name box-office magic across Britain are here in a situation comedy created for this kind of talent.

STAR BILLING

Tuesday Weld, who most recently appeared in "Return to Peyton Place" and opposite Elvis

Emperor Constantine. The British have governed it continuously since 1673. The island is perhaps most famous as the place of exile of Napoleon from 1815 until his death in 1821.

Togo has issued six commemorative stamps to honor the 15th anniversary of UNICEF. Designed by Claude Botia of France, these new stamps depict children representing all races, colors and countries gaily dancing around a globe. Each stamp bears the official UNICEF emblem. The highest value has an enlarged white UNICEF emblem on a blue background. Also recently issued by Togo were six stamps honoring the visit to the United States of Daniel Wilson, chief Boy Scout of Togo.

France's Postmaster General Michel Maurice-Bokanowski announced that a special commemorative stamp would be issued to honor the new super ocean liner "France" and its entry into service. The postage stamp will have a face value of 30 francs (about 7 cents) which is France's overseas postal card requirement. The stamp will feature a silhouette design of the "France."

Ruanda-Urundi has issued a series of postage stamps with surtax for the benefit of the Cathedral of Usumbura. There are six values and three designs. The front of the Cathedral is shown on one design. A side view appears on another. A reproduction of three stained glass windows whose central figure represents the Virgin Mary with Child is the third design.

TIME OUT FOR ROMANCE in the 20th Century-Fox's CinemaScope-DeLuxe color comedy "Bachelor Flat," which stars Richard Beymer and Tuesday Weld. Co-starring in the picture, which opens today at the Paramount Theatre, are Terry Thomas and Celeste Holm.

TEMPLE OF THE TWIST or the Peppermint Lounge is depicted in a scene from Paramount's "Hey, Let's Twist!," which opens Friday at the Jim Theatre. Joey Dee, popular recording star, Teddy Randazzo, Jo-Anne Campbell, Kay Armen and Zohra Lampert portray leading roles in the picture.

IN COSSACK FILM

Yule, Other Bald Heads Are Cast

By RICK DU BROW
SALTA, Argentina (UPI)—Yul Brynner may be hard to recognize in his next film. Nearly all the other leading actors are bald too.

The 41-year-old star plays the title role in "Taras Bulba," a legendary Cossack who leads his bare-pated men in their 16th Century fight for freedom against the Poles—and once again he portrays a fierce, exotic, majestic figure.

"People keep asking me if I'd like to play a part with a white shirt, tie and martini," Brynner said. "But that's when I really look fierce!"

"Look at me! Do I look like the boy next door? Bill Holden and Henry Fonda did wonderful as that. But as a friend of mine once said, 'Sure, you're the boy next door—if you live in Outer Mongolia.'"

Wearing white riding trousers, a blue short-sleeved shirt and black boots, Brynner, who was born on Sakhalin, a northern island off Japan, said:

"These adventure movies are the kind that made Hollywood great, anyway. I feel strongly about that. I travel around the world often, and I stop into a little local movie for 10 or 15 minutes to see what pictures mean to people. Sometimes it's their only entertainment, and you learn what they react to."

PUBLISHERS' NEED

Much of Brynner's traveling is due to his post as consultant to the United Nations' high commissioner for refugees. He constantly uses his famous name to publicize the need for refugee aid.

"I've done so much traveling and location work," said Brynner, "that I now come well prepared. I bring my own Vermont maple syrup, and I have about 15,000 cigars distributed around the world."

The actor, who earned his first money singing and playing guitar for tips in a Paris bar, genuinely loves the companionship of outdoor men—their jokes, their card playing. Pointing to "my men"—the gauchos—he said:

"Look at those crazy, wonderful fellows. For our nighttime torching scene, they gave me a racehorse. There were 1,200 of us on horseback, and my mount didn't want the others to catch up. Then he got scared by the torches. It took three miles to stop him."

Despite his enormous success as a movie star, Brynner said he has a movie star, Brynner said he has a movie star, Brynner said he has a movie star.

SEVERE 'NEUROTICS'

NEW YORK (AP) — A new off-Broadway producing organization is called The Neurotics Company.

The sponsors are starting off with a topical review, "Neurotics, Anonymous." Declaring that "revues are often served up by too many cooks," the backers are entrusting one writer, Larry Paxton, with all sketches and lyrics. The score, by Brower Wagoner, is to be performed by "one piano and one very imaginative percussionist."

Seconds later, she found him, and a gaucho, seeing Brynner, said: "He was born at the wrong time. He was made for the time of kings."

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Landscape Trees Subject Of Show

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR
 "Trees in Your Landscape," was the theme of Mrs. Mildred Swift's program for the Garden Center Show last week. Mrs. Swift gave valuable information on how to start your landscaping and which trees would be suitable for the size lot selected for your home. First thing to do is to list your needs — then consider the space that you have to work with.

About trees — of course they are a must in your landscape plan. Place them where they are needed. Children love to play under a nice shade tree. This tree could be planted where it could be easily seen from the house. The afternoon sun should be cut from the house — so place that other tree to serve this purpose.

SHADE
 The patio should have shade part of the day. Consider this when planting. For a border at the back of the lot or on the side — pines will serve a wonderful purpose. About pines — there are quite a few kinds to consider. The loblolly grows tall and serves as a border tree and when grouped together will form a wonderful cover for azaleas and camellias. The long leaf pine is very decorative. A 75 foot lot would accommodate six to eight of these planted 15 feet apart, staggered. They serve as shade as well as excellent wind breaks. Since the tap roots grow straight down in the ground you can plant shrubs underneath. Azaleas and other flowering plants are lovely planted beneath pines. The needles serve as a mulch.

LIVE OAK
 The live oak is beautiful. Mrs. Swift suggested that your lot must be large for this tree which has a spread from 50 to 100 feet. So often they are placed on a small lot along each side of a walk or drive and then, grow too large for this setting. This is an evergreen just as the pine, and has a beautiful shape, so, use it to a good advantage — if your lot is large.

The Sycamore, another large tree, is beautiful for its large coarse foliage and the lovely white bark. The bark is very smooth and becomes whiter during the winter. Quite beautiful against a blue sky, or near a home with a white roof.

The tulip tree, or yellow poplar, is so named because of its flowers. The flower on this tree is a yellow green with orange across the base. The leaves are odd looking — seemed to have been cut across the ends. The flowers are lovely in corsages or arrangements. This tree strangely spreads if crowded in the landscape.

RED BUD
 Another flowering tree is the red bud. This gives an oriental feeling to the landscape. This tree is quick growing — but, its life span is short. It gives lovely pink — lavender blossoms in the Spring when we most need it. There is also a white bud — still rare for the gardeners.

The mimosa — also quick growing and oriental, is a lovely tree to have in our landscape since it also blooms and adds color. The leaves form a soft pattern for foliage in the overall — picture. This tree has a short life, but it is easy to have small one coming on since they are so easily grown.

DOGWOOD
 We must not forget the dogwood. This is such a beautiful flowering tree. This is a slow grower. Likes to be up next to other trees. A good place for this tree is outside a window where it can be easily seen from the home inside. There is a pink dogwood as well as white. Since this is a graft it is not as easily obtained. Also, Mrs. Swift says there is a red one on the market. By the way, instead of trying to dig your tree from the woods, go to the nursery and buy it. You will be safer to have it grow for you. Then, too, some of us do not know that the dogwood is a conservation plant and should not be removed from our Louisiana woods. This is the time now to think about those trees for our landscape. Make a mental picture before actually doing the job.

SOME HINTS ABOUT PRUNING — do not prune shrubs that bloom in the spring now, since you'll cut off the spring blooms. You can, however, prune the shrubs that will bloom in the summer or later. Spring bulbs are on sale now and would be a very good investment even if it is too late for them to bloom the first Spring. It isn't too late to plant them. Get fertilizers ready for that spring fertilizing of the shrubs and trees.

DON'T OVERDO
 Since trees are so useful in the landscape we must remember to plant them, but not overdo it. The voids and spaces of your landscape play an important part. Too much shade will keep us from having the sun loving plants. Also, the lovely lawn adds to the picture.

Just another tip: The flower arranger finds good use of the log round. Mrs. Tolar brought one for the program. This one was picked up where a saw was demonstrated. She suggests that if you wish to get one she might have some extras at the Garden Center for you sometimes. They make lovely bases for dried arrangements. Also, driftwood is nicely displayed on it. Wall plaques can be made by using sea shells for a design or pine cones and dried seed pods. Nice for the paneled wall of the den.

Mrs. Tolar showed a dried arrangement that she had made for her home. The container was a plain spathe of seed pod. This had been rubbed with steel wool, then one coat of clear shellac had been applied. This gives a lovely soft finish to the spathe. For line material in the design she had used the okra pods, and the dried zebra grass. For a filler she used the desert spoons (from Arizona). Also, the brown dock was used as filler. Three lotus pods (bought from the florist) were placed in the focal area. This arrangement contained quite a number of interesting dried plants. Where there is a lack of color in a design, interest can be brought into the pattern by using interesting materials, as to their shape and texture. Mrs. Tolar pointed out that now is a good time to enjoy that dried arrangement when our flowers are scarce and the weather is bad. So, go to your workshop and make up a new design for the den or most any room in the home.

Next week — Watch for a special guest, Mrs. F. E. McCarty, from Monroe's LaViolette Club. Her theme will be "African Violets."

NEEDLES ARE ALL OF THE BABY TYPE and not prickly at all. In pictures of dwarf Japanese trees, one sometimes sees some of the very dwarf forms, but we Americans rarely get a chance to buy these little treasures. This is probably because they are none too hardy in the north, and our southern nurseries have not offered them to us.

Early Training Key To Child's Future
 NEW YORK (UPI) — In the tender pre-school years, you teach Junior and Janie how to eat and how to dress.

You teach that four-letter words including ain't, have no place in polite society.

But even more — you plant in the child fragile roots of a code of ethics.

If you do a good job, the youngsters enter kindergarten or first grade with a thriving, growing conscience. They know the difference between right and wrong. They are good for goodness sake.

If you mishandle the chore assigned parents from the time of Adam and Eve. The youngsters enter school with an undeveloped, defective conscience, they rebel against authority, rules and routines.

UNINFORMED
 They are bad because they don't know any better.

The one who makes these points in a 1962 message to parents is Margaret E. Jenkins, a Long Island, New York, mother who heads the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

"The ethical imprint of early

Apartments Outlook Is Termed Good

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
 NEW YORK (UPI) — This will be a good year for apartment hunters, according to one of the biggest builders in the country.

The year will be favorable for neglected middle income apartment seekers. Constructive legislation, either existing or pending, will pave the way for mass apartment housing at reasonable rentals, Samuel J. Lefrak, president of the Lefrak organization, believes.

He cited a recent upsurge in building through New York states' Mitchell-Lama Act, which he called a pioneer method of helping bring vitally needed new living units within reach of the average family budget.

LIMITS BUILDERS PROFIT
 "Unlike the federal Title I program," Lefrak said "the Mitchell-Lama Act contains a provision limiting a builder's profit in middle income accommodations. It makes New York state funds available only in the low and the middle income housing ranges."

"In 1962, this legislation will spark the construction of almost 17,000 middle income living units, with rentals averaging $20 to $25 per room. It is the largest single middle income housing program ever developed anywhere for one year."

Lefrak feels that current or pending legislation in housing also will help improve the lot of the average apartment hunter.

He pointed out a referendum coming up in California which would provide considerable housing for the elderly, one of the nation's most neglected middle income tenant groups, and he observed, "Massachusetts already has state housing legislation designed to aid construction of living accommodations for senior citizens by individual governments."

In Connecticut, veterans' housing, much of it in the low-cost private home building field, should ease the burden of overpopulation in that state's larger cities, the builder said.

Lefrak, whose organization has created some 125,000 middle income apartments in metropolitan areas, all without government financing, says use of state or federal funds for housing invariably stimulates a flow of private capital from individual investors or corporations, attracted by the economic renaissance of the rehabilitated area.

"For example, in New York," he said, "virtually every major urban renewal effort with a Mitchell-Lama connection will favorably affect peripheral properties in the locale. Owners of small residential holdings already have found it economically desirable — and practical — to improve their properties in anticipation of the resurgence of these revitalized sections."

GETS LAND CHEAP
 Lefrak said he feels one of the most successful marriages of state funds and the private builder in industry is to be found in Illinois, which since 1947 has utilized the Blighted Areas Redevelopment Act. Under this bill, the buyer-builder gets a discount, or "write-down" on land acquisition.

A public agency assembles a proposed site and subsequently sells it to a private builder; the savings are passed on to tenants in the form of lower rentals which would not be possible if a builder attempted to acquire land privately without state assistance.

Lefrak anticipates private construction, sparked by funds made available through state legislation, will provide new low and middle income housing in Manhattan for nearly 100,000 New Yorkers. Aside from its implications for New York itself, Lefrak feels "it indicates a national trend in political thinking which will be reflected during the coming year in better — and more economical — shelter for middle income tenants in major cities from coast to coast."

"This is a definite breakthrough," he said. "It is the most encouraging change in the national housing picture in decades."

LINE BODICE
 "Dear Eunice:
 "I made my daughter a formal recently and although we used the tiny spaghetti straps at the shoulders, the bodice didn't want to stay up nice and smooth. We lined the bodice and nothing seemed to help."

Mrs. M. E. L.
 Dear Mrs. M. E. L.:
 There is a very simple solution to this problem. Your fabric was probably light weight and, even though it was lined, it would still not have enough "body" to stay up without wrinkling.

Sew a strip of featherboning on each side seam. This is hand whipped to the seam on the wrong side of the bodice. Be sure to cut the boning back from the ends and bring the fabric covering over the ends to avoid the rough edges cutting into you. It may be necessary to add the feather-boning to the darts at the back of the bodice, but usually the side seams will take care of it beautifully.

ADD GUSSET
 "Dear Eunice:
 "Is it possible to add a 'gusset' to a dress that is cut with raglan sleeves? The dress seems to pull so much that whenever I raise my arms I am afraid it will tear at the underarm. Please tell me where to cut the dress and how large to make the gusset. Many thanks for the answers to the many questions we home sewers have. I feel you are sitting beside me when I am sewing."

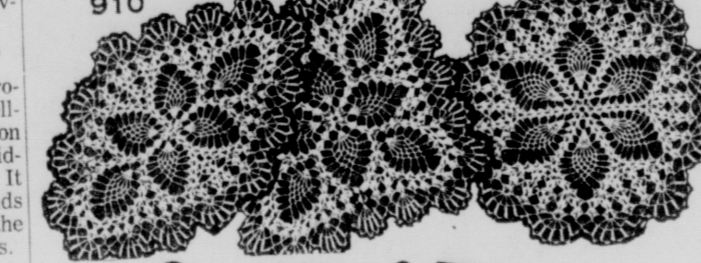

Mrs. R. F.
 Dear Mrs. R. F.:
 Yes, it is possible to add a gusset when there is none. The

SEW SIMPLE
 By Eunice Farmer

Winner of this week's Tailor sketches should help you understand the details a little better.

At the highest point of the underarm curve of the bodice front and back, make a diagonal slash about 4" long. Before cutting to the end of the slash, place a square of firm fabric or press on tape on the WRONG SIDE. Now with a small machine stitch, re-inforce the point.

For a gusset this size, you will need a square of fabric about 5 1/2". After gusset has been applied, top-stitch close to the seam line, about 1" each side of the slashed area. Since this is only held together by a mere thread, the top stitching will keep it from pulling out.

CUT WITH NAP
 Dear Readers:
 Once again I am going to explain the directional cutting of fabric with nap. Because of the volume of mail received about this one particular question, I hope you will all save this for easy reference.

Velvet, velveteen and corduroy are fabrics with "nap" or pile, and all of the pieces of your garment must be cut in the same direction. These fabrics should be cut with the "nap" running UP. If you hold the fabric up to yourself, it should feel "rough" as you run your hand from your shoulder down to your waist.

Once you have determined the correct direction, place arrows on the wrong side of the fabric near the selvage with marking chalk. After the larger pieces of your garment have been cut, you will still know the correct way to cut any additional pieces because of the directional arrows.

Family Ties Strong In Success Rise

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Leon C. Hirsch set out to seek success in business, he vowed he never would allow his work to stand between him and his family.

Hirsch, 33, has lived up to his vow without suffering any setbacks in business.

Today he is head of a complex of million-dollar companies dealing in coin-operated washing machines, cleaning machines, money changers and other vending units, furniture, chipped beef, food and freezers.

He also allows plenty of time to spend with his wife, Irene, and their three children at their home in Scotch Plains, N. J., and in fishing and skiing.

Hirsch is president and founder of Tenax, Inc., a diversified operating company. He did not go to college, choosing instead upon graduation from the Bronx High School of Science to enter the business world immediately.

STARTS OWN BUSINESS
 Success came "relatively late," however, for it was not until the 1957 recession that he started his own business. He could not find a job, so with $4,000 he set up business in his living room with his wife as his only employee. The product was food freezers and it was a best-seller from the start.

By 1960, Tenax had a sales volume of $5,427,000 and profits to stockholders of $250,000 after the taxes.

"If anyone had said four years ago that I'd be able to read financial reports and possess intimate knowledge of capitalization and amortization and that hundreds of employees and stockholders would have confidence in me, I'd have told them to stop dreaming," he says now.

He devotes more of his time to his Clesco National Products, Inc. of Cincinnati, which is expected to gross more than $10 million this year; Custom Craft of Miami; Carson Packins Co., of Philadelphia; Lake Food Service of Perth Amboy, N. J., and the interests of Tenax without giving up his short vacation every eight weeks or his time with his family.

HALTS BUSINESS DEAL
 Recently, Hirsch suddenly interrupted important negotiations in a Wall Street brokerage office when he remembered a promise he had made to his son Tom, 10.

"I had promised him that I'd be at the opening game of his little league baseball season," Hirsch said.

The father rushed to the street, hailed a taxi and rode to Scotch Plains. He told the driver to wait. Upon reaching the ball field, he found Tom was not in the starting lineup. He was on the bench. The father loyally watched the game anyway. Finally, in a late inning, with his team behind, Tom was called to bat as a pinch-hitter with the bases loaded and two men out.

Tom hit a three-run triple and won the game for his team.

The happy father then drove back to Wall Street and resumed his negotiations to purchase a $2 million company.

Junior Petite Can Add Height By Slim Lines

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Q: What would you advise for a very formal gown I will need. I'm only 5 feet tall, wear a Junior Petite 7.

A: To increase height, buy a floor-length gown which is a fitted sheath, or at least falls straight. No full or even belled skirts for you! Buy a solid color, or colors divided vertically. Prints, especially large, or dresses divided in color between bodice and skirt, will shorten you. No belt, either, or sash, unless a self — one, so it is unobtrusive.

A: What clothes would you suggest for a freighter trip to Panama, with three days stopover? I am middle-aged, and must travel light.

A: Climate is subtropical therefore use summer clothes. Dark colors or prints best, as cleaning unlikely to be convenient. Short sleeved dresses with their own jackets best, to cover climate changes as you go down. These will also mean less changes necessary to pack if you are traveling light.

I have a tan corduroy suit, with plain jacket and box-pleated skirt. Could I use a white fur hat and muff with it?

A: Yes, but only when you're planning to turn the suit into a dress — wear either hat or muff, but not both. Get a plain small white hat for day use with the muff.

We would welcome any letters from you telling us your little sewing problems. Also, please tell me what segment of sewing you would like discussed in detail for future leaflets. Send your letters to Eunice Farmer, in care of Monroe Morning World.

Blooms Defy The Calendar

By AUDREY DAWSON

Our horticultural specialist at LSU Agriculture Extension Service, in a recent communication, says that azaleas no longer bloom by the calendar, that nurserymen and florists will soon be offering this popular plant in full bloom the year round.

Scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have found a new chemical treatment that stimulates budding regardless of the time of the year. The azalea with its long lasting bloom and wide range of color, usually blooms only in winter and spring. Now, however, plants treated with growth retarding chemicals defy the calendar and produce their bright showy flowers in summer and fall as well.

The two chemicals that perform this bathroom magic are phosfon and CCC. They are the first treatments found to force wood plants to bud. Even the scientists don't know how it happens. But if the chemicals work with azaleas, there's a chance they might also bring other woody shrubs into bloom such as camellias. Scientists at the Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville Md. where the budding stimulants were discovered, are now looking into the possibility.

If the weather permits this is an excellent time to work up and prepare flower beds. Get your ground ready for that rose bed because this month and next will be an excellent time to get those varieties you want.

Bulbs, tubers and rhizomes that can be planted in January and February are: amaryllis, anemone, ginger lily and iris.

BUYING SHEETS

Remember, Mrs. Homemaker, this is white sale month. If you need to replenish linens for the home this is a good time. Check the label to get the quality you want for the thread count is important. The thread count tells you the number of threads per square inch. Generally speaking the higher the thread count the stronger the sheet. Muslin sheets with thread counts of 140 or 128 are considered strong, heavy and sturdy — the longest wearing, muslin sheets.

If you are selecting a percale sheet, look for a higher thread count if you want a strong long lasting sheet. Percale sheets run from 180 threads per square inch to 200 and above for the finest percale.

Size is another important factor in buying sheets. The most popular sheet is 108 in length. Remember if the label gives 99 inches before hemming, it is only about 90 after laundering. Be sure to check size before buying.

OLD BOOKS

If you have some old leather bound books which you treasure, you may put new life into their bindings and add new beauty to the leather, by treating them with lacquer. It is especially useful in treating books that have become powdery and are almost ready for rebinding.

First clean the books well. Apply oil if you wish. Then spray on or brush on two thin coats of lacquer, allowing the first to dry before applying the second. A couple of words of warning, lacquer should not be used on new books because it destroys the natural leather appearance. Also, do not use lacquer in a closed room or near a fire or open flame. Do not smoke when handling lacquer. The vapors and fumes are highly volatile.

COUNTER SPACE

In planning a new kitchen or remodeling your present one be sure to plan for an adequate amount of counter space. Research shows that a minimum of 10 feet of base cabinets should be provided in the kitchen. Base cabinets in the majority of kitchens today have a drawer and two fixed shelves and these do not provide adequate storage. Research shows that deep stationary shelves in base cabinets cause disorder, waste of time and fatigue. Drawers planned the proper depth and with good adjustable dividers are the most functional arrangement for practically all supplies stored in base cabinets. Pull out shelves rank second.

Multiple drawers or pull out shelves of functional design should be provided in at least two base cabinets.

The Police Jury provided us with the easy pull out, adjustable shelves and drawers in the remodeling job recently in our kitchen here at the Agricultural Building and they are wonderful. If you are interested in seeing them, come by our building and someone in the building will be glad to show you the new cabinets. The hardware for installing "easy to use" drawers, trays or shelves for your kitchen cabinets is available in hardware and builders supply stores.

A THOUGHT

Many opportunities are missed because we are too busy procrastinating when we should be tuned in.

News Briefs On Religion Around U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Appeals for blankets to relieve suffering around the world are being sounded just now by two agencies concerned about the plight of refugees and victims of natural disaster.

Church World Service reports its stock of blankets practically exhausted. And the American Friends Service Committee is asking for 50,000 blankets, as well as cash gifts, for use in its work with Algerian refugees in Tunisia and Morocco.

COORDINATING AGENCY

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Nine Protestant churches in the northwest part of this city have organized a community-wide agency to coordinate their weekday activities, avoid duplication of efforts and face problems which are difficult for one church alone.

Episcopal, Presbyterian, Congregational - Christian and Methodist churches make up the new "West St. Louis Ecumenical Parish."

A spokesman for the parish said, "This serves notice to our community that these churches are anchored here and intend to serve the general welfare of the community. We will work together to serve the good of our community."

Fashion Experts Foresee Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — Fashion trends are not much of a secret despite the cloak and dagger intrigue dramatically surrounding Parisian and American couture collections.

The color dye industry informs the textile industry of the new approved hues for the forthcoming year. A year ahead the textile industry informs the couturier of the technical improvements which will make new types of material, and therefore new styles possible.

The designer suggests fabrics he'd like to work with a few seasons hence, until nearly every body has enough information to know a long time in advance as to which way the fashion wind blows.

The direction in 1962 is toward more conservative colors, classic style lines without radical changes in silhouette, executed in simple, figure-clinging yard goods.

Rudy Semler, a textile expert, Madge Wilson, a color card association executive, and Bill Blass, a designer, agree on this.

"Clothes will have to be more romantic with supple, flowing lines because we are making even silkier fibers with much finer yarns for use tomorrow," Semler says.

"New colors for the fall of '62 are cherry red, true blue, hunter type green, clear colors but not as gaudy as they have been," indicates Miss Wilson.

She is director of the Color Information Association, an organization of the nation's major manufacturers who decided in 1915 to introduce a mutually agreed-upon color card each year. As a result, accessory manufacturers are able to match coats and dresses with the appropriate hats, gloves, shoes and jewelry.

"It will be a period of more conformist clothes," Bill Blass says. He has finished his spring

'62 collection and is now working on fall. "I'm expecting our First Lady's good taste to have a continuing good effect."

About these popular fashion terms '61 Blass says:

"NOTHING" DRESS — "It will become a 'something dress.' The purity of the Balenciaga with attention to the overall look of the appropriate hat, jewelry, bags and gloves should always be with us. The dress will be uncontrived, continental, natural looking next year."

RUFFLES — "Yes, but ruffles do not necessarily make a silly, flutty Billie Burke type of dress. If done right, they can adorn in a soignée rather than a sweet fashion, and I think we'll be having more of that sort of thing."

FIT — "Close to the body but never pasted to it."

HEMLINES — "They will be an individual matter, short of most people, longer for some but never as long as Simonetta in Italy would like to see them be."

COSTUME DRESS — "With rapid travel and so many air conditioned places, the world is about the same temperature the year 'round. Little coats and jackets over dresses are ideal these days, and will continue to be."

FURS — "They will be strong for they are women's best means of flattery. They will often be used as accessories instead of jewelry. Yes, zebra and leopard prints will continue to be good next year."

PLEATS AND FLARE — "I have no feeling about them one way or another."

COLLARS AND SLEEVES — "Minimum of these, there will be as much exposure as possible."

Color expert Madge Wilson says about:

PLAIDS — "There is a tendency to be more conservative here. Backgrounds will be in color but the block will be white or black."

FLORAL PATTERNS — "Instead of the large, flashy ones you will see small, classic ones."

"NOTHING" COLORS — "Favorites accessory colors will be neutral grays, heathers, vicunas instead of olive, putty and oatmeal hues we now have."

PARIS HUES — "The European market is copying us, in fact behind us. We are not going to go back to the dark tone hues they are using."

Rudy Semler has these comments about fabrics:

CHIFFONS — "They are gradually losing out, shouldn't be too important by next year."

CREPES — "We'll see more of these with refinements such as nubby weaves."

KNITS — "Double knits will be even more important fashion because they have been improved and hold their shape so much better."

TEXTURES — "There'll be a lot of tweedy, nubby mohairs."

MIRACLE FIBERS — "You'll see even more stretch materials, also 'starched' clothes that don't require starching."

FROM SILVER WATERS COUNCIL

A sudden blast of winter weather this past week curtailed activities of all troops with the exception of those which met Monday prior to the storm. Adult meetings cancelled were scheduled for the same day this week. They include West Monroe neighborhood Tuesday at 1:15 p.m. at Highland school; Southside neighborhood Thursday at 1:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. E. M. Varnado and advanced training at Winnboro Wednesday at 9:30 a.m.

Wednesday is the regular meeting day for the Northside neighborhood. The group will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the youth room of St. Paul's Methodist church. Mrs. A. B. Gregory, newly appointed neighborhood chairman, urges attendance of at least two adults from every troop.

Mrs. H. E. Allen, chairman for the college neighborhood, urges like representation from troops, stating that plans for the forthcoming cookie sale and for the celebration of the Golden Anniversary of Scouting will be on the agenda. The meeting is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. Wednesday in the Hunslett class room at Memorial Methodist church. Another reason for being present, the new leader's notebook will be distributed at all neighborhood meetings.

Thursday morning, training for new and prospective leaders and troop committee members will continue with a session at the Ouachita Parish Public Library, Louis Locke room, at 9:30. This session will include troop financing, program planning, singing and games. This is the third of a series of training sessions essential for leadership of Girl Scout troops. Anyone is welcome to attend without obligation.

Mrs. F. M. Warren, troop organizer for the West Monroe neighborhood, reports much success in boom.

developing new troops, the latest to register being Troop 27. Mrs. Kenneth Adams is leader of the troop, assisted by Mrs. Jack Dew and Mrs. Tommy Head. Serving on the troop committee are Mrs. E. B. Martin, Mrs. E. S. Blackman, Mrs. W. T. Graves Jr., and Mrs. A. F. Moses.

The following girls, third graders at Highland and Millsaps schools, have met membership requirements and have been invested as Brownie Scouts: Vicky Adams, Jan Blackman, Deborah Bolin, Jo Allyn Breitfeller, Elizabeth Ann Carroll, Cindy Dew, Salley Downey, Clarissa Eley, Nancy Futrall, La Donna Graves, Julia Head, Hillary Heard, Corrinne Henderson, Sharon Jeter, Jerri Johnston, Rhonda Sue Marks, Sioane Martin, Susie May, Dorcas Moses, Karen Sue Nix, Denise Spurlock, Pamela Stewart, Kathy Walker, Cathy Watson, and Deborah White. The troop meets at McGuire Methodist church.

DEFROSTED DOGIE

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — During a Texas sleetstorm, one of O. M. Spurlock's calves became separated from the herd. When the rancher found the calf, he decided it was frozen. But Mrs. Spurlock thought she detected a flicker of life in the animal, so she wrapped it in an electric blanket and plugged the cord into an outdoor socket. Spurlock wrote to the blanket manufacturer (Westinghouse) that a few hours later he went outside and found "a completely thawed-out and otherwise healthy calf."

SPRING, SUMMER STYLES

Platform Soles Back In Fashion

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Platform soles came back Saturday as fashion showings for spring and summer opened here, with initial emphasis on sportswear. After three days of presentations in Rome, the Italian fashion spotlight shifted to this central Italian city and its Pitti Palace. The initial boutique showings in surprise, at least for the many who thought these shoes were history. Shoe designer Silvia Florentina, showing with the Falconetto collection, presented the platforms in flat sandals and raised mule designs without separate heels. In bright velvet, lizard or silk, they looked like the last word for wear with beach and at-home clothes. During the Florence boutique showings, designs were kept simple to show off original prints, color and decorative motifs. Livio de Simone kept his hand paintings on cotton and silk relatively subdued this season. Usually they were all over, vertical brushstrokes in varying intensities of the same color: pink, apple green, or yellow. Shorts were shown by De Simone with pullover sweaters that had fronts of hand-painted cotton.

Demo Committee Secretary Weds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday by Dorothy Vredenburg, secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and John W. Bush, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the governor's mansion here. The Rev. Willard Jarvis of Whitehall Baptist church officiated for the daughter of Mrs. W. L. McElroy, Columbus, Miss., and the late Mr. McElroy, and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bush of Portsmouth, Ohio.

Negro Stabbed Doing 'Twist'

Another Booked

The nation's newest dance craze, "The Twist," resulted yesterday in the stabbing of a 29-year-old Negro woman at a West Monroe night spot.

Victim of the stabbing was Betty Jean Rush of 206 Railroad Avenue, West Monroe. Jailed on a charge of attempted murder was Dasie Lee McCloud, 19, of 805 Ridge Dr., also of West Monroe.

Witnesses told officers of the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department that the McCloud woman stabbed the other one because she "didn't like the way the Rush woman was doing the twist" at the Little New Orleans Club on the Natchitoches Road.

Police were told that the stabbing occurred around midnight as the Rush woman was dancing the Twist with Lilly Starks of 717 New Natchitoches Road. The Rush woman was taken to the E. A. Conway Memorial Hospital where her condition was described as "fair."

The McCloud woman is being held in the Ouachita Parish jail.

SCOUT RECOGNITION

Dr. Berg Slated In Banquet Talk

Dr. Gunnar H. Berg, principal assistant Scoutmaster and later speaker for the Annual Scout Recognition Banquet here Wednesday night, is one of the most recognized professionals in the Scout movement today, according to Scout Executive Jack Pankey.

A native of Norway, Dr. Berg, who has been in this country since he was a youth, is presently the national director of Professional Training and Director of the Schiff Scout Reservation at Mendham, N.J.

"We are very fortunate in having Dr. Berg as our featured speaker," Pankey said. "I know that all the people who will attend the banquet will get much from what he has to say."

ANNUAL AFFAIR
The banquet, held each year to recognize services rendered by Scouters of the Ouachita Valley Council, will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Paragon Club.

Dr. Berg is a 1922 graduate of the University of Washington, but completed his elementary education while working as a logging camp machinist in Washington.

As a high school principal in the suburbs of Spokane, Washington, Dr. Berg became interested in Scouting and served as an as-

He entered Scouting after receiving a master's degree and doctor of education degree from Columbia University.

Dr. Berg, in 1927, was selected as national director of volunteer training in the Scout movement and later accepted the responsibility for the training of both volunteer and professional Scouters.

In 1944, Dr. Berg became national director of Professional Training and director of the National Training School. In 1949 he assumed his present duties.

During the time that he has served in the field for the Boy Scouts of America Dr. Berg has spoken to over 325,000 people in 340 of the 531 local councils. He has traveled over a half-million miles.

On the personal side, he is an outdoor enthusiast, being interested in fishing, camping, hiking, canoeing and mountaineering.

DANCE INSERTED
NEW YORK (AP) — The new dance craze, the twist, is being displayed in a Broadway musical.

Burgess Reports Bids Scheduled On Road Project

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Louisiana Highway Director Ray W. Burgess said Saturday that bids would be received January 24 on a 3.9-mile highway improvement project on the L'Arche Road (State Route 901) in Concordia parish.

Burgess added that construction plans call for grading, drainage structures, aggregate type or soil cement base course and bituminous surface treatment 20 feet wide.

Expected time of construction will be nine months after the contract has been awarded, he added.

MONDAY CONCERT

Famed Baritone Is Slated Here

Earle Spicer, internationally-known baritone ballad singer, will be presented in concert Monday night at 8:15 p.m. in Neville High School Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Northeast State Concerts Association, season memberships will be available at the door and also by telephoning the NSCA office, FA 5-6361, extension 211.

The singer of ballads was born on a farm in Acadia, a land immortalized in the poem "Evangeline" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. As a boy he sang in a little church choir four miles from his Canadian home. Later he studied voice in college as well as piano, organ, and bass viol.

Spicer has since sung with many of the leading symphony orchestras and oratorio societies in the United States as well as England. He was featured soloist for Donald Voorhees and his orchestra was on one of the leading N.B.C. programs for three years.

The New York baritone is a favorite with faculty and students of many colleges where he has performed, including Columbia, Texas Tech, Notre Dame, Purdue, Yale, and Cornell.

He has a large and varied repertoire of stories in song. His interpretation of the ballad, "Frankie and Johnny" is reputedly one of the best on the concert stage.

Informality and humorous comments characterize Spicer's concerts. His entertaining remarks and singing make him unique among ballad singers and concert artists, reports indicate.

Bids Are Due On Road Job In Catahoula

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Louisiana Highway Director Ray W. Burgess said Saturday that bids will be received January 24 on a five-mile road improvement project on the Smithland-Security Highway (State Route 564) in Catahoula parish.

The highway director added that construction plans call for grading, drainage structures, aggregate type or soil cement base course and bituminous mixture for hot applications 20 feet wide.

Expected time of construction will be 12 months after the contract is awarded, he added.

... CAMPUS POLITICS ARE COMING TO A BOIL AT MAUMEE ... VOTING STARTS SOON FOR 1962 SNOW QUEEN

THIS IS THE PATTERN, MAX!

THE BOYS MUSTN'T MISS A SINGLE ANGLE...

YOU FRATERNITY MEN KNOW THE AGRICULTURE SCHOOL HAS NEVER HAD A CANDIDATE FOR SNOW QUEEN BEFORE

OF COURSE YOU HAVE A FAVORITE AMONG THE SORORITY ENTRIES

BUT IF YOU COULD PROMISE EVEN A SMALL PORTION OF YOUR TOTAL BALLOTS FOR OUR MISS LATTE LAVACCA...

WE'D GO FOR YOUR MAN IN THE STUDENT COUNCIL RACE NEXT SEMESTER

Y'SEE, GIRLS, SINCE YOUR SORORITY DID NOT ENTER A SNOW QUEEN CANDIDATE, WE KNOW YOU AREN'T ANXIOUS TO MAKE DEALS WITH THE ONES WHICH DO HAVE ENTRIES...

SO IF YOU WILL BACK OUR AG SCHOOL'S MISS LATTE LAVACCA, WE AGGIES WILL GO FOR YOUR GAL IN THE GREENUP GALA NEXT SPRING

MAY I HAVE YOUR ATTENTION? YOU INDEPENDENTS DON'T WANT TO SEE THE FRATERNITY AND SORORITY CROWD DOMINATE STILL ANOTHER ELECTION

LATTE LAVACCA FROM THE AG SCHOOL DOES NOT BELONG TO A SORORITY-SO SHE'D WELCOME YOUR VOTES FOR ANOTHER STRONG-MINDED, FREE AMERICAN

MEANWHILE - POTEET CANYON IS REALLY CONCENTRATING ON HER STUDIES...HER FRENCH ASSIGNMENT INCLUDES SOME CROSS REFERENCES IN ITALIAN - SO...

WHAT?

MAY I SPEAK WITH TEKKE?

WHO'S CALLING, PLEASE?

CANYON, I CAME TO THE PHONE ONLY TO TELL YOU THAT THERE IS NO POINT IN YOUR BEGGING TO BE RE-PLEGDED BY THIS SORORITY!

BUT, TEKKE, I CALLED TO TELL YOU THAT SOMEONE IS ABOUT TO DO YOU DIRT! LISTEN TO THIS...

NOTHING YOU HAVE TO SAY COULD BE OF THE SLIGHTEST INTEREST TO ANYONE IN THIS ORGANIZATION!

NO GAME WAS EVER YET WORTH A RAP FOR A RATIONAL MAN TO PLAY, INTO WHICH NO ACCIDENT, NO MISHAP COULD POSSIBLY FIND ITS WAY"
A.L. GORDON.

DO THEY SEEM TO HAVE ANY IDEA THAT WE KNOW THEY'RE ON THE ISLAND?

NO! THEY'RE TOO COCKSURE THAT THEY'RE THE SMARTEST! OH-OH... HEAR THIS!

SAFE? HO-HO! WHY, NO ONE CAN GUESS WE'RE HERE! IT'S THE SAFEST SPOT ON EARTH!

IT'S PURTY HERE, BUT IS IT SAFE?

LUCKY I HAD THAT CAVE BUGGED WHEN FIRST I TOOK OVER THIS ISLAND! CAN YOU MAKE OUT WHAT THEY'RE JABBERING ABOUT NOW, JOHNNY?

THEY FOUND THE MAJOR WHO BROKE HIS NECK WHEN HE LANDED!

THEY'RE SENDING A SCOUT PARTY OF FIVE TO PROWL AROUND HERE TONIGHT! SHALL WE LET 'EM PROWL IN PEACE?

JOHNNY, WE THINK ALIKE! BY ALL MEANS! LET THEM REPORT BACK WHAT SITTING DUCKS WE ARE!

THOSE SOME O' TH' GUYS THAT ARE GOIN' TO BURY US, JOHNNY?

I WOULDN'T COUNT ON THAT, ANDY! WAY I SEE IT, THOSE BOYS HAVE JUST ABOUT HAD THEIR FUTURE!

ALL THE REST ARE THERE IN THE CAVE, EXCEPT THE ONE THAT YOU CAUGHT AND PUNJAB TAUGHT TO TALK! THEY FIGURE HE FELL INTO THE SEA!

HOW WELL SUPPLIED DO THEY SEEM TO BE?

AFTER SUPPER ON THE TERRACE.....

NONSENSE! THERE'S NO DANGER! JUST REMEMBER YOUR LINES!

I'M SCARED!

THEY PLAN TO TAKE US ALL BY COMPLETE SURPRISE, INCLUDING ALL OUR RECORDS, SECRETS: IS THAT IT? AND THEN BURY US!

SEEMS AS HOW! NOW THIS TRAIL THEY'LL TAKE FROM THE CAVE!...HMM... INTERESTING NOTATION HERE!
